[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—A rush of morning callers interrupted for a long walk in the afternoon and attendance tonight at a special dinner given in his honor by the Taft Philippine expedition, brought President-elect Taft to within two days of his inauguration, with less serious demands on his time than he has experienced any other day since his return from Panama. The apparent splendid physical condition, the good humor and absence from nervous strain of Mr. Taft make a gratifying impression.

The President-elect conferred with Senator Knox regarding many important matters pertaining to the next administration. Charles Nagel of St. Louis paid his respects to Mr. Taft. Frank H. Hitchcock also saw him. No other members of the Taft Cabinet are in Washington, with the exception of Postmaster-General Meyer and Secretary Wilson.

PRETENTIOUS DINNER.

The Philippine dinner was the most pretentious of the many enjoyable occasions in which this famous party has indulged. There were present seven United States Senators and twenty-four members of the House. The Philippine trip was famous because of its matrimonial results. Representative Nicholas Longworth and Miss Alice Roosevelt became betrothed; Representative Bourke Cockran met Miss Ide, daughter of Judge Ide of the Philippine Commission, who is now Mrs. Cockran, and Representative Swager Sherley of Kentucky met Miss Mignon Critton of Staten Island, to whom he became engaged. Senator Nathan B. Scott of West Virginia, one of the voyagers, was toastmaster.

IN HAPPY MOOD.

At the Philippine dinner tonight, when Mr. Taft arose to rspond to the first toast of the evening he was in a particularly happy mood. He expressed a desire that the Philippine party might be to the incoming administration what the "Rough Riders" had been to the last.

"I always enjoy the reunions of those whose good fortune it was to take the Philippine trip," he began. "But the enjoyment is always mixed with the regret that those whom we entertain as our guests on these occasions were not on the trip, and the further regret that we cannot take another such trip. Circumstances never will fit themselves for its repetition, any more than can the four or five honeymoons which resulted from the trip be had over again.

"I have often wondered what it was that made our party such a uniform success from the beginning. I never wanted to get to Honolulu after we embarked on the Manchuria; certain it was that our party received an impetus in good fellowship from the hospitality shown to all of us by the Emperor of Japan that lasted until KEEPS OUT OF IT.

MR. TAFT DECLINES TO ASSIST HOPKINS.

BY WALTER WELLMAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] President-elect Taft will not interfere in the Illinois Senatorial contest. He plainly told Senator Hopkins so today. According to the unofficial version, Mr. Taft turned Hopkins down good and hard."

What Mr. Taft did was to tell Mr. Hopkins he would not take any part in the struggle either for or against the present Senator. If any danger of the election of a Democratic Senator should appear, that would be another matter to be dealt with at the proper time. But in as much as no such danger is now in sight, Mr. Taft said he would have to adhere to his well-settled policy of letting the Republicans of the various States fight out their local battles without interference from the head of the national party.

Mr. Taft reminded Mr. Hopkins that he had been implored to intervene in Oregon in an effort to save Senator Fulton from defeat at the hands of a Democrat, Gov. Chamberlain, but had declined to do so, in pursuance of his policy. Why, then, he asked, should he intervene in Illinois?

It will be remembered that National Chairman Hitchcock was one of the prominent Republicans who wanted to go to the help of Senator Fulton, but when the matter was brought to his attention Mr. Taft would not let Mr. Hitchcock do it. Senator Fulton is something of a favorite with the new President, and is to be appointed to a Federal judgeship on the Pacific Coast.

Senator Hopkins called on Mr. Taft at the Boardman residence, "the little White House," this morning He was there a long time, but his interview with Mr. Taft was relatively short. Mr. Hopkins reviewed the situation in Illinois, hinted at possible dangers to the Republican party, and said that if he could have the help of the new administration he could win out. Mr. Taft listened, cracked a joke or two with the hard-pressed Illinois Senator, and then good-humoredly but firmly declined the invitation.

Swain Keeps Marriage Permit Twenty Months Before Using.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BUTTE (Mont.) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An instance of a marriage license being kept twenty months before use became known here yesterday when Victor Mattson asked the court officials if the license was still good. August 1, 1907, Mattson received the license and the following day his intended bride, Lena Flankey, changed her mind and sailed for Finland. Heeding Mattson's continued appeals for her to return she finally changed her mind again, returned, and the couple were married yesterday.

RUNNERS SNAP UNDER AIRSHIP.

WILBUR WRIGHT HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Accident Happens as Aviator Is About to Soar With Special Spanish Envoy Sent to Examine Machine, But Neither Man Is Injured, Though Aeroplane Is Wrecked.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PAU (France) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An accident that might have had serious consequences today wrecked Wilbur Wright's aeroplane and it cannot be repaired for many days. At the time of the mishap, Wilbur Wright was in the machine with Col. Vives, the Spanish envoy sent to look into the question of aerial navigation.

Wright had made two excellent flights when, at Vives's request, he consented to take up the envoy. The start had been made when one of the runners on which the aeroplane rests, broke, damaging the rudder, breaking both screws of the propeller and perforating the canvas of the machine in many places.

Wright continued the flight for thirty yards at a distance of six feet from the earth, then brought the crippled machine safely to a standstill. Neither he nor Vives was injured.

The Times correspondent learns that King Alfonso had planned a secret trip to Pau Saturday to make a flight of Wright, but this visit has been postponed. The King of England is expected here between March 10 and 15.

CANNON FOR AIRSHIPS.

German Army Authorities Have Perfected Plans for Arming Balloons With Machine Guns.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BERLIN, March 1.—The military airship of the future is to be armed with small cannon or machine guns. The army authorities at several headquarters throughout Germany are experimenting along this line, and it has been virtually decided to provide balloons on the rigid Zeppelin type either with cannon or small machine guns.

The danger resulting from the recoil and the escaping gas from the muzzle has been practically eliminated by a system of adjustments, the details of which are kept secret.

It is proposed also to arm the semi-rigid balloons of the Parseval and Gross types with a lighter rapid-fire weapon, thus enabling them to attack infantry detachments.

RURALES TO QUELL PEONS.

CORDOBA (Mex.) March 1.—Two thousand Mexican laborers are on strike on El Potrero plantation, and a company of rurales has been summoned to control the situation. The laborers struck for a reduction of working hours, and made an attack on the ranch-houses. Several of them were wounded.

Three Councilmen Convicted.

Pittsburgh Conspirators Are Recommended to Court for Mercy.

Banker, Indicted on the Same Charge, Ordered Acquitted by Judge.

Agreed to Pass Law for Wood Block Paving; Detective as Contractor.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Three more convictions were obtained today in the Councilmanic bribery scandal. Councilmen William Brande, John F. Klein and Joseph C. Wasson were found guilty of conspiracy and were recommended to the extreme mercy of the court, this finding being returned after the jury had been out for nearly fifty-three hours.

W. W. Ramsey, vice-president of the German National Bank, jointly indicted with the Councilmen, was acquitted by the court's orders.

The convictions up to date in the bribery scandal are:

Accepting a bribe, Councilman John F. Klein.

Conspiracy, Councilman John F. Klein, Councilman Joseph C. Wasson, Councilman William Brande.

Acquitted, W. W. Ramsey (conspiracy.)

The four Councilmen yet to be tried on the conspiracy charge may be called this week.

The three men convicted today were charged with having conspired to pass an ordinance for the paving of certain streets with wooden blocks on the payment of certain sums of money. A detective posing as a wood-block contractor, secured the evidence. Klein and Ramsey had already been convicted of bribery in individual cases.

CONSIDERATE.

CRUM TENDERS RESIGNATION.

NEGRO COLLECTOR WILL QUIT WITH PRESIDENT.

Denies That Any Pressure Was Brought to Bear Upon Him and Says His Act Is Caused by Desire to Save Mr. Taft Any Embarrassment.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHARLESTON (S. C.) March 1.—Dr. W. M. Crum resigned tonight as collector of customs at this port, to take effect March 4, thus remedying a situation which threatened to cause President-elect Taft much embarrassment. No appointment made by President Roosevelt has given rise to more discussion than that of Dr. Crum, who is a negro.

A hard fight against his confirmation was made by Senator Tillman and others, when he was first named in 1902, and within the last few weeks, following his reappointment, Senator Tillman conducted a successful filibuster against confirmation.

Dr. Crum says no pressure has been brought to bear upon him to cause him to resign, but that he does so in part because he wishes to save Mr. Taft, for whom he entertains great respect, from any possible embarrassment as to his reappointment, and chiefly because he feels that he has been especially identified with President Roosevelt's administration, and he wishes to retire with his chief.

Naval Officer Marries California Girl He Met While Here With Big Battleship Fleet.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NORFOLK (Va.) March 1.—A romance began in San Francisco while the Atlantic fleet was in that port climaxed here today, when Miss Emma Mary Burnham of Folsom, Cal., became the bride of Lieut. Samuel Murray Robinson of the Vermont. They later left for Boston, where Lieut. Robinson will soon join the Vermont. He is a native of Eulogy, Tex., and is 28 years old. His bride is 26.

CLIMAX OF ARMY ROMANCE.

THE HARBOR FIGHT.

SAVAGE AMENDMENTS DOOMED TO DEFEAT.

Straight Consolidation Bill Gaining Friends Every Day—Test Vote to Be Taken This Afternoon—Good Showing Yesterday in Count of Noses.

BY B. FRANK GREAVES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] This is the "last word from the track" on the consolidation bill—provided there is not another word tomorrow.

The Savage amendments will be voted down in the Senate Tuesday afternoon and there will be votes to spare. There will be no surrender on a single point urged by the crabbed obstructionist.

The vote on the amendments would have come today, but Savage made one of his characteristic objections, bellowing that he had not been given "fair play" and begging for postponement for twenty-four hours.

Just to let the old man down gently the request was granted by Senator McCartney, who was ready to proceed with the slaughter of the conditions that Savage has striven so fiercely to hang around the neck of the true consolidation bill.

This matter of passing the bill is getting to be like a Patti farewell. Knowing that he is defeated, the Old Man of the Sea is endeavoring to wear out the opposition. He certainly is making every one tired, using the slang construction of the phrase.

President Booth of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce arrived here today and immediately got into action. Tonight he declared that he was more than pleased with the outlook for the morrow.

"I find the situation even more promising than I had been led to believe," said Mr. Booth. "The campaign for the McCartney-Leeds bill has been managed very well indeed, and I feel certain that we shall win when the vote comes tomorrow. There will have to be many deflections from the ranks of the Senators who have pledged their support if we are beaten. Instead of losing votes, however, I am sanguine that we shall have even more than we expect. We have not exhausted our resources, either. Before noon tomorrow there will come further strength. The outlook certainly is bright."

Senator McCartney said late tonight that he had just received assurances that several Senators who, in the past, have been considered doubtful, will fall in line tomorrow against Savage. Most of these legislators have felt that they were obliged to vote with the old man. They have found good excuses for cutting loose.

Early this afternoon, when the Senate reached the Leeds bill on its file of Assembly bills, McCartney moved that the Savage amendments be brought up for a vote. There was but a light attendance of Senators, however, and to the friends of the majority measure it appeared that action then would not be wise. Savage unwittingly fell in with their views and DIAMONDS.

MAKE PARTING GIFT TO MRS. ROOSEVELT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Roosevelt tonight is wearing a chain of diamonds presented to her this afternoon by a small group of intimate friends in the smart colony at Washington. The gift was made as an evidence of the personal friendship existing between these women and the wife of the President, and was not, as has been stated, a token from the entire social circle here.

Accompanying the gift was a dainty little book, bound in white leather and artistically illuminated. In the book are engraved the names of the donors.

The chain is a beautiful bit of art work, and is one of the handsomest jewels in the possession of the President's wife. It had been intended that this little bit of courtesy on the part of Mrs. Roosevelt's friends should be offered without being known to any one but those directly concerned. The fact, however, became known, though the presentation was made quietly and without the usual formalities attending such affairs. The names of those interested in presenting a farewell gift to Mrs. Roosevelt have not been made known, and many of the donors are not even aware tonight who are their associates in the pretty little courtesy to the President's wife.

Any One of Three Wounds Would Have Brought Death Instantly.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NASHVILLE (Tenn.) March 1.—The spectacle of counsel on one side not only selling a witness to the opposition, but haggling over the terms, was an incident today in the Cooper trial.

The subject of the transaction was Dr. McPheeters-Glasgow, who had been employed by the prosecution to perform an autopsy on Senator Carmack's body. He did so and reported his findings to the prosecution. He was subpoenaed by the State, but was not used. The defense learned of the autopsy and summoned the doctor.

Dr. Glasgow told counsel for the defense that his services as an expert had been retained by the State, and that he would not discuss the case except with the Attorney-General.

Then Atty.-Gen. McCarn proposed that if the defense would pay the State the costs of the autopsy, including Dr. Glasgow's fee, the State would waive its rights.

Judge Hart said the defense wanted "to see the goods" before it bought, and offered to confer with Dr. Glasgow. To this the prosecutors entered an emphatic veto.

"Pay whether you use him or not," they said.

BUYS "SIGHT UNSEEN."

There was another hurried conference, and the defense bought the "pig in poke," and Dr. Glasgow became its witness. The significance of his testimony was that any one of the three wounds was necessarily and instantly fatal, and that if the Senator did not fire the first shots, he could not have fired at all.

The other chief witness was S. J. Binnings, who claimed to have seen Senator Carmack fingering the revolver, and testing the cylinder a few moments before the shooting was begun.

When trial was resumed today there was the usual large crowd awaiting the opening of the courtroom doors, and the usual rush for seats in the front row.

As soon as Judge Hart rapped for order, Judge Anderson of the defense asked that the jury be excused. His request being granted by the court, Judge Anderson said:

"Call Dr. Glasgow. Now, if your honor pleases, the defendants are informed that after a few days—after the burial of Senator Carmack, some time, we don't know when, an autopsy was performed by Dr. Glasgow. We have asked Dr. Glasgow to tell us what he knows. He has refused. We ask that he be instructed to talk to us—not to volunteer information, but to answer our questions."

ORDERED NOT TO TALK.

Then Atty.-Gen. McCarn said:

"We have instructed Dr. Glasgow not to talk. We retained Dr. Glasgow to get certain facts for us. These facts the defendants knew. They put those bullets into Carmack's body, they shot the bullets into the dead man. They were there and we were not. We have no living witness to that killing. The defense simply wants to know how much we know, and we object to their trying to get at our evidence."

It will be recalled that no autopsy was held upon Senator Carmack's body after the tragedy. In the middle of November, however, the State's attorney, accompanied by Dr. Glasgow and one other physician, went to Columbia and disinterred the body of the dead Senator. The results of the autopsy were not made public. In fact the first information even the defense had of the affair was when it read the account in the Associated Press dispatches.

After the defense and State's attorneys had separately retired and talked with Dr. Glasgow, the defense called the expert.

"I performed an autopsy on Senator Carmack's body at Atty.-Gen. McCarn's request on November 18," he said.

"How did you find the body?"

WOUNDS INSTANTLY FATAL.

"In fairly good shape. The grave had been opened, but the body was on a table. I had seen Mr. Carmack's body after death and found two wounds made by the undertaker after I had seen it. These wounds were made in embalming.

"There was one wound two inches below the left nipple and one inch to the inside. The bullet passed through the heart. Four and one half inches below the right nipple and one inch outside was a wound from which a bullet had been taken. An inch from the left median line of the neck was another wound which was black; the others were clean. The bullet came out of the mouth, two teeth being loosened and held by the lips only.

"The first wound entered the chest between the fourth and fifth ribs, pierced the heart, wounded the ventricle and passed down and forward through the liver and reached the skin beneath the sixth and seventh

PLOT NIPPED BY ABSENTEES.

Lack of Quorum Defeats Senator's Friends.

Shrewd Political Scheme Is Smashed Flat.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MADISON (Wis.) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] By staying away from the joint session when the vote for the election of a United States Senator was taken, the anti-Stephenson members of the Wisconsin Legislature prevented the reelection of Senator Stephenson today.

Stephenson managers had quietly summoned all his supporters to be present at the joint session and they nearly caught the anti-Stephenson faction napping. The latter discovered the plan shortly before the time set for the joint session. They were in the minority and so concluded to remain away preventing an election by reason of a lack of a quorum.

When the result of the joint ballot was announced it was shown that Stephenson had fifty-two votes, M. C. Cleary and Neal Brown one each. Lieut.-Gov. Strange, anti-Stephenson, immediately announced that there was not a quorum present, and declared the joint session dissolved. He refused to recognize several Stephenson members who wanted the absentees in the corridors and lobby brought in.

When Strange left the chair Senator Stout was elected presiding officer and the sergeant-at-arms was directed to summon the absentees. These officials later reported that they had notified the absentees to come in, but they had refused.

TO TEMPT DENEEN.

Foes of Senator Hopkins to Show Governor Glories of Capitol—May Accept Toga.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gov. Deneen is to be taken up into the dome of the Capitol and shown all the glories of Washington and official life during his attendance on the inaugural ceremonies this week.

Efforts will not be spared, according to reports from Washington, to convince not only the Governor, but Mrs. Deneen, also, of the charms of political and social activities in the national capital.

All this, it is understood, is expected to have weight in persuading Gov. Deneen to accept the toga if it can be tendered to him.

If all these allurements fail to move the Chief Executive, then those who are working for his selection to succeed Senator Hopkins, will be greatly disappointed, and will probably throw up their hands in that game and begin to plan for the election of Speaker Edward D. Shutleff or Col. Frank O. Lowden.

FREE SPEECH COSTLY.

Lawyer Speaks His Mind Regarding Judge and Is Jailed for Contempt.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "You are no more fit to try a case on that bench than a pig."

This remark, made to Municipal Judge Blake at the Harrison Street Court today by Charles Stuart Beattie, an attorney, created a sensation in the crowded courtroom. Mr. Beattie was arrested before he could leave the courtroom and was fined $200 and costs. He was unable to pay the fine and was taken downstairs and locked up.

Mr. Beattie was unable to get a case called, and then Judge Blake announced that the court would take a recess. Mr. Beattie evidently realized that his case was not to be called, and the remark which aroused the court followed.

ONE FARMER ON OIL JURY.

Twelve Men Who Will Try Standard Include Grocers, Tailor, Jeweler and Mechanic.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—Only one farmer is on the Standard Oil retrial jury, which was completed in Judge Anderson's court today. He is Roy Cunningham of Belvidere, Ill.

The preponderance of agriculturists on the first panel of veniremen caused its dismissal at the request of Attorney John S. Miller of the defense. Mr. Miller remembered that it was a farmers' jury which made possible Judge Landis's fine of $29,240,000.

The jury includes five grocers, a well driver, a retired jeweler, an advertising agent, a tailor, a mechanic and a live-stock dealer.

The lawyers will make their opening statements tomorrow. As the witnesses and evidence will be about the same as in the original hearing and the points have been sharply defined, it is hoped to conclude the case in two weeks.

CALL FLOOD CONFERENCE.

MARYSVILLE, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Supervisors of Yuba county today telegraphed the headquarters of the Southern Pacific, the Western Pacific and the Northern Electric railroads and farm lands investment companies to send representatives here Wednesday to join them in discussion of flood conditions in the county, each of the companies named having suffered heavy losses from high water in this vicinity in January and February. The object of the Supervisors is to bring about unity of effort to control flood waters for the mutual benefit of all concerned. The city of Marysville will have representatives present at the discussions. Existing levees and railroad embankments and others contemplated will be considered with regard to their efficiency and their effect on the rivers, and a plan will be evolved, if possible, for effectually preventing a recurrence of floods in Yuba county.

Espee Officials Meet.

NEW ORLEANS (La.) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chiefs of motive power, operation and maintenance of the way departments of the Harriman lines gathered here today in semi-annual session. Among the California officials in attendance are the following: H. U. Platt, Los Angeles; P. Sheedy and wife and daughter, Los Angeles; H. J. Heinzelman, Sacramento; H. Stillman, San Francisco; J. G. Barlow, San Francisco; F. G. Chedin, San Francisco; J. H. Young, San Francisco.

CHICAGO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] March came in like a lamb, but the weather man has no word of comfort. He will guarantee lamb-like weather tomorrow, perhaps, but no farther. Today's maximum temperature was 55 and the minimum 33 deg. Middle West temperatures:

STEVENSON RETIRES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—What to do with our vice-Presidents is a question which has been solved by at least one of them for himself. Adlai E. Stevenson, it was learned today, will retire from his law business and his coal mining to establish the La Salle Extension University. The La Salle institution's aim is an extension along the lines which have been proved a success by the University of Wisconsin.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—St. Louis business men want the Chicago annual business show removed to their city, and have offered to provide a suitable building and to guarantee the expenses to the management as an inducement for abandoning Chicago. An effort was made last year by local interests to put on a business show in the Mound City, but it was unsuccessful. Chicago has always patronized the business show well, and the manager has not decided to abandon this city.

GO AFTER UNCLE JOE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—Speaker Cannon's support of three sections recently added to the Federal penal code by the House of Representatives designed to stop the C.O.D. jug trade in prohibition States, is denounced in a bulletin issued by the Associated Prohibition Press, as a "deliberate attempt to deceive the prohibition and temperance forces of the country and gain a little cheap applause from those ill informed on the great question at issue. Any one can run a beer train through this act and not touch either side," said Finley C. Hendrickson. "If a distiller in Peoria, for instance, ships into Kansas 200 jugs of liquor and consign each one to himself, that would constitute him, under the legislation, the bona-fide consignee. Then all he has to do is to notify his bibulous patrons that the jugs are at the station, and that upon the receipt of so much he will send a written order to the purchaser, which will permit him to go to the express office and lift a jug."

NIP OLEO FACTORY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—Government agents raided an alleged oleomargerine factory in a basement last night, arrested Andrew Clausen, one of the alleged manufacturers, and confiscated a ton and a half of the imitation butter. Search is being made for half a dozen other men.

LIFE FOR HIS GIRL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—With a large touring car bearing down upon him at full speed, and seeing that escape for both of them was impossible, Morris Britz last night threw himself in front of the car as he dashed Miss Agnes Sebastian, his companion, out of danger. Britz, who is 19 years old, was thrown twenty feet by the motor and when picked up was unconscious. Miss Sebastian escaped with a few scratches. Britz's ankle was fractured and he suffered internal injuries, which may prove fatal. The owner of the machine, Joseph O'Neill, was arrested, but released upon bond.

RICH COP RESTS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—Chicago's richest patrolman, Michael Hassett, lays aside his star and club today and becomes a "gentleman of leisure" with an income estimated at from $500 to $1000 a month. For twenty-three years he has been a member of the force, the last eight years being lock-up keeper at the stock yards station. His inspector says he has been conspicuous for his charity to the poor of his district. His fortune, which is estimated to be about $150,000, was made through real estate investments over many years.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—"The girl who dotes on ice cream" will have her health looked after in Chicago during the summer season, for it is the intention of the health department to drive all the typhoid, scarlet fever, diphtheria and tubercule baccili out of the product. Ice cream is classed with milk, cream, buttermilk and butter, in the new milk ordinance. To date the health officials have devoted their attention to milk and cream exclusively. Later the ice-cream eaters will get the proper protection. Indirectly the health commissioner will try to improve the quality of all those grades of candies and sweets of which milk or cream is a component part.

PITIES PRESIDENT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—M. N. Mangasarian has made his promised criticism of President Roosevelt's action in refusing to receive his protest against the characterization of Thomas Paine, as "a filthy little atheist." "I do not blame President Roosevelt for his remark," said Mr. Mangasarian. "His religious training is responsible for his narrow views. This is the day of political tolerance. The name of Jefferson Davis has been restored to its place among other illustrious names in Washington. Oliver Cromwell, who led the King of England to the scaffold, has his name in the Pantheon of England. In politics we are civilized; in religion, we are still barbarians. President Roosevelt's virtues are great and we respect him for them. Great in some things, he is so small in others that it seems incomprehensible that one man can be capable of doing and saying things so wide apart. I pity his ignorance and the worst I wish him is that he may in time become enlightened."

NUMBER SIXTY-SIX.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—Mayor Busse will receive a visit from a committee appointed at the first meeting of the Association of Unemployed by Chairman J. Eads How of St. Louis, known as the "Hobos' Friend." A man present at the session arose and began a harangue which was in the nature of an attack upon individuals. "Hold on there," said Chairman How, on his feet in an instant. "So long as I am chairman of this meeting there will be no attacks upon persons. It isn't etiquette." The speaker yielded the floor and moved back to his seat. "But you are a good talker. I want you on the committee that is to go to the City Hall," said the chairman. "What is your name?" "I was number 66 in the penitentiary. I haven't had any name since," was the answer. He was later placed on the committee.

PASS THREE-CENT FARE BILL.

Lower House of New Mexican Legislature Lowers Passenger Rates. Want Charges Made Public.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA FE (N. M.) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After a spirited fight the lower house of the New Mexico Legislature today passed a bill providing for three-cent passenger fares on all railroads in the Territory. Fares now charged by railroads range from four to six cents per mile.

The House also passed a resolution calling upon the Committee on Territories of the United States Senate to make public all letters containing charges of political corruption and reflecting upon the honesty of citizens of New Mexico, upon which were based the refusal to pass the Statehood bill at this session of Congress, and inviting the fullest investigation of Territorial affairs.

The outlook for passage of a strict local option or prohibition law at this session is good. Hundreds of petitions bearing thousands of signatures, urging enactment of such a law, are now being sent to the Legislature.

HILL TO BUILD NEW ROAD.

Direct Connection to Be Made Between Great Northern and North Bank Line.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SEATTLE, March 1.—Engineers of the Great Northern Railroad have virtually completed a preliminary survey for a new railroad for the Hill interests in Franklin, Adams and Douglas counties, in Eastern Washington.

The apparent purpose is to afford a direct connection between the present main line of the Great Northern with the Spokane, Portland and Seattle Railroad, otherwise known as the "North Bank," built jointly by Hill and the Northern Pacific, but controlled by the former.

The point of junction will be at Pasco, on the east side of the Columbia River, and the construction of the proposed Hill road will mean the diversion of the great wheat traffic from the Big Bend country, now tapped by the Great Northern, to the North Bank.

CAPITOL IN "DREAM CITY."

Oklahoma Provides for Imaginary Location Near Center of State.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GUTHRIE (Okla.) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Senate today passed the Campbell-Russell bill for the location of the State Capitol at "Dream City," within fifty miles of the center of Oklahoma, around which the State institutions are to be grouped. The bill provides for the naming of a commissioner of each judicial district, the commission to investigate proposed sites, and submit three to the people for their choice at the primary in August next year. The sites shall be of not less than sixteen nor more than thirty-six square miles.

William Kenney, a traveling salesman, who had a room in an apartment-house overlooking the scene of the killing, heard the shots. Two came together and were loud, he said. Then there was an interval and three shots came very rapidly.

S. J. Binning testified that he saw Mr. Carmack and three other men talking together in front of the Tennesseean office late on the day of the tragedy. He said he was a stranger in Nashville and had no interest in the case.

PATRICK IN COURT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, March 1.—Albert T. Patrick, serving a life sentence for the murder of William March Rice, the aged millionaire, left Sing Sing prison today to appear before the appellate division of the Supreme Court of Brooklyn on a writ of habeas corpus. Patrick hoped to argue his own case, contending that he either deserves death in the electric chair or freedom, because his commutation to life imprisonment was illegal.

Asst. Dist.-Atty. Taylor argued that no grounds were shown for the issuance of the writ of habeas corpus.

Patrick arose and in a clear voice, desired to know if counsel contended that the facts in the petition were untrue. Justice Jenks at this point gave Patrick an opportunity to read the District Attorney's reply to the writ of habeas corpus, following which argument was commenced in which Patrick took a leading part. Patrick told the court that he accepted the writ and asked for an adjournment until next week before concluding the final argument. The hearing adjourned to Friday, and Patrick was taken back to Sing Sing.

State Wide Prohibition Bill Passes in Arkansas.

Passage Ends Fierce Fight in Lower House.

Measure Adopted by Large Majority Vote.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Gann bill providing for State-wide prohibition passed the House of Representatives this afternoon by a vote of 53 to 27. So great was the general confusion which followed that the House abandoned any attempt to continue further business and adjourned.

The passage of the bill followed three days of the hardest fighting in the Legislature this session, and the rejection of the Texas Simpson substitute bill, providing for submission of the question of State-wide prohibition to the people at a special election.

A hundred or more women were on the floor of the House seated among the Representatives and they congratulated the legislators. The vote on the Gann bill was larger than anticipated.

"We fought for submission but lost, the best we can do now is to support the Gann bill," was the substance of the explanations of the votes cast by those who had been fighting the Gann bill.

After the passage of the bill Mr. Ard of Jackson brought down the House by introducing a bill to prohibit the manufacturing or sale of coco cola or soda water in Arkansas.

RATHER THAN DRINK, MARRY.

Dying Chicago Prodigal Who Had Money to Burn Gives Young Men Advice.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Edward Gault, formerly prominent in political circles in Chicago and son of John Gault, once general manager of the Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway and proprietor of the famous old Gault house, is dying at the Bridewell. Today he told the story of his downfall and sounded a note of warning to young men with plenty of money. He has been a prisoner within the city bastile for two weeks. He is 53 years of age, but looks to be 70.

"Drink is the cause of it all," he muttered. "I had all kinds of chances, but I threw them away for whisky. I want to tell something before I die. I hope it will do some good. Don't drink. Do anything else. Bribe, steal, murder, marry—but don't drink. I want to say this especially to young men who have money. I had plenty of it when I was young, more than I knew what to do with. I spent it in fast living and you see the result."

What They Say About Peter Pan
THE TIMES:—"Peter Pan was a stock undertaking realized upon a scale which I believe could not be duplicated in a similar way in any other American city." "Splendid completeness and detail." "Peter Pan is good for a month at the Burbank at least."—JULIAN JOHNSON.
THE HERALD:—"Mr. Morosco has achieved one of the most notable feats in the history of stock productions. He offers a performance declared by many who saw it to be superior to the original production."—LEMUEL PARTON.
THE EXAMINER:—"Splendid production of Fairyland drama given at Burbank." "Triumph for Morosco." "In no other place could a manager and company be found equal to producing what Mr. Morosco gives you."—OTHEMAN STEVENS.

Thrilling Rescue of Sleeping Woman Is Made.

Loss Hundred Thousand With Part Insurance.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

RENO (Nev.) March 1.—Fire starting, it is supposed, from an overheated flue in an upper room of the Arcade Hotel, on Commercial street, at 3 o'clock this afternoon, quickly communicated to the Palace Hotel and gambling house, owned by Jim May, at Commercial and Center streets, and in an hour the landmark and notorious gaming place was on a level with the street, and the Arcade Hotel a mass of smouldering ruins. The Washoe saloon and restaurant, adjoining the Arcade on the west, was wrecked and its contents destroyed. The loss will approach $100,000, partly insured.

Four men made a thrilling rescue of Miss Pearl Foley, who had been asleep in one of the rooms of the Palace. After throwing several articles of no value from the window, she collapsed and lay helpless on the sill, while flames swirled around her. Before a ladder could be raised, the men rushed forward, and, swinging one upon the other, reached Miss Foley and carried her to the street, through a flame-filled stairway.

The Palace gambling house has been the scene of many spectacular plays, one of the most noted being made by its present owner, Jim May. One night two years ago, after a run of hard luck, May put $1000 on No. 4 on the roulette wheel, and won $35,000. In lieu of cash, he was given an interest in the games, since which time he had acquired the building.

LIVES IN DANGER.

TWIN AUTO ACCIDENTS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

OAKLAND, March 1.—Six people were severely injured and the lives of twelve endangered in two automobile accidents which occurred within an hour of each other yesterday afternoon.

Faulty brakes on a big forty-five-horse-power machine was responsible for the first accident, which almost caused the death of Martin J. Mann, a well-known real estate man of this city, and Mrs. Martin, Miss Elsie Martin, her daughter, and Mortimer Ford, son of C. R. Ford of San Francisco. The accident occurred at the head of the Roma-avenue grade near Piedmont Park, when the machine struck the slope the brakes refused to work and the big car, with the party of four, shot down the incline, skidded, crashed into the curb and turned turtle.

BANKER DISCHARGED.

RICKEY GOES FREE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CARSON (Nev.) March 1.—In the Rickey habeas corpus proceeding before the Supreme Court of this State, Chief Justice Norcross has decided that T. B. Rickey, president of the State Bank and Trust Company, charged with receiving a deposit knowing the bank to be insolvent, should be discharged. The statute makes it a crime to receive a deposit under such circumstances. The deposit in this case was received by a receiving teller, and not by the defendant, Rickey. Rickey contended that this character of reception was not within the law, and that the teller was not his agent, but the agent of the corporation. The court sustained Mr. Rickey's contention and discharged him.

The decision probably will bring to and end the cases wherein all the directors of the State Bank and Trust Company were indicted with Rickey, the president, and Davis, the cashier.

NO JURY YET.

CALHOUN TRIAL DRAGS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—When today's session of the trial of Patrick Calhoun ended, the attorneys engaged in the case had examined and disqualified twenty-four citizens summoned as prospective jurors.

With a few exceptions, every talesman had an opinion that would prevent his giving the evidence the necessary consideration. Twice a juror was accepted by one side and disqualified by the other, and in each instance the challenge was sustained by the court. The day ended with a preliminary examination of the sixty citizens constituting the sixteenth special venire summoned during the last seven weeks.

GREAT FORESTS TO BE FELLED.

LUMBER COMPANY GETS BUSY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OROVILLE, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] J. E. Sibley, M. Geisendorf and C. C. Hazlett of the Truckee Lumber Company have just completed a thorough inspection of the forests in Merrimac section, this county. It is reported their company will in the spring send surveyors to select a route for a railroad to be built from Oroville to Merrimac and sites for mills. The company owns 50,000 acres of virgin forest of sugar and yellow pine in the Merrimac country, acquired some time ago for use when the fast-disappearing forests near Truckee are exhausted. This season will see very little of the Truckee forests left.

The company operates on an extensive scale, employing several hundred men in forests, mills and factories. Indications are it will locate its mills on the Western Pacific Railway, close to Oroville, and that construction will begin this year.

MUCH BANKING AND BUILDING.

San Jose	1,535,501
San Diego	2,154,595	220,317

San Francisco customs receipts, $473,305.

FORTUNE AFTER MANY YEARS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The sinking of a ship engaged in the West Indian trade 100 years ago by a French man-of-war, the securing of indemnity by the United States, and the passing of a rider in this year's omnibus bill by Congress, providing for the payment of some similar claims, brought a fortune to Mrs. P. J. Babbitt, a San Francisco woman, and four other heirs of Capt. Miller, a trader of the days of 1800, whose ship was destroyed and whose cargo of tobacco and other tropical products was confiscated.

The claim of Mrs. Babbitt's family has been proved up many years, but has been waiting its claim among many other similar obligations of the government. It took a fight of forty years in Washington to secure justice for the private owners of ships sunk during the early years of 1800 by the French. President McKinley, during his first term, signed the bill that made possible the gradual paying off of the claims. If the government paid interest on such claims the members of the family would all be millionaires.

The other heirs who have claims equal to Mrs. Babbitt's are W. A. Hansbrough of San Bernardino, Alec Hansbrough of Kansas City, Mrs. G. C. Nunnelly of Dallas, Tex., mother of Mrs. E. B. Rathbun, a prominent local G.A.R. woman, and Mrs. Lucy Jacques of Pueblo, Colo.

SMELTERS GET EMINENT DOMAIN

BILL PASSES IN UTAH.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SALT LAKE CITY, March 1.—The right of eminent domain, under certain limitations, was conferred upon smelting companies by the passage of a bill in the Legislature today. Smelters may secure the condemnation of agricultural land within a radius of four miles, provided they already own 75 per cent. of the territory affected. The act applies to counties of less than 20,000 population. It is intended to reduce friction between the smelting companies and the farmers because of smoke damage.

WASHINGTON.

BIDS TENNIS CABINET ADIEU.

Tinge of Regret in President's Good-by.

Thanks Companions of Work for Loyalty.

He Gives Special Praise to "Jim" Garfield.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—President Roosevelt today gave a farewell luncheon at the White House to the members of the famous Tennis Cabinet, and others who have been closely associated with him during the past seven years.

Aside from the distinguished government officials, who have served as among the Presidents' chief aides during his administration, and as his companions at sports of different kinds, there were present men whom the President had made friends with when he was roughing it in the West years ago, and with whom he had gone on numerous hunting expeditions.

The occasion was memorable to those who surrounded the President today, and the latter's farewell words were not entirely free from notes of regret, if not sadness.

HAD LOYAL FRIENDS.

The President in a brief speech laid emphasis on the point that no administration had given its chief more loyal service, and said that he believed the country had never had a more devoted set of public servants that those men, through whom, he said, most of the work of his administration had been accomplished.

The President, in his remarks, following the luncheon, said:

"Gentlemen, you are here nominally as members, or to meet the members of the 'Tennis Cabinet'—that is, as men with whom at tennis, or hunting, or riding, or walking, or boxing, I have played, with whom I have been on the round-up, or in the mountains, or on the ranches. But really, as you know, you are not here for that reason at all; you are here because you are the men, and because you represent the men, with whom I have worked while I have been President. No administration has ever had finer or more loyal service than you have given, and I do not believe this country has ever had an abler or more devoted set of public servants.

WORK THEIR REWARD.

"It is through you and those like you that I have done the major part of what has been accomplished under the administration. Moreover, in a vast number of cases the doing of the work itself has been your only reward. The credit has come to me, to the chief of the administration. For, exactly as men like to symbolize a battle by the name of the commander, so they like to symbolize an administration by the man at the head, forgetting that the immense majority of his acts can be done only through others, and that a really successful administration, successful from the standpoint of advancing the honor and the interests of the country, must be managed as ours has been managed, in a spirit of most loyal association and partnership.

"There are many others like you whom I would have given much to bring here today; but there simply was not room enough, and so I have brought you here partly for your own sakes, but primarily as representing thousands of other workers, as representing all good, faithful, fearless public servants, who strive their best to do what the public need demands and who, in the last analysis, stand all on the same level, when judged by the supreme test which takes into chief account the spirit of the service rendered. Whether a man is a Cabinet minister, a bureau chief, a marshal, an Indian agent, a forester, a letter carrier, a member of the life-saving service, a clerk in a department or a workman in a navy yard, or whether he holds one of a hundred other positions, makes not the slightest difference if he puts his heart and soul and his mind into his work, and is content to accept as his chief reward the satisfaction that comes from knowledge the work has been well done.

PRAISES GARFIELD.

"So, while I greet you for yourselves, I greet you still more as symbolizing all of you one who leaves public life when I leave it; a man who made a real personal sacrifice when, seven years ago, he come here to take office at my request; a man who has stood ever since as the type of what a good public servant should be; a man who for the last two years has been one of the most useful Cabinet ministers who ever sat at the Cabinet table—Jim Garfield."

Those present at the luncheon were the French Ambassador, Secretary Bacon, Mr. Justice Moody, the Postmaster-General, Secretary Newberry, Secretary Garfield, Secretary Loeb, Solicitor-General Hoyt, Assistant Secretary O'Laughlin, Assistant Secretary Winthrop, Assistant Secretary Satterlee, Assistant Atty.-Gen. Woodruff, Assistant Secretary Phillips, Comptroller Murray, Commissioner McIlhenny, Hon. J. C. Rose, Hon. H. L. Stimson, Hon. Lyman M. Bass, Gifford Pinchot, James B. Reynolds, W. W. Heffelfinger, Capt. Luther S. Kelly, "Yellowstone Kelly," whom the President first met on the Little Missouri, at present an Indian agent in Arizona; W. W. Sewell, the President's old guide; Capt. Seth Bullock, Commissioner Keefe, Dr. Henry S. Pritchett and John Abernathy.

SENATE CUTS CANAL BONDS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill was passed by the Senate just before adjournment today, with an amendment securing $40,000 for remodeling the White House office building, to give additional room for the President, and providing $25,000 for his traveling expenses.

On motion of Mr. Foraker, an amendment appropriating $120,000 to the Roman Catholic church in Porto Rico for property in Porto Rico was adopted.

The authorization for an additional issue of $30,000,000 of Panama Canal bonds was stricken out on protest of Senator Clay, who criticised the excessive cost of the canal.

Senator Hale said in this connection: "We went into this thing in a blind way and we have stumbled along in it ever since. The majority of the Senate favored a sea-level canal, but we were drawn into an approval of the lock system. Only one thing is omnipresent in this matter, and that is the constant demand for more money."

The bill carries appropriations of about $139,000,000.

Tomorrow, the General Deficiency Bill, the last of the great supply measures, will be reported to the Senate and it is hoped it will be passed during the day.

BOOSTS APPROPRIATIONS.

Sundry Civil Bill Comes Back to the House With Million and Quarter Tacked on.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill was reported to the Senate from the Committee on Appropriations today. The bill carries $138,076,565, an increase of $1,286,719 over the bill as it was passed by the House.

Of this increase $99,000 was for public building improvements, including Everett, Wash., and Riverside, Cal.; $815,000 for the revenue cutter service to provide launches for Puget Sound and Los Angeles; $292,300 for additional lighthouses and other aids to navigation; $65,660 for additional accommodations for the President's office building and $25,000 for traveling expenses of the President, the latter being included by reason of the refusal of the House to agree to raise the salary of the President to $100,000.

RIGHT NOT FAVOR.

HINT TO CABINET OFFICERS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Declaring that there is an implication that the President's consent is necessary in order that the Senate may get information because Cabinet officers in making such reports say it is "by direction of the President" Senator Bailey offered a resolution today, referring back to the Secretary of the Treasury a communication sent by him to the Senate April 13, 1908, "by direction of the President."

The resolution stated that the Senate declined to receive any communication from the head of any department which denies either expressly or by implication the right of the Senate to such information. It was decided to let the resolution lie over until tomorrow.

GETTING TOGETHER.

CONSERVATIONISTS TO UNITE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The campaign to unite and coördinate all efforts for the conservation of natural resources in the United States is scheduled to begin on March 5, when the joint Committee on Coöperation, which was authorized by the Governors' conference to "prepare a plan for united action by all organizations concerned with the conservation of natural resources," will hold its first session.

The committee is composed of eleven members, six of them chairmen of State conservation commissions. In preparation for the meeting, the various conservation bodies which have been actively at work for several months, are sending in suggestions based on their own experiences. The joint committee will review all these recommendations and from them it expects to perfect a plan or organization.

BIG PARTY VOTE.

TRY TO PASS SUBSIDY BILL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Relying upon a poll just completed, an attempt will be made tomorrow to pass through the House without amendment the Gallinger ocean subsidy bill, already agreed to by the Senate. If all the Republicans who are pronounced to vote for the bill are present, there will be a mere handful of a majority in its favor. If the Republican absentees aggregate many the bill will be defeated. The poll shows that the Republicans will increase the vote in favor of the bill taken a year ago by twenty-eight or thirty, but at the same time the opponents of the measure will swell their numbers principally by a larger attendance of Democrats.

FOREST RESERVE PASSES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Under suspension of the rules, the House took up the Senate bill "for acquiring national forests in the Southern Appalachians and the White Mountains." The measure is an amendment in the nature of a complete substitute for the bill passed by the Senate.

The bill as substituted permits acquirement of lands in any part of the United States where such acquirement can be shown to be advisable by the Forest Reservation Commission created by it, after geological survey had determined that such acquisition will promote or preserve the navigability of streams on whose watersheds the lands lie. Originally the bill was designed to cover the Appalachian and White Mountains, but the House substitute makes it applicable to all States.

Mr. Smith of California declared, in discussing the bill, that it not only looked to appropriations, truly appalling in magnitude, but almost to a change in the policy of the government in every particular.

After considerable debate the House passed the bill.

SENATE MAKES INCREASE.

MONEY FOR WEST POINT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The Military Academy Appropriation Bill, carrying $2,541,421, a slight increase over the amount it carried as passed by the House, was passed by the Senate today. An effort of the Committee on Military Affairs to add eighty-eight cadets to the number now being educated in the Military Academy at West Point was defeated by points of order. An amendment for the reinstatement of Cadets W. T. Rossell and Harry G. Weaver, dismissed for hazing, was defeated on a point of order.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

Assistant Treasurer Named.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Late today the Senate confirmed the nomination of George S. Terry of New York to be Assistant Treasurer of the United States.

His Last Nominations.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The President today sent to the Senate the following nominations: To be Consul-General at Boma, Congo Free State, William W. Handley of New York; to be Associate Justices of the Supreme Court of New Mexico, Edward A. Mann and Ira A. Abbott.

Judgeship for Fulton.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Congress has passed a bill creating an additional Federal judgeship for the District of Oregon, and it has gone to the President for his signature. It is understood that this place is created for the benefit of Senator Fulton.

SPYING.

LEAK SCARES WAR OFFICE.

Austria Bottles Up All News from Frontier.

Relations With Servia Are Acutely Strained.

Vienna Dreads Outbreak of Hostilities Soon.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VIENNA (Austria) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The War Office, being greatly concerned because of the constant leakage of news as to the condition of the troops in Bosnia and as to incidents on the frontier, is determined to put a stop to it. All officers of the headquarters staff, from the highest to the lowest, will be compelled to swear to divulge no news of any kind from Bosnia. This order is regarded as significant, indicating that the situation of the frontier is not satisfactory.

While the international outlook for the moment is distinctly more hopeful, the relations of Austria and Servia continue to be acutely strained. The rival armies of the two nations are face to face along the Servian-Bosnian frontier, being separated from each other by only a few kilometers. It would not require much to start a war at this juncture. Grave fears are expressed lest Servia, representing the intervention of the signatory powers, should intentionally provoke hostilities by means of some convenient frontier casualty.

RUSSIA FRIENDLY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BERLIN, March 1.—The Foreign Office was advised today that Russia, acting alone, had delivered a note to Servia in the matter of the difficulties between that country and Austro-Hungary. This communication is friendly and sympathetic in tone, but it advises Servia definitely against asking for any territorial compensation at the hands of Austria-Hungary, and it demands the renunciation of this claim as a preliminary to an economic understanding between Austria-Hungary and Servia.

SERVIA KEEPS MUM.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, March 1.—Servia's response to Russia's advice has not yet been made public, but Servia continues to maintain a pacific attitude. She has issued a note exhorting the Servian people to have patience, respect the law and conduct themselves peaceably.

MUST ABANDON AUTONOMY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PARIS, March 1.—According to authoritative information received in Paris from Vienna, Russia has counseled Servia formally to declare to Austria that she abandons all claims to autonomy, as well as territorial compensation for Bosnia and Herzegovina, and that Servia will undertake to pursue a correct policy in the premises.

Only when this is done, according to this information, will the consideration of economic concessions by Austria become possible.

IN MISTAKE FOR FATHER.

Herbert J. Hagerman Denies That He Opposed Statehood Before Senate Committee on Territories.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) March 1.—Before leaving for New Mexico tonight, Herbert J. Hagerman, former Governor of that Territory, explained that the dispatches of Saturday relative to the defeat of the Statehood bill had evidently confused his name with that of his father, in stating that J. J. Hagerman, former Governor of New Mexico, had made representations to the Senate Committee on Territories that New Mexico was unfit for Statehood.

"I knew nothing of my father's intentions in the matter," said Mr. Hagerman, "nor can I say whether the dispatch from him was authentic. I assumed the alleged message occasioned the reports that stated I had appeared before the committee against the Statehood bill. I have nothing further to add to the message sent by me to New Mexico yesterday, in which I said: 'I left Washington more than a week ago and never appeared before the Senate committee.' W. H. Andrews and his friends cannot shift responsibility for defeat of the Statehood bill when they brought about the conditions which resulted in that defeat. New Mexico is entitled to Statehood but the present situation proves that she cannot get it so long as she is represented as at present."

RECEIVER EXONERATED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PHOENIX, March 1.—In the United States Court today United States Dist.-Atty. Alexander, pursuant to instructions from Atty.-Gen. Bonaparte, filed a motion for dismissal of the indictments against Fen S. Hildreth, a former receiver of the local Land Office. The charge was the embezzlement of $50, a land-filing transaction. Thorough investigation and the order amounts to an exoneration. Hildreth alleges the charges were spitework.

The segregation local option bill got before the Council today, but the vote was deferred. In the lower house a bill was introduced to submit the prohibition question to the entire Territory as one district at the next general election.

The controversy between Gov. Kibbey and J. C. Adams, his appointee as Fair Commissioner, against whom the Governor has filed charges on his refusing to resign, has assumed a new phase. Hearing on the charges began Saturday, but were continued to Monday. Sunday night Adams tendered his resignation, "for the god of the fair," requesting that an investigation of the charges be made by the new board to be appointed. The Governor construing this as a qualified resignation, refused its acceptance and will continue the hearing.

VAST.

IMMIGRANT PROBLEM THOROUGHLY SIFTED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Some facts showing the far-reaching character of the work of the Joint Commission of Immigration, which was appointed by Congress on February 20, 1907, were presented to Congress today through the publication of a preliminary report by the commission.

This report deals with virtually every phase of the immigration question, including oriental aliens and other excluded classes, peonage, charity among immigrants, white slave traffic, conditions of steerage, anthropology, congestion in large cities, alien criminality, competition of immigrants, school inquiries, administration of the immigration laws, distribution of immigrants and other questions.

No conclusions have been reported by the commission, but the scope of the work is shown in a manner which presages extensive legislation in the future. It is stated that if the plans of the commission are realized, the various lines of work outside Washington will be completed in the early fall, probably by September 15.

The entire investigation probably will be finished during the next fiscal year.

NEED MORE MONEY.

The report was printed and circulated today to show the necessity for an appropriation of $250,000 to carry on and complete the work.

Thus far the expenses of the commission from April 1, 1907, to February 1, 1909, have been $344,796. There are at present 198 persons employed under the commission. Of this number, eighty-two are in Washington, two in New York, two in San Francisco, ninety-two are engaged in field work and twenty in special lines of inquiry.

The commission says it is generally admitted by those acquainted with the subject that, notwithstanding the present law proposes to provide for the exclusion of every undesirable immigrant, thousands of undeniably undesirable persons are admitted each year. It has been found that the law in theory, so far as its exclusion provisions are concerned, is strong, but it is weak in some respects.

The commission says it has found several sources of this weakness and it is its purpose to recommend some effective remedies.

LAWS EVADED.

One of the most important features of the work is connected with evasions of the law resulting in the importation of excluded classes. Notwithstanding the expenditure of about $500,000 annually to enforce this law, the commission finds that it does not prevent the coming of Chinese laborers in considerable numbers.

An extensive investigation is being made into the question of the importation and harboring of women for immoral purposes. The results show that many women are being constantly imported under conditions which amount to absolute slavery. As the result of its inquiries and the evidence it has gathered, there has been a noteworthy attack upon this business, which has resulted in a very marked decrease.

It has been found that in numerous instances persons afflicted with contagious diseases and even criminals of a dangerous type have been able to evade the immigration laws and come to this country under the pretense of being seamen.

The utmost importance is attached to the inquiry being made into the subject of alien criminality. The higher criminal courts of New York City are, at the request of the commission, keeping records in great detail of each person convicted of crime, and it is intended that a study of foreign-born criminals and criminals of the second generation shall be made in that city. The investigation, however, is not confined to the larger cities, but is being carried into smaller centers and industrial communities in various parts of the country.

DELVING DEEP.

The most extensive and important work undertaken by the commission is the general field investigation into the economic and social status of immigrants to various sections of the country. The most important topic being covered is the race of employés in each occupation, years each race has been employed; hours of work and discrimination for or against immigrants in employment, wages and housing.

In taking up the congestion of immigrants in large cities, the commission is observing communities inhabited principally by members of one race, as to whether the clinging together of members of the same race handicaps them in their struggle for advancement and prevents their rapid assimilation and Americanization.

A careful inquiry among wage-earners who are forced to compete with immigrant labor is being made among workers in the trades and occupations in which immigrants are largely engaged.

A special field investigation is being conducted in selected localities in the South, and it will cover the sentiment of legislative bodies as indicated by legislation enacted affecting immigration. Inducements and obstacles to immigration, such as climate, character of soil, free or cheap lands, amount, variety and regularity of work throughout the year, the wages paid and hours of employment will be shown. Information is also being gathered concerning the employment of women and children, the prejudice against races, the presence or scarcity of fellow countrymen, church and school facilities, and a vast amount of other information.

ORIENTAL IMMIGRATION.

The investigation of oriental immigration has been confined thus far to the Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast sections and special emphasis has been placed upon the inquiry concerning the Japanese. Without the census recently ordered in California, the commission claims they have fairly accurate information concerning the numbers of Japanese in California, their distribution by counties and industrial districts, their occupations and trades.

In California and Washington, the report when made will cover the presence of Japanese, Chinese and Hindus.

The school is declared by the commission to be the most potent influence in promoting the assimilation and Americanization of the immigrant.

The treatment accorded steerage passengers at sea has been given considerable attention and agents of the commission in many instances have come from foreign ports in the guise of immigrants. It was found the steerage of today is far better in many ways than in the past, but there is still great room for improvement.

The commission expects to be able to report at an early date the effect of intermarriage between the native born and immigrant and with one another, to determine whether the deleterious influence results, or whether beneficial influences will not be felt.

Peonage is being made the subject of a special study. One of the most interesting subjects is an investigation being conducted in nearly a hundred cities to show to what an extent the immigrant is the recipient of charity.

IN the past nine years one-third of all the champagne imported was G. H. MUMM & Co.'s Extra Dry and Selected Brut. The reason is obvious.

RAILROAD RECORD.

ESPEE BOOSTS RATES AGAIN.

Tariff on Live Stock Goes Soaring Upward.

Stations on Shasta Route Are Affected.

Packers Kick to Railroad Commission.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—The Southern Pacific railroad has announced an advance of 15 per cent. in freight rates on live stock from forty-two stations on the Shasta route to San Francisco, South San Francisco, Oakland, San José, Sacramento and Rodeo.

It was said by traffic men here that the advance is a part of the company's policy of raising rates from points of origin to points of concentration for reshipment to the East by water. It is believed that many similar advances are to follow.

The stations named in the advanced rate include all points on the Shasta route above Hornbrook and below Dunsmuir and the five receiving points cover all places in this section where slaughtering is done.

Complaints against the increased rates have been lodged with the State Railroad Commission by nine large packing firms. If the matter is not adjusted prior to the next meeting of the commission, March 9, a date for a hearing will then be set.

The particular rates complained of are those from Montague and Gazelle to Oakland and San Francisco. The former rate to Oakland was $60 a car; the new rate is $75 a car.

The secretary of the commission states that until his attention was called to the increase by the complaints, he was not aware that one had been made.

The new schedule has been filed with the commission, but as the former tariff has never been a matter of record with the body, a comparison was impossible.

ALTON PAYS ITS FINE.

Attorney Gives Check for Sixty Thousand Dollars to Clerk of District Court.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ralph M. Shaw, attorney for the Chicago and Alton Railway, paid $60,000 to the clerk of the United States District Court today as the fines of the railroad he represents, and its two officials who were found guilty of granting rebates in the case, which was decided about a month ago by the United States Supreme Court. The fine of the railroad company was $40,000 and of J. N. Faithorn and Frederick A. Wann $10,000 each.

Attorney Shaw refused to state whether the company was paying the fine of Wann, who was formerly its general freight agent, but who has recently left its employ. The checks were all drawn, however, upon the First National Bank.

The Alton Railroad was convicted on two counts of granting rebates from Schwarzchild & Sulzberger, packers.

FOR SMALL ARMS PRACTICE.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Maj.-Gen. Bell of the army staff has issued instructions for holding the annual small arms competition of the army this year. The plans contemplate departmental rifle and pistol competitions instead of divisional ones. The competitions will be held at Ft. Niagara, Ft. Sheridan, the Presidio and at Leon Springs.

CHECKS FIND MISSING WIFE.

Vermont Marble King Has Woman Locked Up.

Discovers Her Living With a Former Clerk.

Says She Chloroformed Him Before Fleeing.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] One of the strangest elopements discovered by the Pittsburgh police in some years was uncovered here today, when Pietro Baraffio, the marble king of Vermont, found his young wife with Emilo Gosperdi, a handsome Italian, who had been a clerk in Baraffio's office at Barre, Vt.

Baraffio led Detectives Shevlin and Angelo into the house on Pennsylvania avenue where his wife, two children and Gosperdi were staying, and caused the arrest of the man and woman. They are both locked up in jail tonight, while the marble man has his two children. Tomorrow Barraffio will go into court and ask that he be permitted to take his children out of the State.

The marble king has been chasing his wife and children since November 14, last, when they disappeared. He was assisted in locating them here by the First National Bank of Montpelier, Vt., in which the woman had an account, on which she has been drawing at $150 per week for the past six weeks.

Barraffio tells the police a sad story of mistreatment by his young wife, saying that he was chloroformed by her when she was about to fly from him with the young clerk. While he was under the influence of the drug, the marble man asserts, the couple ransacked the house from top to bottom, taking every cent of money that could be found and all the jewels which could be turned into cash quickly. In all they took several thousand dollars, he says.

Barraffio comes of an old Italian family, and did not care to parade his shame before his neighbors, who knew nothing of his trouble. Some days ago he met the cashier of the First National Bank of Montpelier on the street, and the banker asked when the wife was coming home from her visit to Pittsburgh. This brought out the fact that Mrs. Barraffio had been drawing on her bank account from Pittsburgh, and here the husband located her today.

STUNG.

RICH VICTIMS OF SWINDLERS SUE.

ALLEGED LEADER OF CROOKS IS IDENTIFIED BY ALL.

Men Who Each Gave Up Large Sums of Cash on Fake Sporting Events Arrive in Little Rock in Pursuit of Quartette — Jockey Makes Confession.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) March 1.—Several victims of the alleged gang of swindlers under arrest here arrived in Little Rock today and all of them have identified J. C. Maybray, the alleged leader, and one or more of the quartette.

J. G. Kyle of Decatur, Ill., an aged farmer, who was swindled February 23, identified all of the men under arrest. Kyle came here to invest $10,000 and went to a horse race in the suburbs, supplying his money for two hours to a bettor who was "short." Kyle went before the grand jury.

J. S. Tierney of Streator, Ill., gave up $10,000 on a wrestling match in New Orleans, January 24, 1907.

W. H. McGrath of Minneapolis admits having lost $10,000 on a race at Council Bluffs last summer.

Each of the victims filed suit today against Maybray and his associates and will follow the example of J. E. Cavanaugh, who also was victimized, and attached the boxes shipped to Davenport, Iowa, which are supposed to contain $50,000.

Henry Stockwell, a jockey in the employ of Maybray, who was formerly prominent on association tracks, confessed to officers today, implicating others. Stockwell was identified by J. S. Tierney as one of the wrestlers in the matches by which he was swindled.

MAKING NEW OCEAN RECORD.

Turbine Liner Mauretania in Fair Way to Beat Her Own Best Time Across Atlantic.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, March 1.—From cable advices received from Fastnet, giving the position of the turbine liner Mauretania, at 7 o'clock tonight, at 358 miles west of Queenstown, it is apparent that unless some accident causes the slackening of her average speed, the vessel will establish a new record for the eastward voyage between this port and Queenstown.

Up to Saturday noon the Mauretania had covered 1249 knots at an average of 25.21 knots an hour. During that time she had improved her own record for a day's run by covering 607 knots during the twenty-four hours from Friday noon to Saturday noon. This is an average speed of 26.28 knots, and a new record.

If this keeps up she will reach Queenstown about 8:30 o'clock a.m. Tuesday, an hour and a half ahead of her best time for the trip, completing the voyage in 4 days, 19 hours.

FRUIT FROM AFRICA.

CHICAGO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Patrons of some of the restaurants in town may raise their eyebrows these days to see peaches and plums which look for all the world like the plebeian growth of the tropic country, quoted on the bill of fare at 25 cents or more apiece. But doubtless the restaurant-keeper will have been wise enough to justify his price by attaching to the fruit its proper and rare pedigree, "South African." Although it is improbable that fruit from this source will ever gain a great foothold here, several consignments were received within the last week. They come from the Wolf River district, Cape Colony.

ITCHING FOR CAPITOL.

we reached home. I think that was not an exception in the love we all had for each other when we came home—every one loving every one else, and also loving a particular person. But it is a sweet memory, and we have got to enjoy it in memory.

NO DOMESTIC BREAKS.

"Now I am sure every one of us has had occasion to rejoice often that he or she was a member of the party. Speaking for myself, it seems to me that every day in the week I have had occasion to rejoice. The party has broken down party lines, but it has not broken down, I am glad to say, domestic lines.

"But when there is Philippine legislation on, if you will examine the votes in the Senate and House, you can trace the influence of the Philippine party. It has mingled Republicans and Democrats together in a way that no one can understand except those who were members of the party.

"Tonight I fell overcome by the good will, the generosity and the welcome that you have given Mrs. Taft and me. I have a sense of being undeserving (cries of "no.") Well, that's the way I feel, anyhow.

ROUGH RIDER'S SUCCESSORS.

"I am about to take up a burden that I am not going to resign from, but it is one that doubtless will grow heavy at times and lighter at times. But whatever the burden, I want the good men and women—the good fellows both male and female—of the party to know that I am confident that whoever else may be a severe critic, I shall have the sympathy of those who sailed out from San Francisco on the steamer with me in 1905.

"I hope we may continue to have these reunions. We did have one at the White House when we went there to see that two of our number were properly married, and I hope the White House may be the frequent place of meeting in the future. I do not expect to be its mistress and I have not consulted its mistress; but I want you to come there where the landlord is so generous and where the tenant will be glad during the next term to welcome you all and each at any time.

"This party might bear the same relation to the coming administration that the Rough Riders do to the outgoing administration. I should be delighted to take them into the same degree of confidence as I have the class of Yale '78. I hope my heart is big enough and I hope the patronage of the office is sufficiently wide to include them both."

Mr. Taft said today that the first announcement of the make-up of his Cabinet would be made March 5, when he sends to the Senate for confirmation the names of the men he has selected. The Cabinet, however, has been made known, as each of its members has been selected.

Changes in the Diplomatic Corps, Mr. Taft says, will not be considered for some time to come. It is possible that several important places in the Federal service may be filled, and the nominations go to the Senate with those for the Cabinet. It has been predicted that William Loeb, Jr., secretary of the President, is to be Collector of the Port, at New York.

ITCHES FOR CAPITOL.

Senator Hopkins of Illinois called on Mr. Taft during the day. Senator Brownlow of Tennessee also called.

Asked for his programme for the day, Mr. Taft laughed and replied that he should like very much to go straight up to the Capitol—that he "just had an itching" in that direction. He explained that he should enjoy a visit on the floor of the Senate and the House, because there were many men there he wanted to see and have chats with. That he had no intention of doing so was made clear by the statement that, while he was not President, he was beginning to realize several of the limitations of that office.

The passing of the so-called Ananias Club established by President Roosevelt is one of the vehicles of pleasantry between the outgoing and incoming Presidents. According to the story which is going the rounds, Mr. Roosevelt has accused Mr. Taft of already starting an "opposition" club—the "Buncombe Club."

In several of his recent speeches in which criticism of the Panama Canal has been dealt with unsparingly, Mr. Taft has declared that "buncombe Congressmen" have been largely responsible, therefore, the President, it is said, has joked with his successor of his "buncombe organization."

Arrangements are being made by Mr. Taft for a tea to be held at the White House March 5 in honor of the eighty members of the Yale class of '78, who are to attend the inauguration. Mr. Taft is a member of this class. The members of the class will be given a dinner during their stay in the city.

The first member of President-elect Taft's Cabinet to arrive here was Charles Nagel of St. Louis, who, it is expected, will be Secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor. He was accompanied by Mrs. Nagel.

CHICAGO TO STOP WORK DURING INAUGURATION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In accordance with a resolution passed by the City Council tonight, countless hearts in Chicago—animate and inanimate, industrial, civic, and those of humble individuals—will beat in sympathy with William Howard Taft for five minutes Thursday, while he is taking the oath of office in Washington to be the head of the nation for the next four years.

Mayor Busse will take official notice of the event, and issue a proclamation suggesting that the pleasing interlude be general throughout the city, that the whistles and bells of factories be sounded, as signaling a new era of prosperity, and that in general Chicago set the lead for a national telepathy of good wishes and good cheer.

LATE MEAL FOR RUEF.

Jailer Discharged for Feeding Ex-Boss in Mess Hall About 3 in the Morning.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—An unseasonable craving for food on the part of Abraham Ruef, former political boss of this city, and convicted bribe giver, who is an inmate of the County Jail, has led to the dismissal of Deputy Sheriff Frank Johnson, one of the jailers.

According to the story told Sheriff Dolan, Ruef was suddenly gripped by the pangs of hunger between 2 and 3 o'clock on the morning of February 13. Johnson, who was on watch, finally took the former boss from his cell and led him to the messroom of the jail, where the deputy served a repast to his prisoner from the food remaining in the pantry.

Each Attempt Made by Different Method.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fearing the love of her husband had been won by another woman Mrs. Elizabeth Lowery, 28 years old, made her ninth attempt at suicide yesterday, and died in agony a few minutes later. She swallowed almost an ounce of carbolic acid.

Solomon Lowery, the husband, when taken to the Carey-street Police Station, admitted that he had quarreled with his wife almost daily in the last eight months and said he believed she had learned he paid attentions to another woman. The Lowerys have two small children and Mrs. Lowery asked in a note that they be taught to remember her.

The woman's successful attempt to end her life was surrounded with dramatic incidents. Just before she drank the poison she asked her husband if it would not be a relief to him if she took her life. He told her the suspense was almost unbearable and pleaded with her to give up the notion of killing herself. Before he had finished speaking she had swallowed the acid.

Lowery told the police that while at work in a suburban town he formed the acquaintance of a young woman who is the direct cause of his domestic troubles.

"Dear Johnnie: May God forgive me for this. I leave you to be happy with another. Be good to the boys and teach them to remember me. You will soon forget the unhappiness I have brought you. True unto death, Lizzie."

Mrs. Lowery's first attempt at suicide was made June 23, 1906, when she took morphine. December 2, the same year, she cut her throat with a razor. The following May she drank a quantity of disinfectant, and July 26, 1907, she tried to hang herself with a shoestring. February 3, 1908, she drank a glass of water in which she had soaked match heads. The following September she tried to hang herself with a bed sheet, and November 18, 1908, she took cocaine. February 20, 1909, she again tried morphine, and today ended life with carbolic acid.

KILLS FOR REVENGE.

SHOOTS MAN WHO JAILED HIM.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MISSOULA (Mont.) Feb. 28.—To avenge himself on the husband of the woman for the wronging of whom he has just completed a five-year term in State's prison, Joseph Brown shot and killed Robert Gilruth today, while the latter, accompanied by his brother, was walking along the road near Chickerman's mill, six miles west of Lolo, Mont.

Brown was arrested later, and the brother of the slain man is held in custody as a witness.

When arrested for the crime, Brown declared that he had been attacked by Gilruth with an ax and other weapons, and that he shot in self-defense. He was wounded in several places and it was while having these injuries dressed here that he was captured. The brother of the dead man flatly denies Brown's statement, and declares that he and his brother were deliberately ambushed by Brown.

WIFE POISONED.

HUSBAND SUSPECTED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] E. A. Swart of Los Angeles is being held in the County Jail pending an investigation by the authorities of the death of his wife, who died in the Passavant Hospital yesterday morning. Mrs. Swart was admitted to the hospital February 8, suffering from the effects of bichloride of mercury poisoning. At the time of his wife's death, Swart was at her bedside and when the hospital authorities notified the Coroner's office of her death, County Detective O'Brien placed Swart under arrest. He was committed to jail and is held without bail pending an investigation.

The charge placed against him is "to be held as a witness."

Swart declares that he formerly was manager of the Cawston Ostrich Farm at Pasadena. He asserts that his wife died of heart failure and that he knows nothing of any bichloride of mercury. The body of Mrs. Swart was claimed by her brother, A. J. Shering of No. 740 Woodburn avenue, this city.

SUICIDE FOLLOWS ASSAULT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

PITTSBURGH, March 1.—William Gearhardt, captain of a fire company, who murderously assaulted Mrs. Anna Baxter, a widow, with a razor yesterday and then seriously cut himself, committed suicide today by jumping from the third floor of the Pittsburgh Hospital. Mrs. Baxter is in a precarious condition today.

Gearhardt called at the home of Mrs. Baxter, whose husband died ten years ago, and going to the parlor of the house with the woman, he locked the doors. A short time later Mrs. Baxter's three children heard their mother screaming and broke into the room. Gearhardt had cut her throat twice and slashed her hands and arms a number of times. After the children had taken their mother from the room, Gearhardt locked himself in and cut his own throat.

Well-Known Coastwise Captain Found Dead in Bed—Leaves Note to Coroner.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Capt. D. ... Driscoll, formerly of the tug Millen Griffith, was found dead in bed this morning in his room. A note to the Coroner in his handwriting said that death was caused by cyanide, and asked that no autopsy be performed. Driscoll recently was arrested for threatening the chief wharfinger with a revolver, and the case against him is still pending.

Grand Army Veteran and His Mate Live for Weeks in Utter Destitution, Without Food or Medicine, But Refuse to Appeal to Relatives for Aid.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After weeks of existence in utter destitution and after spending three days in a cold room without food or medicine, William Grinner, a Grand Army veteran, and his wife, Hattie Grinner, died within six hours of each other today. Starvation and pneumonia caused their deaths, the city hospital physicians report. The bodies are at the hospital, where the aged sufferers were taken after they had become unconscious.

Grinner, who was 60 years old, and his wife, who was 65, lived in two rooms. She was of Indian, French and Spanish descent. Neighbors almost as poor as they, sent food occasionally to the aged couple, and repeatedly suggested that they might call the police or charity organization aid or notify relatives of their condition. But Grinner and his wife refused to agree to these plans.

"I have relatives here," the woman said, "but I wouldn't have them know of the condition we're in." She refused to reveal the relatives' names.

A neighbor knocked at their door yesterday, but there was no answer, and she sent for a policeman. Grinner and his wife were unconscious on a cot. They succumbed at the same time to the weakness caused by their long fast. Neither recovered consciousness after reaching the City Hospital. The husband died at noon, the wife at sundown.

RICHEST WIDOW PASSES.

Widow of Former Rhode Island Merchant Dies at Her Home in Newport.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEWPORT (R. I.) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. John Carter Brown, of Providence, said to be one of the richest widows in America, died at her summer residence on Bellevue avenue, after a long illness, yesterday. The remains will be taken to Providence and interred by the side of her husband, who died many years ago. He was at the head of that celebrated house of Brown & Ives, which ruled Rhode Island, financially, politically and socially, for decades, and who after a long struggle finally drove the equally firm house of A. & W. Sprague to the wall. The fight lasted for years.

The court last year appointed Mrs. Harold Brown, custodian of the body and personal estate of her mother, and the late George W. Matteson was put in charge of her large business interests. For several years, owing to her enfeebled condition, she had been removed from Providence here. Her mind had been practically a blank for at least two years.

It is said that young Nicholas Brown, "the $1,000,000 baby," will receive a big slice from his grandmother's estate. He was her favorite. Her granddaughters, Mill Mildred Sherman and Miss Irene Sherman, prominent and popular belles in society here and in New York, also will be remembered.

WOOLENS and worsteds will be strong competitors this season for the careful dresser—and possibly because woolens in their manufacture allow a greater commingling of colors these textures will be most in evidence.
BECAUSE of such multiplicity in color and pattern effects the skill of the cutter will be shown in the artistic plainness of the garment rather than in any decorations, and that is just where a "Gordan-made" suit will show its superiority over all others.

BOXING.

HARD BATTLE FOR TONIGHT.

Memsic and Picato on Edge for Great Bout.

Winner Will Have Chance to Get in Limelight.

Fred Corbett and Kid Tex to Settle Dispute.

Fight fans who like plenty of action mixed with a generous slugging exhibition will doubtless have this passion satisfied to the limit at the pugilistic entertainment carded by Promoter who is to fight Fred Corbett tonight.

McCarey at Naud Junction tonight.

The main event, between George Memsic and Frank Picato, which will decide the lightweight honors here, promises to be one of the best battles ever fought here.

Picato has unbounded faith in his ability to neatly trim the latest victim of Freddie, the Welshman, and his very noticeable improvement during the last two or three fights puts him up in the front ranks. If he beats Memsic he will be in line for the championship.

Memsic finished his training yesterday and has offered the information that he is in better shape than he has been for some time. His bout with the Britisher opened his eye to the chances a clever man has with him. The single fact that the winner will have the right to demand a match with Nelson and the other top notchers is sufficient hint that the bout tonight will develop all the latent talent in each of the pugs.

WANTS TO WIN.

Fred Corbett is in dead earnest to beat Kid Tex, and with the tentative promise of a match with Ad Wolgast hanging within reach on the plum tree, that is if Wolgast can clear himself of the charges preferred by Referee Tommy Walsh, the Chicago pug is liable to set a lively pace. It will be his chance to make good and if he beats his man he is pretty likely to secure a go with Harry Baker, if he can't get Wolgast.

Kid Tex also has his chance to make good and says he will fight his hardest realizing a victory would raise him high in the estimation of local fans. The distance will be ten rounds. The most interesting of the prelim numbers should be the go between Johnny Hugo and Young Turner. Hugo got what he thought was the wrong end of the decision in their last fight and is desirous of demonstrating his real class.

The curtain raiser will be a four-round bout between Chester Moss and Charles Butler. The youngsters are both bruisers and the affair will probably resolve itself into a walloping contest until one of the pugs connects. The Hoosier Kid and Mike Fusco are scheduled to furnish the second number over the four-round route, and the mill has the makings of an exciting bout.

The line-up of the fighters and the order of the bouts is as follows:

Chester Moss and Charlie Butler, four rounds.

Hoosier Kid and Mike Fusco, four rounds.

Johnny Hugo and Young Turner, six rounds.

JEFF MAY FIGHT.

MUST GET IN CONDITION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—"I will fight Jack Johnson for the heavyweight championship of the world if I am able to get into condition to do myself justice," said James J. Jeffries, who stopped off on his way to New York today.

"The story from Omaha that I said I would fight Johnson as soon as I finished my vaudeville engagement is not true," continued Jeffries. "I never have said definitely I would fight Johnson and I am not ready to do so now. My future depends on my ability to get into condition and I am not certain yet whether I will be able to do myself justice if I return to the ring. I must have more time to analyze my condition before I will make any definite plans."

Jeffries appeared to be in excellent condition, but somewhat heavy. He was accompanied by Mrs. Jeffries and Sam Berger, his sparring partner.

EASY FOR ATTELL.

DOUBLES UP PIERCE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA (Pa.) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Abe Attell picked up a good bit of Philadelphia money by going six rounds to an easy victory over George ("Young") Pierce in the wind-up at the Washington Sporting Club tonight.

Abe was in no hurry to do anything against Pierce, but when the featherweight champion did cut loose Pierce had a way of doubling up under the stinging left and right swings Attell shot at the body.

Attell coolly chewed gum throughout the bout in which his superiority over the Philadelphia boy was apparent. Pierce made a fairly good showing, however. At the start he mixed it energetically with Attell and delighted the big crowd by seemingly having the best of some of the vicious exchanges, but Abe's stiff left to the nose and mouth, landing with bewildering speed, took the ferocity out of him.

SENATE MOLLYCODDLES.

ACRIMONIOUS PERSONALITIES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After heated debate the State Senate today put an absolute ban on professional boxing in Washington by striking from the Criminal Code the provision allowing six-round bouts with five-ounce gloves. This section of the code had the strong support of a minority of the upper house, and was backed by the liberal element throughout the State, but a fight against it was made by two or three members of the Senate on the ground that it would open the way to prize fighting, and the majority voted against the provision.

Discussion waxed so warm that the Senators indulged in acrimonious personalities, the liberal element characterizing the opposition as a set of "mollycoddles," and the name of President Roosevelt was brought in as a supporter of boxing. As the law now stands, only amateur boxing matches held by regularly organized athletic clubs between actual members will be allowed.

Dr. B. F. Roller, the physician-wrestler, who has entered the ring, has been waiting for action on this bill to determine his course. He now expects to go down to California for matches with heavyweights and wants to tackle Al Kaufmann.

Baldwin Beats Wallace.

NEW YORK, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Matty Baldwin of Boston outfought Eddie Wallace of Brooklyn in eight rounds of their ten-round bout at the Marathon Athletic Club in Brooklyn tonight. In the last two rounds Eddie had things all his own way and at the end Baldwin was more exhausted than his opponent and if Wallace had started sooner he would probably have won.

Cross and McFarland.

CHICAGO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Leach Cross and Packy McFarland were matched today for a ten-round bout to be held on March 23 before the Fairmont Athletic Club of New York. Manager Gilmore received word late this afternoon that Cross had attached his signature to the articles for a match which Gilmore already had signed and sent to New York.

May Be a Year.

KANSAS CITY, March 1.—James J. Corbett, who is here, is quoted today as saying that in a recent conversation, James J. Jeffries declared his intention of reentering the ring after his New York engagements. "Jeffries told me," said Corbett, "that he believed he would be compelled to train a year in order to get into proper condition. This is the real reason he is slow in announcing his intention of returning."

Slugging Match.

WILLIAMSPORT (Pa.) March 1.—"Unk" Russell of Gray's Ferry and Tommy Crawford of Pittsburgh, fought a ten-round draw before the Williamsport Athletic Club tonight. The match was a slugging bee from start to finish, and the two men went after one another like fiends.

HIGH SCHOOL SQUABBLE.

POLY BOYS REFUSE L. A. ANOTHER MEET.

THERE is a probability that the Polytechnic High and Los Angeles High track meet held last Monday, may be protested by Los Angeles High on the grounds that Rickerhauser, the Polytechnic crack hammer thrower, was not eligible to compete.

Several of the track men of the hill school made trips to Washington street last week, and at first asked for a second meet. The mechanics were not disposed to grant a second contest, and then the argument about Rickerhauser's competing began when Los Angeles High charged that he was over 21 years old, and that he had been in High School athletics for more than four years.

The students at Polytechnic say that the charges have no foundation and that Rickerhauser is as eligible to compete in the contests as any student at the school, but that this is his last year. A few who have looked up his record say that his time is out in the latter part of April, when he will be 21 years old.

The students of the Washington-street institution have now prepared counter charges against three of the hill school's crack track men, Geissler, Robertson and Lugo, and also charge that the Los Angeles High School authorities do not enforce the athletic rules requiring all students who participate in athletic contests to take at least fifteen hours' work a week and to do passable work in each study.

"Any one who attends Los Angeles High can take part in any contest, the only requirement being that he is good in athletic work," was the gist of several remarks made at Poly yesterday.

It is said by the Polytechnic boys that they have proofs that neither Geissler, Robertson or Lugo is doing the required work at Los Angeles High. It is said that Geissler is down in his studies and that neither Robertson nor Lugo are taking the required fifteen hours' work. The boys of Polytechnic say that Robertson and Lugo have admitted to them that they are not doing the work.

Polytechnic is treating the matter as a bluff on the part of its rival school, and charge that the hill boys would like to have some excuse for the defeat of the last meet. That High School has no grounds for a complaint, and that there will be no secod meet, is the sentiment at Poly.

Prof. W. A. Dunn, acting principal of Polytechnic High, said last evening: "When the students of Los Angeles High School made the accusation that Rickerhauser was 21 years old, and that he had been in athletics more than four years, I first got a written statement from his parents, saying that he was not yet 21 years old, although he will be in April. I then looked up his athletic record. In the fall of 1905 he played on the football team of Redlands High School, and in the spring of 1906 he was a member of the track team of that school, making one year in athletics at Redlands. This is his third year with Polytechnic, and he will be eligible to play until the latter part of April. These facts should satisfy the track team of Los Angeles High, and put an end to its complaint."

QUITE SUDDEN.

HARVEY THORPE, Sam and Eugene Caruthers, three of the best athletes of the Harvard School track and baseball squads, have left the military institution, and the cadet enthusiasts see all their hopes for championship honors dispelled by the unexpected loss.

The reasons for the sudden departure of the trio of stars are held secret by the members of the school faculty, although it is known on good authority that their going was not voluntary, misconduct being charged.

Thorpe was rated as one of the fastest prep school sprinters in the State last year, having won the century event at the Stanford invitation meet, and having defeated Rubio in the 220-yard vent at the Southern California interscholastic championships held on the Pomona College track. He has consistently negotiated the century in 10 1-5s. and the furlong distance in 22s. or better. He was also a member of the Harvard School relay quartette that won the championship event at Stanford last year.

Thorpe has been running in excellent form this year, and won the 100 and 220-yard events in the interclass meet held recently at the Harvard oval. He was also expected to play on the cadet baseball team, and his loss will be doubly felt.

Eugene Caruthers was a sophomore, captain of the baseball team, and played first base. He was also considered the fastest hurdler on the track team, and was counted on to represent the cadets in the stick events in the coming meets.

Sam Caruthers was one of the few baseball candidates at the school who was sure of his position at second base, and his place will be hard to fill. The boys were just beginning to get into shape for the baseball schedule, and the coach faces a difficult proposition in filling the vacancies.

BASKETBALL.

COMPTON GIRLS DEFEAT U.S.C.

COUNTRY LASSES SHOW CITY FOLKS HOW TO PLAY.

Poor Team Work on the Part of Methodists Blamed for Defeat of University Sextette—Miss Yoch Stars as Free Basket Thrower. Miss Asher Is Off Form.

The girls' basketball team of the University of Southern California was defeated by the strong team of Compton High School in a slow but at times fiercely contested game on the university court yesterday afternoon, by the score of 16 to 14.

Although the result was close the exhibition was poor and showed the varsity players to be sadly lacking in team work, in the rudiments of handling the ball and in accurate basket shooting. But two field goals were registered during the entire game by the Methodists, Miss Yoch making both baskets. The remaining points were scored on converted foul throws.

Both teams were penalized repeatedly for over-guarding, and eighteen points of the total thirty points scored were made on free throws. The visitors played a good game, and the work of the Compton guards was especially good. Miss Yoch for U.S.C. was sure on the free throws, converting ten tries in the three periods. Kitty Asher was in poor form, failing to score a single field goal.

The line-up of the teams was as follows:

Compton	H. S.	U.S.C.
J. Cunningham	forward	Asher
Cone	forward	Yoch
C. Cunningham	center	Knoles
Walton	center	Jacobs
Aylmore	guard	Winstanley
Renfro	guard	Goodfellow

BRITONS ARE ALIVE.

See Hard Task Ahead of Them in Beating American Chess Players in Tournament.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chess players of Great Britain are keenly alive to the importance to them of the forthcoming struggle for the Newnes' trophy between native British and American players scheduled to take place on March 26 and 27. The trophy is on this side of the water, and strenuous efforts will be made to recapture it.

There will be a few changes from the personnel of last year, according to advices from the other side. The Rev. W. C. Palmer, having gone to Trinidad, will be an absentee, and the player named for England will be dropped. Sergeant, who drew at the tenth board, is said to be in good form, and may be retained, while Richmond, now in Scotland, is eager to play again. He was the opponent, in a drawn game, of Eugene Delmar of this city, who died last week. J. H. Blake has done well in the city of London championship tournament, and will have a place.

Col. H. O. S. Heistand, adjutant-general of the Department of the East, U.S.A., deplores the lack of numerical strength of the United States army, declaring that at present there are not enough regulars in the army to defend New York City and Philadelphia, while all the national guardsmen in the country, he says, would not be sufficient to defend these cities from attack.

Coast Officials Meet Train at Sacramento.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—The first team of the White Sox squad arrived tonight on its special train. It was met near Sacramento by a delegation from the Coast League composed of J. Cal. Ewing, Dan Long, Frank Ish and others, and the rest of the trip was in the nature of a reception to the big leaguers.

An impromptu dinner was served in the dining cars in honor of the Coast men, and the time was passed in renewing old friendships among the fans and the delivery of enthusiastic addresses on the merits of the great American game.

The team will be out on the Coast league grounds tomorrow getting into shape for the first game with the San Francisco team, which will be played Friday. The men are all in fine condition and the few days' light work will put them into trim to meet the western exponents of organized baseball.

Four recruits for the San Francisco team arrived with the Chicagoans. They are Outfielders Kelly and Lewis, Pitcher Easterly and First Baseman Tennant.

MEN FEEL GOOD.

PARTY SPLITS AT CAPITAL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—The Chicago White Sox special train arrived in Sacramento at 5 o'clock this evening, immediately following the Overland. President Comiskey said all his men were in good shape, and that the trip from Chicago had resulted in no accident or sickness to the players.

Here, as planned, teams No. 1 and No. 2 separated, the latter going down the valley direct to San Diego, where it will practice preparatory to games with Los Angeles and Vernon.

The special of eight cars went direct to San Francisco.

Pitchers—White, Smith, Suter, Spencer, Scott.

Infielders—Isbell, Tannehill, Parent and Atz.

Outfielders—Altizer, Hahn, Flanagan and Cravath.

Catchers—Payne and Shaw.

Infielders—Balder, Davis, Zeider, Purtell.

Outfielders—Welday, Matticks and Dalton.

Both President Comiskey and members of the team expressed themselves as much pleased with the weather encountered since they reached California. A pleasant and profitable season is anticipated by him.

In regard to the statement from Carlin, Nev., that Billy Sullivan had been given the management of the team, President Comiskey only smiled and said it was the first he had heard of it.

Sullivan Chosen, Maybe.

CARLIN (Nev.) March 1.—Billy Sullivan performed his first official act as manager of the Chicago American League baseball club on the train yesterday. He betrayed to his team mates that he is to be Fielder Jones's successor by distributing a part of the uniforms that will be worn by the team. He had not acted in any official capacity before this, but he will have to take hold from now on and lead the club if Jones does not return at once.

Three Games Scheduled.

Three games of baseball are to be played at Echo Park Playground this week. The first team is to cross bats tomorrow afternoon with St. Vincent's High School, and on Saturday afternoon with the County Schoolmasters. The second team of Echo Park is to meet the nine of the Olive-street grammar school Saturday morning.

Against Sunday Baseball.

JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) March 1.—The Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence of the House of Representatives of the general Assembly today reported favorably a bill prohibiting baseball on Sunday.

Giants and Thistles.

The Los Angeles Giants and Thistles are to play a game of baseball at Joy Park Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. The Thistles' team is one of the best in the Southern State League, and the Giants are to use their best players with Bud Clark on the mound. Red Taylor is to umpire.

CHALLENGE TO WALK.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—Citizens of Milwaukee are to meet representatives of Chicago in an intercity walking match. This is the result of the Saturday night contest, in which seven prominent Chicagoans started, and which attracted the attention of Mayor David S. Rose of Milwaukee. He has sent a challenge to Chicago, which reads:

"I hereby challenge the winners of the walking race Saturday night—Albert J. Moore, the broker, and Dr. L. Blake Baldwin, city physician—to a match race btween Louis W. Hamilton and Charles E. Gavin of Milwaukee, time and place to be determined this week, for a purse of $200 a side."

Dr. Baldwin said the match would be welcomed, and details quickly arranged.

Ingredients of Ayer's Hair Vigor:
Sulphur, Glycerin, Quinia, Sodium Chlorid, Capsicum, Sage, Alcohol, Water, Perfume.
Anything injurious here? Ask your doctor.
Anything of merit here? Ask your doctor.
Will it stop falling hair? Ask your doctor.
Will it destroy dandruff? Ask your doctor.

NO RACES TODAY.

Arcadia Cast Into Gloom Because of Baldwin's Death and Fatal Accident.

No races will be held at Santa Anita Park today, because of the death of E. J. Baldwin. The demise of the old turfman and the fatal accident among the jockeys yesterday has cast a gloom over the track.

In the first race Jockey Woods, who was killed, rode Tammany Hall last, and in the next event he met his death as elsewhere recorded.

POLOISTS ARE GATHERING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN DIEGO, March 1.—The world-famous all-England polo team, composed of Frank J. Mackey, Maj. Rotherham, F. A. Gill and Col. D. Ross, known as the Ranelagh team, arrived here today with a string of more than twenty polo ponies, for the purpose of participating in the world championship polo tournament, to be held on the Coronado field, March 15-22.

The Riverside team will arrive tonight and the Byrn Mawr (Pa.) team on Wednesday. Members of the all-England team assert their determination to capture the championship.

Two of the members of the team are "blacklist" players. The polo blacklist contains the names of the twenty-four most famous players of the world.

The Bryn Mawr team is accredited with being the finest in the United States, so that when it meets the Ranelagh team it will be a polo struggle of America against England. Inquiries received at the Coronado headquarters indicate that polofists from all parts of the country will be here for the tournament.

POLY TEAMS TO PLAY.

The Polytechnic High School track team is preparing for a meet with Throop Polytechnic Institute for Saturday afternoon at Tournament Park, Pasadena. The meet with San Diego is practically assured, and it is likely that the team will visit the southern city on the last Saturday of the month.

Wise Talks By The "Office Boy"

She did not know that he was rich;
She hardly knew his name, in fact;
Captivating way he lacked.

She heard his pitiful appeal and Treated him with cold disdain;
He sadly rose and turned to go;
He had no reason to remain.

He pondered for a day or two while
Sadness lingered in his breast;
She was the fairest girl he knew,
She put it over all the rest.

He vowed that he would win her yet,
Though she had coldly turned him down,
And then he hurried out and bought the Finest car in all the town.

He lolled back in his limousine and
Often passed her dwelling place;
One day she saw him and a look of Wonder spread across her face.

He leaned out when he knew she watched,
And, with a splendid, lordly air,
Bestowed a greenish bill upon a
Beggar who was begging there.

He went again to ask the girl, who Listened gladly to his plea,
And when he journeyed home that night,
The maiden was his bride-to-be.

He sat and pondered long again, and Looked away, with dreamy eyes,
And as he went to bed he said:
"It seems to pay to advertise."

I work for hours every night to try
To make my "Wise Talks" good,
And still I never feel that I can Boost enough for Silverwood.

SACKVILLE CLAIMANT.

NATURAL SON SUES FOR HUGE ESTATES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MADRID, March 1.—The case of Ernest Henri Battiste West, claimant to the Sackville peerage and estates, against Lionel Edward Sackville-West, to whom the estates have passed, opened in this city today. The court was presided over by Judge Marquella. The case hinges upon the legitimacy of the claimant.

The late Lord Sackville, uncle of the present holder of the estates, was British Minister to Washington in 1888.

Ernest West is the natural son of Lord Sackville, who while he was in Madrid formed an irregular alliance with a Spanish dancer named Josephine Duran de Ortega. His claim to the title and estates has aroused a great degree of sentimental interest.

No attempt will be made to deny that Lord Sackville lived with Josephine de Ortega, the latter passing as his wife, and that he formally legitimatized his children by her, but Lionel will contend the dancer in 1851, eighteen years prior to the birth of Ernest, contracted a marriage with a Spaniard named Oliva, and that consequently Lord Sackville's legal recognition of his children is nullified.

He will produce in court copies of a register of a church in Madrid purporting to show the marriage of Ernest's mother to Oliva. These copies were procured in 1900, and the claim is made that the register was tampered with in 1901.

The present case is a criminal action against a church employé named Rolfir, a relative of Josephine, and a third man, who are charged with altering the church records of the marriage of Josephine to Oliva in the interests of the claimant.

The public prosecutor and the attorney for Lionel Sackville-West have joined in asking the condemnation of the accused to imprisonment for ten years. The handwriting experts agree that the church records were tampered with, but they differ as to what these changes indicate. A number of handwriting experts have been summoned by both sides.

The claimant proposes to produce also the dying declaration of Josephine affirming that she was the legitimate wife of the late Lord Sackville, and that her children were recognized, supporting this contention with an array of private letters.

The prosecution will insist upon the validity of the marriage of 1851, and will cite the fact that there is no certificate of the marriage of Josephine and Sackville; that Sackville, when he assumed the peerage in 1885, declared he was unmarried, and that the municipal archives contain a legal transcript of the marriage of Josephine and Oliva.

CALLED TO SAN FRANCISCO.

Distinguished Exponent of Mental Cure Will Try Radical Methods Under Bishop Nichols.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Called to a place on the cathedral staff at San Francisco by Bishop Nichols, Rev. Albert Beckwith Shields, a distinguished exponent of the Emmanuel movement, says that he will inaugurate radical new methods of treatment along mind-cure lines at St. Luke's Hospital, a ward in which, he says, will be at his disposal.

"At St. Luke's," he said today, "we shall practically treat cases of excessive alcoholism, which is curable through suggestion and moral and religious persuasion and appeal. Criticism of this method is based partly on ignorance of the real purpose and method employed.

"Before going to San Francisco I shall go to Europe, where, at the request of Bishop Nichols, I shall study and investigate psychopathic methods practiced there. I expect to observe the work of Paul Dubois in Bern, Switzerland, and in France I will go to Nancy, and to the hospital De la Salpatiere at Paris, the idea being to get the best possible general knowledge of psychotherapy as it is followed by its leading exponents."

HURT, HE SAVES OTHERS.

Signal Man Injured by Piece of Iron on Track Removes Obstruction and Prevents Wreck.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, March 1.—By the severe injury of one man late yesterday afternoon, near Elyria, Colo., death and injury to many others was probably avoided. A large piece of iron had been placed on the tracks of the Union Pacific Railroad just beyond the yard limits at Elyria, with the evident intention of wrecking the Cheyenne Flyer, but the obstruction was discovered by a signal man, whose railway tricycle was wrecked ten minutes before the train was due.

The signal man was severely hurt, but he removed the obstruction, and reported the attempted train wreck. A seventeen-year-old boy of Elyria, whose name has been withheld, has been arrested, and other arrests are looked for. The attempt is said to be one of several that have been discovered since last Thanksgiving, and railroad detectives are of the opinion that they are the work of young men, whose principal idea was that of playing a practical joke.

MILITIA CAPTAIN DENOUNCED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, March 1.—Investigation will be made into the death of Frederick Kopp, Jr., a young Brooklyn machinist, who died of pneumonia, after having been taken from a sick bed to attend the annual inspection of Co. B, Forty-seventh Regiment, New York National Guard.

The boy's parents are indignant and assert that their son's death was the result of exposure and exertion. He died on February 22, and the inspection was held on the 19th. A physician who accompanied the company, is inclined to view the matter as do the parents, but Capt. J. M. Clamer, who is alleged to have sent a detail of guards to the young man's house the night he was taken from bed, says the facts of the case have been greatly exaggerated.

WHAT NEW YORK NEEDS.

NEW YORK, March 1.—The Cassidy-Merritt Committee, appointed to investigate the finances of New York City, has submitted its report to the Legislature. The report says the city should be required to establish a bureau for the purchase of supplies, a bureau of uniform accounting and a bureau of real estate.

REVOLUTIONIST CAUGHT.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 1.—August Monandzit, the principal organizer of the revolt of 1905-1906 in the Baltic provinces, has been arrested at Rigo. Previous to this outbreak, Menandzit was a schoolmaster. Since 1906 he has been in hiding in the forests.

JUDGE SUES PRIEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The unusual spectacle of a district judge suing a Catholic priest for libel is that presented at Plaquemine, La., where Judge Calvin K. Schwing has locked horns with Rev. John J. Holtgreve, the irremovable priest of St. Katherine's Roman Catholic Church. The judge demands $50,000 damages for articles which the priest has printed in two little papers, the Daily Sentinel and the Daily Champion.

In a statement issued by Father Holtgreve today, he throws down the gauntlet to the jurist and invites him to come on.

"This suit," declares the churchman, "is a challenge to prove that Calvin K. Schwing is a man worthy of the respect of the citizens of Iberville parish. I accept his dare. No one will be spared. Wonderful revelations will follow and if God grants me enough life, I shall land a few culprits behind the bars before I am laid to rest."

There has been a political warfare in Iberville Parish for some time between Father Holtgreve and Judge Schwing factions. The $50,000 libel suit is the climax.

Secret Service Detectives Make Arrests in Plot to Counterfeit Argentine Coins.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—Charles Drewde and John Koenig, photographers, were arrested here today, charged by secret-service detectives with complicity in an international counterfeiting plot.

Their arrest came as a sequel to the capture of Robert Emmet Scott, at Anderson, Ind., Saturday. Scott, it is alleged, brought Drewde and Koenig into a scheme to counterfeit Argentine pesos. With the connivance of an Argentina official, it is said, Scott planned to use the spurious money in buying diamonds from smugglers in the South American republic.

Scott is said to have made a confession to the effect that when he returned from Argentina some time ago he smuggled $51,000 worth of diamonds through the New York customhouse.

NEW ORDER OF KNIGHTHOOD.

Catholic Priest of Boston Founds Temperance Knights of St. John the Baptist.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A new Catholic order of knighthood to be known as the Knights of St. John the Baptist has been founded here by Rev. Francis J. Butler, rector of St. Leo's Church. Father Butler also founded the Holy Family Temperance League. None but members of this league will be eligible to membership between the ages of 16 and 27. From now on wherever a temperance league exists a branch of this knighthood order will be organized. Aside from the age qualifications members must take the temperance pledge for one year. The uniform will be a black regulation style army cap with gold strap, and the letters K.S. J.B. embedded on a gold eagle. The coat is black with black braid and the same lettering. Through a slit on the left side is the belt holding sword and scabbard. Trousers are black with red stripes.

WEDDING ENDS JOURNEY.

Ensign on Rhode Island Marries Girl He Met While on Pacific Coast With Fleet.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When the battleship Rhode Island steamed into port yesterday one of the first to obtain shore leave was Ensign James J. Manning.

It happens that Arah Remein Bruegge, whom the ensign met on the Pacific Coast, came to New York from her home in Vallejo. That the ensign hurried to her side when he came ashore was made clear by the developments today at the City Hall. Arm in arm the couple entered the marriage bureau. Ensign Manning was attired in the uniform of his rank. Miss Bruegge was becomingly gowned in a blue princess.

A marriage license procured, the couple hastened uptown in a taxicab. Ensign Manning said he was a son of John M. Manning of Meriden, Ct. He is 26 years old. Miss Bruegge is 24, and her mother was Mary Abbey Ordway of Vallejo.

AGREE TO DISAGREE.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The Senate Committee on Judiciary today voted to reach a disagreement on the resolution providing for an investigation of the absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company by the United States Steel Corporation.

Any views submitted to the Senate on the subject will be considered, "individual" reports not having the sanction of the committee. This is generally regarded as a compromise and a number of Senators had drafted a report declaring the merger to be in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, and rebuking President Roosevelt for his part in the transaction, while others declared that it was not the function of the committee under the resolution adopted to pass upon these questions.

The decision not to submit either of the reports of the subcommittee was reached after a good deal of discussion. Finally, Senator Fulton moved that a disagreement be reported, and that each Senator should have the individual right reserved to him to make such expressions of views to the Senate as he desired.

This motion was adopted by a vote of 7 to 5, the affirmative votes being Messrs. Clark of Wyoming, Depew of New York, Foraker, Dillingham, Knox, Fulton, and Clarke of Arkansas. The negative votes were Nelson, Kittredge, Culberson, Overman and Rayner. Senator Bacon was not present.

No vote was taken by the committee on either of the reports of the subcommittee. Mr. Foraker suggested that the committee should report to the Senate that the President was not authorized by law to permit the merger, such a report being in direct response to the inquiry of the Senate. A motion of that character excited a great deal of debate and differences of opinion, and Mr. Foraker gave way to the suggestion of Mr. Fulton. The views of Mr. Bacon were expressed in a letter to the committee.

GOOD MEDIUM PRICED PIANOS

It is not necessary at our house to consider the purchase of a piano as either a luxury or an extravagance. Good pianos we sell at prices so small and on terms so reasonable as to make piano ownership more than easy. New pianos in elegant mahogany cases, durable, artistic, tuneful and finely finished, may be had at $195, with terms to suit the convenience of the purchaser. Others at $200 to $235, and up to $250, on small payments, are equal in quality to pianos generally sold at $300 and upward. Quality is the first essential in any store of The Wiley B. Allen Co., and, quality considered, Allen prices are lower by twenty to twenty-five per cent than those of any house on the Coast.

Every piano sold by us bears an unqualified guarantee as to quality and durability—the guarantee of its maker, backed by our reputation of thirty years of fair dealing and honorable methods. Every detail is carefully explained, every customer protected in the fullest measure; satisfaction in the smallest detail is assured, while prices to you and your neighbor are the same, the lowest possible. We invite comparison of methods, of pianos and of prices and terms. Call or write for catalogues.

Franklin Automobiles

Roads

"Which is the best road?" How often automobilists ask that question.

"We had a fine trip except for the roads" is a remark you have heard many a tourist make—showing that automobilists experience discomfort and fatigue, that there is hard riding and difficulty of management, that their automobile is not suited to road conditions.

The Mistake

Go back to your experience with carriages and road wagons. You were very particular as to their riding quality—the kind of springs they had, their weight and the way they stood up. They had to be light, flexible and strong. They had to stand rough roads and at the same time ride easily.

You have not applied these principles to your automobile. You have accepted it as something totally different—a machine the discomforts of which you were obliged to put up with. A mistake.

You can be as particular about your automobile as you were about your carriage. The Franklin automobile like your carriage has a wood chassis frame and full-elliptic springs front and back. And like your carriage it rides easily. It is light; it stands up. It is manageable. It meets the conditions of American roads—gives the highest comfort and pleasure at all times.

Model D, 28-h.p., $2800. Other four and six-cylinder models from $1750 to $5000.

Classified Liners.

Times Classified rates: the rate for inserting "Want" ads in The Daily Times is 1c per word for each insertion; in the Sunday issue 1½c per word, each insertion; minimum charge 25c; except under following classifications, the rate for which is 10c per line, minimum charge 50 cents: "Society Meetings," "Personals," "Special Notices," and "Baths and Massage."

"Liner" (classified) advertisements for Sunday insertion received over the counter or by telephone after 12:30 o'clock Saturday nights will be inserted under heading "Too Late To Classify."

Sunday real estate advertisements, to be classified and properly, must be in The Times office before 10:30 o'clock Saturday night. Rates 1¼ cents per word.

The Sunday circulation of The Times exceeds 77,000 copies, and more "liners" are regularly printed in its columns than in the five other Los Angeles newspapers combined.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times" any time of day or night and secure prompt and careful attention.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

THE TIMES will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times in payment for "Liners," as no mistakes can be rectified without them.

SPECIAL NOTICES—

TIMES COOK BOOK, NO. 3, READY TODAY, and until the edition is exhausted, is placed on sale the largest, most elaborate and complete cook book of the series issued by The Times.

The 315 recipes for hot Spanish and Mexican dishes and the hygienic department are big features of the publication. The recipes, brought out by The Times Prize Cooking Contest, are generally from Southern California housewives and noted chefs. Price 50c; by mail 5c additional. Address THE TIMES, Los Angeles.

SUNDAY REAL ESTATE LINERS—Advertisements intended for insertion in THE SUNDAY TIMES must be in the office not later than 10:30 o'clock Saturday nights. Other "liners" advertisements for Sunday insertion will be taken over the counter until 11:30 p.m.

The actual volume of liners printed in The Sunday Times, numbering regularly over 1000 separate announcements, makes this regulation absolutely necessary in order to get the big Sunday issue out on time.

FOR SALE— SIX CITY-SIZE LOTS, FOR $250. AT SOMERSET.
Did you ever stop to think of the investment feature of a home at Somerset? I sell you an acre for $250 in this growing suburb. Each acre will cut up into six city lots, each one worth as much as the entire acre costs you now. Somerset is close to the gates of this spreading city. The electric car reaches it in 30 minutes. The power-house is on the tract. The suburb has a complete water system of steel mains. The water needs no pumping, flowing constantly under heavy pressure, from deep wells.
WATER COSTS NOTHING. IT IS FREE. IT SAVES YOU MONEY.
Take one of our free hourly excursions and go see Somerset for yourself. Fertile soil and free water means money to you whether you seek a home, an orchard or a vegetable garden, a poultry ranch or a safe, sure, money-making investment. Take my advice and see it while the present prices rule.

FOR SALE—LARGE TRACTS
IN THE
SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY
FOR COLONIZATION.

WE HAVE A FEW EXTRA GOOD OFFERINGS.

WE HAVE EXCLUSIVE CONTROL OF THESE PROPERTIES.

12 MILES FROM FRESNO.
This is practically the last of the so-called cheap lands in Fresno county. There are 11,000 acres, nearly all in one body and within three miles of railroad station. The soil is a sandy loam and is particularly adapted to alfalfa, sugar beets and many kinds of fruits. Water can be had in greatest abundance by means of pumping plants. Ten or twelve-inch wells 70 feet deep furnish an inexhaustible supply, and the lift is only about 12 feet. Adjacent lands are being sold in colony tracts at from $40 an acre up. No more land so near to Fresno (12 miles) can be had at less than four times this price.

1040 ACRES AT $20 ACRE.
NOT FAR FROM CORCORAN.
This is a splendid body of land and is well adapted to various kinds of farming. Artesian wells are located on lands surrounding this tract and it is believed that artesian wells can easily be obtained on this land. Railroad runs through center of tract and good shipping station only short distance away. We are exclusive agents.

2000 TO 10,000 ACRES
NO FINER LAND IN VALLEY.
PRICE $40 AN ACRE.

This comprises several parcels owned by different parties, which we control exclusively. The soil is of highest grade and is as level as a floor. Could not find any finer land in it if you tried. Located about 15 miles from Fresno. Water in greatest abundance from wells. Electric power can be arranged for for pumping purposes.

1280 ACRES, $25 ACRE.
TWO MILES FROM STATION.
This is excellent land and well adapted to fruit growing, alfalfa and other crops. Water in inexhaustible quantities. A fine colonization proposition of moderate size.

320 ACRES, $15 AN ACRE.
CLOSE TO ANGHOLA.
This land is priced very below actual value and at less than half the price adjacent lands can be had for. The reason for low price is that it belongs to an estate and must be sold at earliest possible date.

JUST A WORD ABOUT LARGE TRACTS.
Any one who desires to invest in lands in the San Joaquin Valley for colonization purposes will have to get busy if they wish to obtain even a "look in." Prices are advancing and the remaining lands are selling so rapidly that there is comparatively little left. Our offerings are in all instances real bargains and will make handsome profits for any one who invests in same. In dealing with us you can feel certain that we can deliver the goods, and that any information given by us can be relied upon absolutely. In consulting us you have the benefit of our 15 years' residence and experience in San Joaquin Valley. Any bank or merchant in Fresno county will tell you that we are thoroughly reliable.

A BARGAIN OF BARGAINS IN
WITH A FREE WATER RIGHT AT $30 AN ACRE.

The Geo. S. Clement ranch, containing 504 acres, 12 miles east of Porterville, in Tulare county, $30 acres is first-class orange land; 60 acres is adapted to alfalfa; the balance produces a fine growth of grass, and is adapted to corn, grain, grapes, eucalyptus and stock raising. The property has an elevation of 1000 feet and is protected by the foothills from frost on all sides. It also has one of the best water rights on the Tule River, giving it a constant flow of 250 miner's inches, absolutely free—same being taken from the river in its own ditch. Improvements consist of an 8-room, 2-story house; 2 barns; good fences; 10 acres in young Washington navel orange grove, coming on nicely, and at least 2000 cords of oak wood standing. Implements and stock included. Price $30 per acre. One-half cash. The water right alone is worth every dollar asked for the property, and the soil is ideal for citrus fruits. There is none better. It is a reddish decomposed granite, free from alkali and hardpan and running strong in lime and oxide of iron—making it especially adapted to oranges. This property is the best buy we know of. Usual courtesy to agents. W. M. WILLIAMS & CO., 304 I. W. Hellman Bldg 411 S. Main st. 6

MATTER OF PUNCTUATION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

OAKLAND, March 1.—On the decision of Judge Ogden that a punctuation mark in a holographic will left by Mrs. Mary L. Lancaster, was a decimal point and not a comma, the bequests to Moses Robinson and Emily Robinson, brother and sister of the testator, were reduced today from $100 to $1 each. The questioned mark occurred after the figure "1" on the will, and although Attorney Lapp stated Mrs. Lancaster had told him she intended to leave her brother and sister $100 each, the court held that as the pen stroke bore greater resemblance to a comma than a period, it must be read as such.

MANY LAWYERS ATTEND.

PORTLAND, March 1.—Argument on the demurrer of counsel for the Harriman system in the case wherein the government is seeking to forfeit the grant of the Oregon & California Railroad Co. to more than 2,000,000 acres of valuable land in this State, occupied the attention of the Federal court today, and was the magnet that attracted an unusual attendance of attorneys from various sections of the country.

Counting those present for the various contending interests, including fully 5000 interveners, at least forty lawyers were on hand to define the respective positions of their clients in the effort to wrest from the railway company whatever vestige of title it may claim to these lands.

SOLDIER ON TRIAL.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—The trial of Thomas J. Jordan, the Coast Artilleryman accused of the murder of Police Sergeant Nolting, was begun today before Judge Cabaniss. The defendant is represented by C. P. Fairall and W. A. Nunlist, assisted by Lieut. Hennessy, recently Judge Advocate at the Presidio. Assistant District Attorney Manley is aided in the prosecution by Hiram Johnson and C. D. Carson, the latter two being engaged by the police. The defense is expected to be based on the theory that Nolting was not killed by Jordan but by some one else on the Barbary Coast, where the tragedy occurred.

LETTERS CAUSE MURDER.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Judge Dunne began the trial today of Michael Porson, charged with the murder of Mrs. August Towle on October 17 last. The killing was the result of a quarrel over some letters Porson accused the woman of withholding from him. She conducted the Brown Palace Hotel, where Porson and his wife formerly resided.

REGISTRATION COMPLETE.

OAKLAND, March 1.—The registration books for the coming municipal election have all been completed by County Clerk Cook, and are ready for delivery. They cover eighty voting precincts, the registration having been the heaviest in the history of Oakland.

Cities Included.

HELENA (Mont.) March 1.—Gov. Norris today sent to the Senate his veto of a measure which proposed to give the cities independence of county local option elections.

SPLIT IN "SOLID SOUTH."

LEEDS LOSES JUSTICE BILL BY TWO VOTES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Lacking only two votes of a majority the bill of Assemblyman Leeds, limiting the jurisdiction of township justice courts, was defeated in the Assembly today. Leeds will make an effort tomorrow to have the vote reconsidered, believing he can secure the passage of the bill.

Action on the measure today brought the first real rift in the Los Angeles delegation, Leeds, Transue and Speaker Stanton standing for the bill, and Hammon, Hanlon, Cattell and Cogswell against it. Rech and Barndollar were absent. The fight was not very bitter, but it excited the interest of northern members because, for once, the "solid South" had failed to live up to its reputation of voting as a unit on almost every important question.

As originally drawn, the Leeds bill limited the jurisdiction of a justice court to the township in which the court is located. Leeds very frankly stated when he introduced the bill that its purpose was to prevent "blind piggers" and other offenders from being haled before justices outside the township in which violations of the law might occur. Keepers of "blind pigs" and persons cruel to animals have been arrested in outlying townships and promptly convicted in Pasadena when they might have gone free at trials in their own courts.

CITES INJUSTICE.

Owing to fierce objections, Leeds amended the bill so as to include adjoining townships, which would leave a choice of probably four or five courts in which to try cases.

In requesting passage of the amended bill today, Leeds explained his purpose, saying he believed the present law, giving justices jurisdiction throughout the county, is unjust.

"As it is now," he said, "persons arrested in other townships and taken to Pasadena for trial, especially in "blind-pig" cases, know they are certain of conviction. They simply ask the amount of the fine, and pay it, without fighting.

"There have been cases where great injustice has been done. Only recently a man was arrested in Antelope Valley for selling liquor by two sleuths from the District Attorney's office, who had secured evidence by means that were peculiar. The man was arrested and taken 150 miles in an automobile to Pasadena. On arriving there he was released on the order of the District Attorney, who did not approve of the methods adopted in getting the evidence. But the hotel-keeper was put to great inconvenience and was out considerable money.

BITTER OPPOSITION.

"It has been alleged that this bill contains a joker that would nullify the Otis race-track bill, making it possible for violators of that law to be tried in a friendly justice court. Violation of the race-track law is a high-grade misdemeanor, and must be tried in the Superior Court. It is absurd to say that the terms of this bill could affect that law in the slightest degree."

Assemblymen Coggswell and Hammon opposed the Leeds bill bitterly. Coggswell read a long letter from Dist.-Atty. Fredericks, in which he stated that convictions of "blind piggers" and others would be impossible under its provisions. Hammon caused a little ripple by stating that there are many keepers of "blind pigs" among Leeds's constituents, a statement that was denied promptly and emphatically by the man from the Seventieth District.

When the roll was called, Leeds lacked several votes of the forty-one required to pass the bill. Twice there was a call of the House for the purpose of rustling more votes. Then came defeat, with thirty-nine for the bill and twenty-seven against it.

There is a possibility that Leeds will gain the two additional votes, though it is not unlikely that Hammon and the other opponents will succeed in getting a majority to vote against reconsideration.

THE LEGISLATURE.

embraced the opportunity to relieve himself of the spleen with which he always is surcharged.

"They are trying to take advantage of me," he screamed. "They have been working against me in my absence, haven't given me fair play. I protest against consideration of this matter at this time."

VOTE TOMORROW.

And thus he rambled on, whooping at the top of his voice, rattling the windows of the Senate chamber and by noise of mouth endeavored to frighten his opponents into submission.

To stop the racket, McCartney agreed to let the matter go over one day, and consideration of the amendments was set down for tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. There seems no possible way by which further postponement can be obtained, and the result of the long contest should be known before adjournment in the evening.

The vote tomorrow will be on the adoption or rejection of the amendments by Savage to the Leeds bill, which is the measure that probably will be acted on, as it already has passed the Assembly in its original form, calling for a 20 per cent. petition, and a majority vote in each city to carry the consolidation election.

Savage's amendments provide for a 50 per cent. petition, a two-thirds vote, and that, should the first election fail, a second shall not be called in less than four years.

But the old man is not so insistent now for his original amendments. He has been backing down for the last two weeks.

He was reported today to be willing to accept a 20 per cent. petition, a 55 per cent. vote, and practically no restriction as to the time of a second election.

TO HEAR HIMSELF CROW.

In fact, Savage has been on the run so fast that, were he to keep up the gait he soon might be willing to accept a 5 per cent. petition, a 10 per cent. vote and an election every day. Only a proof of what has been contended by many—that his opposition was based only on his desire to swell around as the cock of the walk in Southern California, and to hear himself crow in the Senate chamber.

Speaker Stanton has kept up his work among the Senators. He makes no boasts of what he is accomplishing and has made no threats to Senators with respect to their pet measures in the Assembly. Nevertheless he has swung many doubtful votes into the certain column for a square deal on consolidation. He was aided materially today by President Booth, who is personally acquainted with a number of San Francisco Senators.

Whereas Savage, at the outset, bragged that he had thirty of the forty Senators aligned on his side, it appears tonight that he possibly may hold fifteen of them in line, though it is not improbable that the tables will be turned squarely on him and that he will have ten votes, to thirty for the unamended bill.

Should the amendments be voted down tomorrow afternoon, the bill will go to engrossment and third reading and will be up for final passage on Wednesday or Thursday. The passage of the measure then will be only a matter of form.

Losing tomorrow, however, Savage may move for reconsideration, just to keep up his record as an obstructionist. This being so, his defeat on the following day will be even more humiliating, for it is known that a few of his supporters, pledged to vote with him, will consider their obligation at an end with tomorrow's vote. Then they will fall in with the other side and aid in preventing reconsideration.

MISTAKE IN DENTAL BILL.

CAUGHT IN NICK OF TIME.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Just in the nick of time an error has been discovered in a bill passed by the Assembly Saturday, the effect of which would have been to wipe out the present State dental law, abolishing the State board of examiners and leaving no statute on the books for the government of the dental profession. The mistake was discovered by Dr. A. B. Mayhew of Sacramento, president of the State Board of Dental Examiners, who has taken steps to correct the wrong.

The faulty bill, prepared in Southern California and introduced by Assemblyman Leeds, contained a number of amendments to the present law. It erred in one section, which stated that all provisions of the existing law, except one section, were repealed by the new act. This, it is asserted, would have rendered both the old and the new laws inoperative, wherefore for two years at least California would become the dumping ground for inefficient dentists.

A substitute bill is to be introduced at once and probably will pass. One of the principal changes in the present law transfers trials of violators of the law from justice courts to the Superior Court; another provision calls for a yearly fee of $2 from every practicing dentist; another will bar apprentices from engaging in practice without college experience and an examination.

GUN REGISTRATION.

BILL UP TO GOVERNOR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gov. Gillett is the only one who can prevent the enactment of a law requiring the registration of the names and addresses of all purchasers of revolvers. The bill outlined at length in The Times of Sunday went to the Chief Executive today and probably will receive his signature.

Under the provisions of the bill, every person engaged in selling revolvers at retail must keep a register in which must be recorded the name, age, occupation and address of the purchaser, together with the number of the weapon and other descriptions by which it may be identified. This register shall be open at all times to the inspection of peace officers.

Violation of the law is made a misdemeanor, the penalty being a fine not exceeding $50 or imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding twenty-five days.

GRANT SACRAMENTO'S CLAIM.

BOODLING FIGHT UP AGAIN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sacramento county's old claim for reimbursement for the cost of prosecuting the boodling Senators four years ago bobbed up again in the Assembly today, where it was passed with little opposition. The claim is for a trifle less than $15,000. For the county, the assertion is made that it should not be burdened with the expense of prosecuting State servants.

Senators Bunkers, French, Emmons and Eli Wright were accused of accepting $500 apiece for their votes on a building and loan bill that was before the Legislature. Wright fled from the State; Bunkers was convicted and after serving part of his term in State's prison was paroled; French was acquitted, and Emmons still languishes in prison, spending two years in the Sacramento County Jail awaiting the result of an appeal, then going to the penitentiary. His friends now are endeavoring to obtain his release.

TO GUARD BATHERS.

SACKET BILL ADVANCED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Assembly today passed Sackett's bill requiring keepers of hotels and bath-houses at the seaside to make proper provision for the safety of bathers. The bill calls for one or more lifeboats and at least 200 feet of rope at each place where bathing is permitted. Violation of the proposed law carries penalties ranging from $50 to $200 fine, or imprisonment from thirty days to six months.

FOR WAREHOUSE MEN.

MAKES RECEIPTS UNIFORM.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Leeds bill, providing for uniformity of warehouse receipts and said to be advocated by the principal warehouse men of the State, was passed today by the Assembly. The measure was drafted by the American Warehouse Association and it is stated that the uniform law is in force in sixteen States. Few real changes are made in the present laws regarding loans on warehouse property, it is asserted.

CLOSE CALL FOR COLLECTOR.

COUNTY LINE BILL RUSHED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With only twelve minutes to spare, the Governor today signed a bill defining the boundaries of Sierra and Nevada counties, thus permitting the respective assessors to proceed this year under changed conditions as to the assessment of property in a strip probably one and one-half mile wide along the line that divides the two counties.

The territory long has been in dispute, and for years it has been almost impossible for people along the border to know to which county they owed allegiance and taxes. At nearly every session a bill was introduced in the Legislature by one side or the other providing for a definition of the boundary. The bill passed the Assembly last week, reached the Senate this morning and would have run the usual course there had it not been for the fact that county assessors are obliged under the law to start their yearly work at noon on March 1.

The Senate suspended the constitution, read the bill the second and third times, it was rushed to enrollment and then sped to the Governor, who, with his signature, made it a law just in time to make it effective with respect to this year's assessments.

Under the law, Nevada county gains a few square miles of the disputed territory.

LANGUAGE CURIOSITY.

Sentences Made from the Alphabet Without the Duplication of Any Letters.

Many attempts have been made by ingenious writers to put the whole alphabet in a single sentence without duplication of letters, but their success has been dublous, says the Housekeeper in its February number. Prof. DeMorgan, the famous mathematician, was fond of relaxing his mind over puzzles of this sort. He tried to juggle the alphabet into one sentence, each letter being used but once. After many fruitless attempts, he decided to compromise exactness by using i for j, and further by regarding u and v as the same letter. Then his final accomplishment read as follows:

"I, quartz pyx, who fling muck beds."

At first, the professor says he did not appreciate the full significance of his accomplishment. "At last (he says) I happened to be reading a religious writer, as he thought himself, who threw aspjersions on his opponents thick and threefold. Heydey! came into my head, this fellow flings muck beds, he must be a quartz pyx. And then I remembered that a pyx is a sacred vessel and quartz is a hard stone, as hard as the heart of a religious foecurser. So that the line is the motto of a ferocious sectarian, who turns his religious vessels into muck-holders, for the benefit of those who will not see what he sees." Then the professor published his sentence in "Notes and Queries," and called upon all the readers thereof to outdo him if they could. Many took up the challenge, and some of the sentences offered the magazine published. The following are samples of the best:

"Quiz, my whigs, export fund back."

"Dumpy quiz, whirl back fogs next."

"Get nymph; quiz sad brows; fix luck."

The professor awarded the palm of the competition to this last sentence. "It is good advice," he explains, "to young man, very well expressed, under the circumstances. In more sober English it would be, 'Marry, be cheerful, watch your business.'"

Even when the duplication of letters is permitted, the crowding of the entire alphabet into a single coherent sentence is not an easy task, and such examples as "John T. Brady gave me a black walnut box of quite small size," which is perhaps the one best known, are neither numerous nor important. There is one verse in the Bible which contains all the letters of the alphabet except J; this is the twenty-first verse of the seventh chapter of Ezra, and as the verse contains some forty words the collocation is only noteworthy because it occurred without previous design.

Red Blood Wins.

Clarence E. Hopkins, the Chicago $1000 a week "ad" writer, is reported to have told the Sphinx Club: "There can be no success that is not built up of red blood on the vital force and compelling personality of the man behind it." Some time ago a man in Concord, Mass., without the fame of an "ad" writer and with an income said to have averaged $30 a week, expressed the same idea with a saving of sixteen words, or two agate lines, as follows: "An institution is the lengthened shadow of a man."—[Exchange.

"There's a Reason"

LAND

The best investment in this Country today is good undeveloped land in California. The population of this State is increasing so rapidly that land values are bound to increase immensely, and, in fact, are now increasing very rapidly. If you are not familiar with this fact go out into any farming district in the State, where the land has been improved; and settled up, ask the present value of the land, then ask what the same land could have been bought for ten years ago. The present value will be from $100.00 to $1000.00 per acre, according to location and improvements. The answer to the second question will probably be that a few years ago it could have been bought for from $15.00 to $50.00 per acre.

There is absolutely no risk in these investments, the production of the land, from hay and grain crops, will pay big interest to the owner, and they increase rapidly in value as the district develops and improves.

A tract of 962 acres less than fifty miles from Los Angeles, in a beautiful valley, elevation 1100 feet, one and one-half miles from a railroad station, to be sold as follows: 2 160-acre pieces at $40.00 per acre; 1 240-acre piece at $30.00 per acre; and 1 482-acre piece at $15.00 per acre. These are all great bargains and will make you big money.

320 acres, improved, in Kern County, on main line of Santa Fe, half a mile from Station, deep, rich sediment soil, very level, all fenced, 7-room house, bunk houses, large barn, well, small peach orchard, etc. Price $45.00 per acre. Above is photograph of house.

160 acres unimproved, near above, at $30.00 per acre. Also 80 acres at $35.00.

Lay Campaign Plans.

A campaign meeting of the committee of one hundred which is in charge of the business men's organization will be held at Levy's café Friday evening at 6 o'clock. Plans for the work of the organization, which is opposed to the recall principle, will be made.

Northern Visitors Scatter.

A good many members of the Seattle and Tacoma excursion went to San Diego yesterday for a brief trip. The visitors are beginning to scatter, and most of them will return home in the next few days. Some, however, will remain for several weeks.

Daylight Burglaries.

Two daylight burglaries were reported to the East Side Police Station yesterday. While the family was absent from the home of H. R. Fuhrman, No. 427 South Cummings street, thieves entered through a window and took jewelry worth $28. The home of Mrs. L. Haskins, No. 449 East Avenue 28, was also entered through a window during the afternoon, but nothing was stolen.

A Racy Mock Trial.

An unusual event in the form of a mock trial is to be held in Simpson Auditorium next Monday evening by the young men of the Triangle Club of the Y.M.C.A., the proceeds to be used in adding needed furnishings to their clubroom. Judge Wilbur will preside at the trial, when Arthur Letts, president of the association, will be arraigned on a mock charge of chicken stealing, A. B. Cass appearing as the complaining witness. Deputy Dist.-Atty. McComas will appear as the prosecuting attorney, and George P. Adams for the defense. Many well-known business men and women will be summoned as witnesses and jurymen. General admission tickets are now on sale and the reserved seat sale will begin tomorrow.

FOXHALL KEENE'S SELECTION.

Miss Muriel of Tranby Croft Said to Be Probable Successor to Mrs. Keene.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Society has been lately coupling the names of Foxhall Keene and Miss Muriel Wilson. Indeed, it is current gossip that as soon as he is divorced from the present Mrs. Keene they will be married.

Miss Wilson, who is a daughter of the famous owner of Tranby Croft, where the noted accarat scandal occurred, is one of the most beautiful and accomplished women in British society. The infatuation seems to have been instantaneous and mutual. At present both are at the Riviera.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

SOURCES FOR BIGGER OUTPUT.

Palmer Well at Santa Maria Added Much.

Wolfskill Gusher, Too, Is a Large Factor.

January Four Thousand Was Small Estimate.

Relative to the criticism by some of the statements as to the existing production of oil as compared with consumption, it may be said positively that the output was enhanced fully 4000 barrels a day in January over December. This is very plain to one who will study the actual field conditions. The great Palmer well began production in the last week of December. It is flowing as much as 4000 barrels a day and more. It added very little to December's average, but it has enormously increased that of January. The great flowing well on the Wolfskill ranch in the Sherman field added about 900 barrels daily to the output of the last ten days or two weeks of the month. A number of minor wells came in at Kern River, Coalinga and elsewhere.

During February there was no decline, but a still further increase, smaller probably than January's, but still a good increase. The Wolfskill and Palmer wells have shown no drop and the Associated added two good wells at McKittrick and one at Coalinga. The last advices were that these were good for 2500 barrels in the aggregate. Such wells as the Lonoak in the Monterey district or other isolated strikes do not figure in any way in this production. Just how these wells have kept up is not known, but they only came in about the middle of the month.

March will show a still further increase and a fairly good one, too, unless all signs fail. The Santa Fé will hardly get very much out of Midway before April but its shipments will add something. The Union as well as the Associated will likely be taking oil from the Palmer gusher and then this will be worked to its full limit, thus adding a few barrels. It is thought that this is good for 2000 or so more. A number of Kern River wells are due to come in.

Now where has the new consumption come from for all this? Last year the output was close to 46,500,000 barrels. Based upon the output of December it would have been greater, 51,830,000. Consumption grew by the opening of new markets late in 1907 and early in 1908, and when the independent agencies shut down there was actual shortage for a time and storage was drawn upon heavily. For the last five or six months there has been no notable increase in the market. Some has come but not in proportion to the production brought in by the new wells.

That big producers realize the condition is shown by the action of the California Oil Fields, Limited, at Coalinga, that laid off several crews the first of the year. It is known that the Limited's output is now 2500 to 3000 a day greater than it was three months ago. Of course, it has a market for its high gravity product that few others have.

Quite certain it is that 1909 will be a great year for the light petroleum producer in California. His goods have a market that the others do not touch. This means the 25 to 33 gravities. The Standard wants this and while others slack work it is rushing operations to the limit. Eleven strings are running on its Coalinga land.

During January, Coalinga produced 1,067,950 barrels. In August it yielded 983,700. The increase in five months is 84,250 or 2709 barrels a day in round numbers. There were 414 producing wells and 114 drilling at midnight, January 31.

Inspection Bill Dead.

C. A. Blackmar, city oil inspector, has returned from Sacramento, where he went to fight the Flavelle oil inspection bill, and he says he thinks all chance of its passing is now gone. It required hard work to kill it, but the oil men of the entire State were stirred as never before at the ruin that threatened them. The bill will be watched until adjournment by the representatives from the oil districts.

New Midway Concern.

The Alvarado Oil Company, a close corporation, has purchased a complete standard rigging and will start drilling on 15-32-23 in the Midway field just as soon as the derrick can be erected and rig installed.

The company has leased eighty acres from the Jade Oil Company and work will be in charge of Tom Jennings. Mr. Jennings has been engaged in drilling wells in California for the past eighteen years. He has been in Los Angeles several days buying an outfit. L. H. Mitchell, Dr. W. McCullough and W. Ballard are interested in the new company which will put its own money into the work.

CELEBRATE REPRIEVE.

The Young Men's Forum, an organization of colored men, celebrated with a banquet last evening at Dawson's café the reprieve by Gov. Gillett of the death sentence against Edward Silver to life imprisonment. There were 120 covers laid, and Attorneys John D. Pitts and Charles F. Darden, both of whom made addresses, were the guests of honor. T. A. Cole was toastmaster, and others who spoke were J. L. Edmunds, Col. Allen Allensworth, Rev. G. McCoy, Dr. Hugh Cummings and others.

LION IMPERILS THE POPE.

Vatican Beast Escapes from Cage and Is Captured at Entrance to Shrine.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROME, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An authoritative story from the Vatican today says that while the Pope was at prayer in the Lourdes shrine Friday, a lion which had escaped from its cage in the Vatican approached the entrance to the shrine, and was prevented from entering by guards, who captured the beast after preparing to shoot it with rifles.

When the Pope was told of the danger that confronted him, he laughed and said:

"Even the beasts living in the Vatican must have absorbed some of its atmosphere and longed for freedom. But I don't believe they would have eaten meat on the first Friday in Lent."

The Pope, who has been suffering from a cold, is much better today. He is still somewhat hoarse, and while he is not obliged to remain in bed, his physicians insist that he shall not yet resume his audiences.

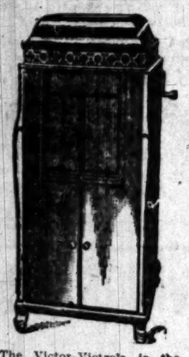
VICTOR - VICTROLA

The General Shortage Continues But We Are Able to Meet All Demands.



Realizing the enormous demand for Victor-Victrolas, and the apparent inability of the Victor Company to supply it, we early ordered a very large shipment of these goods. As a result we are the only house able to supply them at the present time. If you have any idea of purchasing a Victrola, the Victor Co.'s finest product, we advise immediate action, as our large stock cannot last long under the present heavy demand.

We are notified that no more of the $250 Victrolas (Louis XV, gold mounted) will be made. Of these we have a few—after they are gone it will be impossible to obtain more at any price. Easy terms if desired.

The Victor-Victrola is the Victor Talking Machine in its most artistic form. The horn is eliminated and all mechanism hidden from view. The music comes through the small folding doors, which, by opening or closing regulates the volume. Priced at $200 upwards. Terms.

Victor Double-Face Records

The Victor Co. has issued several hundred double-face records (that is, records on both sides of the disc.) The series is being added to each month with selections by the most popular singers and players. Prices are: 10-inch, 75c; 12-inch, $1. Single face records are priced at 60c for the 10-inch size and $1 for the 12-inch. Ample stock at this store.

HIS GREATEST RACE RUN, "LUCKY" LOSES.

End Comes to Baldwin in Mansion at Santa Anita After Critical Sickness of Nearly a Month, and Hard Fight Against Overwhelming Odds—Graphic Account of Turfman's Picturesque Career.

SURROUNDED by his immediate family, E. J. Baldwin, known throughout the world as "Lucky," died at his home on the Santa Anita ranch, at 6:45 o'clock yesterday morning. Just as the famous millionaire turfman passed away, the watch held by Dr. John W. Trueworthy, the physician who had helped him fight off the grim destroyer for so many weeks, came to a full stop.

The room had been so quiet that every one noted the ceasing of the watch's ticking, and as they looked inquiringly at the physician, he inclined his head toward the deathbed, and then dropped the lifeless wrist, which he had been holding for nearly an hour. Dr. Trueworthy explained this phenomenon afterward by saying that he had forgotten to wind his watch the night before, but he was very much mystified as to why it should have stopped at the exact instant that he felt Baldwin's last heartbeat.

The end had been momentarily expected for eighteen hours, and the entire family spent a sleepless night. Baldwin was unconscious all night, and shortly after daylight it was whispered about that the end had come.

Gathered around the deathbed were those who had been nearest to him during the last twenty years of his life. Anita McClaughry, Baldwin's favorite daughter, knelt at the foot, while Dr. Trueworthy stood near the head. Standing in a semi-circle around the room were Mrs. E. J. Baldwin, nee Bennett; Clara Stocker, the eldest daughter; A. H. Unruh, Baldwin's business manager and first brother-in-law; Miss E. Eleanor Blackburn, and Miss Lizzie Husky, nurses. Near the door were J. A. McClaughry, H. C. Cross, the artist, who has painted so many pictures for Baldwin; William Tucker, foreman of Santa Anita ranch, and Mr. and Mrs. Rush, the latter Baldwin's only niece, from Puente, who arrived at the ranch just in time to see Baldwin alive.

Any disagreement or unfriendliness that may have existed between the relatives before Baldwin's death was forgotten yesterday, and all seemed to be on very good terms.

The cause of death, according to Dr. Trueworthy, was arterio sclerosis, complicated with cerebral and cardiac affections. This means a thickening and hardening of the arteries, accompanied by heart and mental complications.

Arrangements for the funeral have been made with Cunningham & O'Connor. The body will be embalmed, and will lie in state in the "Cottage" on Santa Anita ranch today. There is a chance that it may be kept there two days, otherwise it will be taken to San Francisco tonight on a special train, and buried by the side of Baldwin's first wife.

Racing will be suspended at Santa Anita today in honor of the memory of Baldwin, who not only built this track, but has owned some of the most famous race roses in the world.

THE LAST SICKNESS.

Baldwin was taken seriously sick on the afternoon of February 2. He had a sinking spell the next morning which nearly resulted in his death at that time, but he rallied, and from that time forward made a gallant fight.

The real beginning of his last illness dates back to the first of the year, when he had a severe attack of influenza. This left his nervous system in a weakened condition, and he was unable to ward off a chronic asthmatic ailment, which was accompanied by heart complications, and Baldwin failed rapidly.

He was determined to get over this attack without the aid of his physician, and Dr. Trueworthy was not called until the morning after. Then began the long struggle for life.

Baldwin had a sinking spell on an average of every other day, but always responded well to treatment. He realized that his condition was serious, but was determined that he would not die.

Speaking of Baldwin's physical condition prior to his death, Dr. Trueworthy said:

"He is like an old, worn-out clock. He keeps going, but about everything is just ready to stop. His heart reminds me of an old pump, only the pump might be repaired, while the heart must be left alone. The valves are worn out, and pretty soon it is going to stop pumping altogether. His asthmatic ailment is not very serious in itself, but the faulty heart makes it very dangerous."

When Baldwin became sick Mrs. Baldwin was in Sacramento on business, and she did not know of "Lucky's" distress until she returned, two days later. Then she hurried to his bedside. She was not a constant attendant, owing to friction between her and other members of the family present, but she hurried out to the ranch from her home in the Hotel Alexandria every time his condition was reported worse.

Several times, when Baldwin's condition became very critical, Dr. Trueworthy called Dr. W. M. Lewis in consultation. Both physicians marveled at the constitution of the man, as he seemed at the point of death many times before the end finally came.

ESTATE TWENTY MILLIONS.

Lucky Baldwin's estate is worth $20,000,000, according to a statement made yesterday by his business manager, A. H. Unruh. This is the largest estate ever probated in Southern California.

Knowing that there would be an attempt to break any will that he might make, Baldwin had his attorney, Bradner W. Lee, draw a document that would be sure to meet every possible legal requirement. This was executed several months ago, while the old man's mind was still perfectly clear, and the most painstaking care was taken.

When seen yesterday, Attorney Lee declined to discuss the contents of the will, but stated that it would be filed some time today. He said, however, that the document provides for an equitable division of all the property.

From one who has seen the will it is learned that it allows Mrs. Baldwin more of the estate than would be hers under a court division, and provides for all of the legal heirs.

ANOTHER MYSTERY.

Richard Coe Alden of Brooklyn, a friend of Baldwin during his youth, sent the following telegram to Rev. Dr. Charles Edward Locke, pastor of the First Methodist Church: "Go pray with dying Lucky Baldwin. Reveal Christ's wondrous love. Tenderest sympathies to Clara, Jennie and Gus." This message arrived too late, for "Lucky" was too far gone to receive Dr. Locke, and not in a condition to be asked questions concerning his youth. Thus a mystery had developed, for no one here can remember any member of the Baldwin family by the name of Jennie or Gus.

There is a blanket mortgage against the Baldwin estate for about $1,500,000, held by the Hibernia Savings Bank of San Francisco.

LIKE FICTION.

"LUCKY'S" LIFE A FAIRY TALE.

ROVING PIONEER BUILDS UP A RICH PRINCIPALITY.

Story of How Traveling Photographer Came West in an Ox Cart, Fought Indians and Sold Notions. Then Everything He Touched Seemed to Turn to Gold.

The story of E. J. Baldwin's life, in detail, would come as near as that of any other man, not a politician, to being a study of the growth of California, from the days of its admission to the Union to the present. Baldwin, from the time of his arrival in San Francisco, nearly fifty years ago, kept pace with the progress of business in the land of gold. An energetic business man, a shrewd speculator and yet a famous sport, he never let dissipation stand in his way. He was not a smoker, and he did not drink to excess.

His sporting proclivities led him to deal with fast horses, but he made money out of them. His love of gambling he curbed by tact and insight. Every deal he had a finger in seemed to turn to gold, and this gave him the cognomen of "Lucky," which stuck to him throughout his career. He was lucky in placing investments and lucky in getting out of scrapes. Friends who failed on all sides of him would hear of how he made money out of their ruins, or escaped the net that dragged them down. "Lucky" Baldwin he soon became known from one end of California to the other.

Baldwin was born on a farm about six miles outside of Hamilton, Ill., and was reared in Indiana. He acquired a common-school education, but on account of his roving disposition he learned no trade. During his early youth he worked as a traveling huckster. He also picked up photography by the old daguerrotype process. He married in Indiana, and then went to Racine, Wis., where he engaged in the grocery business.

ACROSS THE PLAINS.

There are many conflicting tales about Baldwin's early life, but these details are related from the reminiscences of Maj. D. A. Shaw, who commanded the expedition with which "Lucky" crossed the plains in 1850. Maj. Shaw and Baldwin were constant friends, and the former says that he knows the following account of the trip West to be correct:

Four years after the gold excitement began, Baldwin organized a party and started, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Clara, then 5 years old. There were three wagons in the party, the one belonging to Baldwin being loaded with liquors, cigars and groceries.

At Des Moines, Baldwin's party met that commanded by Maj. Shaw, and they proceeded together to Council Bluffs, the last village before the long trip across the Rocky Mountains.

A company of thirty wagons and sixty men was organized there. Maj. Shaw was elected captain, he being the only man who had made the trip before.

At that time the Mormons reigned supreme in Utah, where they had settled in 1847. As he had planned, Baldwin sold all his stock of goods save what he needed for his party, to the Mormons at fabulous prices. He had brought with him only what he knew the settlers needed.

In Utah, the party divided into three sections, because it was a dry year and feed was scarce, and each proceeded to California by a different route. Eighteen persons were in Baldwin's party, with four wagons and thirty-two horses.

After selling to the Mormons, the party moved on, and on June 23, 1853, they discovered, as they believed, the reason the Mormons had been so willing to pay ridiculous prices for the goods. On this date, as the four schooners were passing through the Wasatch Mountains, they were attacked by a band of Ute Indians. It was right alongside the Humboldt River, not far from where the famous

ROBBER BAND ALL IN TANKS.

So Think the Police About Youthful Trio.

Juvenile Highwaymen Tell About Operations.

Make Crooked Plans Behind Prison Walls.

With the arrest of Clyde R. Gribble, Charles Savoy and Frank Williams on charges of highway robbery, the police believe that all the members of the notorious "tenderloin" gang are now in custody.

According to their confessions these young men have been preying on Japanese and Mexicans who frequented the streets of the shadowy section.

At night they sneaked about the district looking for easy victims while in the daytime they entered houses in the course of construction and stole tools.

Their operations in Los Angeles, covering a period of more than two months, netted them but little, because of the fact that they were unable to sell much of their plunder.

They made all their plans behind the prison walls. The eldest is 20 years of age, while the other two are 19 years. They were paroled from the State school at Ione a short time ago and even then had made arrangements to carry on highway robberies.

Williams, the third member of the gang, is a negro. He was not allowed to handle any of the money and was not taken into the confidence of the other members. He was a utility man and acted as lookout while his partners took charge of the more dangerous work of sticking up the victim.

Their plans had been made along the lines of the Garwood gang but they learned early that Japanese offered the best source of easy money. They acted accordingly.

Before they had been out of Ione a week they had secured cheap rooms in Los Angeles boarding-houses. They made a pretense of trying to get work and then settled down to completing their plans for robbery.

The police have no idea how many crimes the men committed. They have confessed to three highway robberies and a great number of tool thefts, but these confessions were obtained only after severe sweating and, unless they admit other crimes, the officers will probably never know of how many they have been guilty.

The robbery of a Japanese at Fourth and Wall streets on the night of February 16 netted but a small sum. The little yellow man was scared half out of his wits when one of the men flashed a revolver in his face. They secured a nickel-plated watch and 20 cents from him.

On North Vine street, later in the evening, they held-up another Japanese and secured a gold watch and 25 cents.

The third robbery occurred on the night of February 20. Finding that there were many Japanese on North Vine street the highwaymen chose a convenient spot and waited. Experience had taught them to select well dressed orientals and when a likely looking victim appeared he was ordered to put up his hands. He was robbed of $20.

According to the confession of the men, Gribble always held the gun, Savoy searched the victims, and Williams took a position a short distance away and acted as lookout.

After several reports had been received at the police station, Detectives Hosick, Zeigler, Ingram and Carroll began to watch the trio and the men were arrested, one at a time, at their lodging-houses.

WANTS TO BE SHOWN.

Doubting Minister at a Meeting Calls Upon Divine Healing Advocates to Demonstrate.

At the meeting of the Christian ministers yesterday there was an animated discussion of divine healing. The subject was brought up by an address by Rev. S. T. Martin of Santa Barbara, who declared that the church is not living up to its privileges in that respect. Said the speaker:

"The doctrine of divine healing is part of the apostolic message; healing of the body must be restored to its rightful place, and when it is the church will thrill again with its old-time sense of power. In the deluge of drugs that has swept over the world, hardly more have been saved than in the ancient deluge."

In the discussion that followed, Rev. W. H. Martin of Whittier wanted a "demonstration." He called upon those who advocate divine healing to cure the sick and the cripples, who were at that moment sitting in the congregation. He said that "Emmanuelism" is better than the others, but not the best.

THREE SCHEDULED.

Basketball Will Be the Feature Tonight at the Y.M.C.A. Gymnasium.

Three basketball games are scheduled to be played at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium tonight, the feature contest being between the Orange Y.M.C.A. five and the Los Angeles association team. The winner of the game will represent Southern California in the Y.M.C.A. State championships to be held in San Francisco Saturday night, and the contest promises to be one of the best exhibitions ever played on a local court.

The Orange aggregation has defeated the representative teams of the southern counties and has a record of some very creditable victories. The Los Angeles five has taken all the games in the try-out series, and the elimination schedule has at last narrowed down to the final contest with the Orange team. The line-up of the local team will be as follows: Potter and Elkeles, forwards; Foster, center; Golding and Torrey, guards; Kaplan, defense.

Two regular games in the Southern California League series will be played in addition, between the Spartans and the Pasadena Cubs, and between the Pirates and the Pasadena Y.M.C.A. The first game will begin at 8:15 o'clock.

The local association is planning to send the Phi Delta team north to contest in the limited class for teams not averaging over 135 pounds.

PAINTERS IN LUCK.

Break of Scaffold Causes Them to Drop Twenty-five Feet But With Slight Injuries.

By a fall of more than twenty-five feet from a scaffold on which they were working yesterday afternoon, R. A. Ferrell and W. A. Faust, painters, sustained but slight injuries.

The men were painting a building at No. 273 South Union avenue. The scaffold on which they were working had been carefully tested, and was considered safe. Without the slightest warning it broke, dropping the men.

By rare luck they alighted on their feet. Ferrell, who lives at No. 1027 Albany street, sustained a fracture of the right ankle.

Faust was jolted and bruised, but suffered no broken bones. They were treated at the Receiving Hospital and later sent to their homes.

While painting a residence under construction at No. 2703 Kenwood avenue, late yesterday afternoon, H. S. Briggs, residing at First and San Pedro streets, fell twenty-five feet from a ladder to the ground, but sustained only slight bruises to his back. He was treated at the Receiving Hospital.

DEATH'S STUMBLE.

RACING THROW KILLS JOCKEY.

TWO OTHERS ALSO HURT ON THE SANTA ANITA TRACK.

Three Horses in Spill Near Paddock Gate—One of Riders Dies by Concussion of Brain—Sprained Back and Broken Leg Among Injuries Received by His Companions.

Jockey B. Wood died at Monrovia last evening at 5:30 o'clock as the result of concussion of the brain sustained in a bad spill at the Santa Anita races in the second event in which three horses fell in a heap. Jockey Schlessinger's back was sprained, his chest crushed and he may be internally injured. Jockey McCarthy's leg was broken just above the ankle, and he was otherwise bruised.

The accident occurred near the paddock gate. Angerona stumbled to her knees, throwing McCarthy. Tom Lynch, on which rode Woods, fell over the other horse. Chief Kee, with Schlessinger up, piled over the others, with the jockeys in the middle of the heap.

Woods, unconscious, was removed to the home of P. T. Chinn in Monrovia, whither Schlessinger also was taken, and surgeons went to work to save the lives of the boys. It is expected that Schlessinger will recover without serious complications.

The body of Woods was taken to Reynolds & Rennaker's undertaking establishment in Monrovia where an inquest will be held at 11 o'clock this morning, after which the casket will be shipped to the home of the boy's relatives in Kentucky.

Woods was considered a good jockey and was well liked by racetrack frequenters. He and Schlessinger rode for the stable of P. T. Chinn which owned the two horses the boys mounted yesterday. Tom Lynch broke a leg in the accident and had to be killed. McCarthy rode for Sam Hildreth.

The inquest is expected to be a formal affair and it is understood that no charges will be brought against the track officials or the stable owners. It is stated that the accident was the result of a jam in which the horses crowded one another. The accident is the worst which ever happened at Santa Anita, and with "Lucky" Baldwin's death has cast a gloom over the track. No races will be held today and a very ordinary card, if any, is expected to be run off Wednesday.

KID DETECTIVE'S WRONG ALARM.

TRIES FOR POLICE AND GETS FIRE ENGINES.

Silvery-Haired Old Woman, Arrested for Grabbing Purse from Baby Carriage, Indirect Cause of Much Excitement on South Broadway—Her Identity a Mystery.

The arrest of a silvery-haired woman on the charge of purse snatching at Fifth street and Broadway, about 6 o'clock last evening, followed in a few minutes by the clang of fire engine bells, the shriek of steamer whistles as they drew up to the corner, filling the street with dense, heavy smoke, and giving the impression of a huge conflagration, served as a magnet for a thousand or more people, who quickly thronged the cross streets, saw the fire apparatus wheel and depart, and then turned and looked at each other and wondered what it was all about.

For half an hour even the police and firemen were puzzled. But they had overlooked a little street urchin, who danced with glee in the very center of the mass at the excitement he caused. When the police finally made a search for him he had disappeared.

The youngster had witnessed the silver-haired woman snatch a purse from the baby carriage of Mrs. H. T. McGinnis as that woman was looking into a shop window, and start down the street with her booty.

Uttering a shrill "Stop thief" to warn Mr. and Mrs. McGinnis of the theft, the little urchin deemed it his next duty to summon the police, and rushed to what he thought was a police call box. Pulling the lever with a jerk, he awaited results. This arrived shortly in the nature of several companies of fire apparatus.

In the meantime, Mr. McGinnis had followed and detained the aged purse snatcher, who had attempted to dispose of the purse by dropping it to the sidewalk. When Officer Neighbors arrived McGinnis gave the woman into the patrolman's custody, and she was hurried to Central Station before the hundreds attracted by the fire wagons arrived.

At the Police Station last night the woman refused to give her name or address or discuss the theft of the purse, contenting herself with telling the police officials of the revenge she would visit on them. She is about 70 years old. Up to midnight the detectives had been unable to establish her identity.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The City Auditor is likely to advocate a reduction in the rate for electric lighting from 9 to 5 cents per kilowatt hour at hearings of public utilities which begin tomorrow.

William Rhodes Hervey and George B. Davis, the new Superior Court judges, qualified yesterday, and entered at once upon the discharge of their judicial duties.

Judge Bordwell heard the petition for the alternative mandate to compel the City Clerk to place the name of Fred C. Wheeler, socialist candidate, for Mayor, on the official ballot. A decision is expected today.

Judge Wilbur acquitted Carl Schultze, charged with practicing medicine without a certificate. Schultze had been found guilty by a jury in the Police Court, and fined $100.

AT THE CITY HALL.

ANNUAL FIGHT OVER RATES.

COUNCIL SESSIONS WITH PUBLIC UTILITY COMPANIES.

Preparations Made to Ask for an Increase in Telephone Prices—Auditor to Advocate a Decrease in Lighting Charges — Three-Year Agreement Likely to Stand.

Continuous sessions on the question of public utility rates, so far as the Council has jurisdiction to regulate them, will begin tomorrow. At this time City Auditor Mushet is expected to make his report, in conjunction with the Finance Committee, on the annual statements filed in January by the nine utility companies coming under the provisions of the ordinance.

The Auditor will begin, probably, by submitting his reports on the telephone companies. It is understood that each of the companies is prepared to ask an increase in rates, and for this purpose Oscar Lawler, United States District Attorney, is to represent the Sunset company, and W. E. Dunn the Home company. The appearances indicate much the same programme as last year, and the indications, also, are that the Council is not disposed to grant either request.

The Auditor's report on the electric-light companies is expected to advocate a reduction in the price per kilowatt hour. The present price is 9 cents, and the Auditor believes 5 cents is ample. The companies have not furnished the Auditor statistics that he deems proper under the ordinance, and the companies decline to furnish them or to permit an inspection of their books. Recently when the companies asked a conference with the Council Committee to discuss the Auditor's demands supplementary statements were filed, but these only added the values of the franchise-to-be and the franchise-to-do to the original statements, and the Auditor believes this was done to have these large items figure in the dividend proportion which would almost remove the argumentative basis for a decrease in public rates.

But it is expected that no reduction of light rates will be made, as the Council and the companies agreed to the present rate for five years, and the refusal of the light companies to deal with the Auditor is largely based on this "gentleman's agreement," as it is termed at the City Hall.

It may be two weeks before the utility hearings are over.

STILL AFTER MULES.

The Board of Public Works has asked permission of the Council to send John F. Snowden and Dr. Fentmore, a veterinary surgeon, to Kansas City and St. Louis to purchase mules at the markets in those cities. The board's effort to buy 400 mules by competition was a failure, and it is believed all that may be needed can be purchased at either city at a saving.

MADE HIM REMOVE BOOTS.

Charles Perry, colored, has preferred charges of unnecessarily molesting him against Detective George Donaghy. He alleges that Donaghy stopped him in the street, made him take his boots off, search them and then abused him. The charges were referred to Chief Broadhead for investigation by the Police Commission yesterday. The commission also accepted the resignation of H. J. Kuykendall, a probation patrolman, appointed last month.

CLINGS TO THESE PARTS.

Pontiac, Mich., Man Resists Proceedings for His Return to State by the Lakes.

George W. Terry of Pontiac, Mich., who is charged with concealing property belonging to his creditors, was given an examination before United States Commissioner Van Dyke, yesterday, but no ruling as to extradition was made. The evidence indicated that Terry collected insurance on merchandise belonging to him and two days later left Michigan for this State. He was in Oakland for awhile and later went to Riverside, where he was arrested by a Deputy United States Marshal.

His creditors have petitioned Terry into bankruptcy and aver that he owes them about $6000, the amount he collected from insurance companies. He is resisting return to Michigan on technical points. If the commissioner orders Terry returned to the Federal Court in Michigan to stand trial, the defendant can still delay matters by appeal to the District Court.

FACE MURDER CHARGES.

Two Negroes, Both Accused of Wife Slaughter, Are Taken Into Court.

Facing murder charges, Henry Render and Thomas Maston, negroes, were taken into Police Court yesterday morning, one for arraignment and the other for preliminary examination.

Both are charged with wife murder. The complaint against Render alleges that, in a fit of jealousy because of attentions paid to his wife by another man, he shot her in the face and abdomen, last Wednesday. He then made a mild attempt at committing suicide by slashing his throat with a pocket knife. Surgeon Wright of the Receiving Hospital stitched the wound so that Render, his throat swathed in bandages, was able to appear for arraignment. Preliminary examination was set for March 3 and he was not allowed bail.

Maston was unconcerned about his preliminary examination. He is charged with having murdered his wife by slashing her throat with a razor. After the tragedy he escaped, but was captured the following day. He was held without bail for trial in the Superior Court.

ATTORNEYS ADMITTED.

Robert Dollard, Myron W. Tilden, James Doughty and M. A. Fleming were admitted to practice in this State yesterday, in the Second District Court of Appeal.

THE ARMY OF "REFORM"

(From last evening's Record.)

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

NOW POSSESSES TWELVE JUDGES.

COUNTY WELL EQUIPPED WITH ALL BUT SPACE.

Judge Moss Begins Work, But Attorneys Have to Stand or Sit on the Floor and Hang Their Feet Over—Hervey and Davis Qualify, But Are Without Courtrooms.

The county of Los Angeles is now officially "seized and possessed" of twelve Superior judges. William Rhodes Hervey and George R. Davis, qualified before C. G. Keyes, County Clerk, yesterday afternoon. The third of the new appointees, Judge Leon Moss, began operations in the old Superior courtroom, on the fifth floor of the Bullard Block, at 10:45. There was some misunderstanding in regard to the use of the room, and when the new judge ascended the "woolsack" there were no chairs for the attorneys. Until they could be secured at the afternoon session of the court, it was necessary for the members of the bar to accommodate themselves as well as they could.

The temporary officers to assist Judge Moss in the administration of justice were R. M. Fulaway, bailiff; Leo Longley, stenographer; O. L. Livesey, clerk. The permanent appointments will not be made until the bill pending in the Assembly at Sacramento, providing for the pay of such attachés, is a law.

The first case heard by Judge Moss was for the foreclosure of a chattel mortgage—E. J. Brent against Lina Troendley—which was heard and submitted. The case of the International Savings and Exchange Bank against Fox, was partly heard, and will be resumed Thursday.

Judges Hervey and Davis held a consultation with Presiding Judge James, in regard to when they should begin to exercise their judicial functions, but no definite conclusion was reached. It is understood that an effort will be made to secure the second room of the Supreme Court in the Bullard Block, and in that case, with one of the judges occupying the present grand-jury room, it will not be necessary to await until May for the completion of the new building at the County Jail for the occupancy of the new judges, before holding court.

INSANITY CASES.

NEW ORDER OF COURT.

Under a new arrangement made by the Superior Judges, the presiding judge will hereafter hear all of the insanity cases, and Judge James began work yesterday under the order. Hereafter with this work taken from Judge Rives, the latter will have sufficient time to hear all probate matters, including those in which juries will be used. After May, Judge Wilbur will have control of the insanity cases.

Two unfortunates were ordered sent to the State Hospital at Patton, yesterday, Adelaide Crosby and Palestine Lhez. One of the sad features of the day's hearings was the appearance of two women, charged with insanity, with children in their arms, the eldest not exceeding two years old. The women were ordered sent to the Detention Home for futher observation.

FAVOR STEAMER LINE.

SUPERVISORS RETURN TAXES.

The Board of Supervisors yesterday adopted a resolution favoring the passage by Congress of the bill introduced by the Congressman from the Seventh District, for the establishment by the United States government of a line of ten steamers, to run up the Pacific Coast, stopping at all the principal ports, including San Pedro, and to be operated in connection with the Panama Railroad and its line of steamers running up the Atlantic Coast from Colon.

The resolution pledges the Congressman every support to secure the passage of the bill, and asks the Senators and Representatives from the Pacific Coast, and especially those from California, to use their influence and votes to the same end. The Assembly is asked to adopt resolutions indorsing the bill, and all public and legislative bodies, and all civic and commercial bodies of this Coast, especially of the States of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and Nevada, and the Territories of Arizona and New Mexico, are requested to pass resolutions favoring the bill.

The board voted to pay to the C. Ganahl Lumber Company $1908.13, and to the Kern River Company $2584.70, representing judgments obtained against the county in the Superior Court on suits for the return of taxes. In the case of the lumber company the assessment was alleged to be excessive on the stock on hand, and in the Kern River Company, the tax was on a franchise said to be of no value.

The employment of the following men was certified to the board by the Highway Commission: H. M. Thomas, Monrovia, assistant engineer, at $150 per month; D. W. Short and Oliver R. Phillips, rodmen; George W. Jones, level man; Edgar T. Wheeler, to prepare plans for a bridge over the Los Angeles River, on the Long Beach boulevard.

The case of the Union Hollywood Water Company will be up for the action of the board today. Hartley Shaw, chief deputy district attorney, advised the board yesterday that in considering the value of the company's plant, in order to fix its rates, the board must take the property donated to the company as part of the valuation of such plant.

An appeal was made to the board for financial aid in the conduct of the Pisgah Home, in behalf of Dr. F. E. Yoakum. It was claimed that the home was feeding daily more than 250 people that otherwise would be a charge on the county.

The proposed issue of bonds for the Annandale school district was authorized. The bond issue will amount to $14,000, and they will be offered to the highest bidder on the 22d inst.

Thirteen bids were received for the construction of the Mission-street bridge. The three lowest tenders were: George Young, $1795; Union Iron Works, $1846; Mercereau Bridge and Construction Company, $1887.

SOCIALIST CANDIDATE.

CASE UNDER ADVISEMENT.

Judge Bordwell yesterday heard the petition for a writ of mandate to compel City Clerk Lelande to place the name of Fred C. Wheeler, Socialist candidate for recall Mayor, upon the official ballot to be voted March 26, and took the matter under advisement. A decision is expected today. Deputy City Attorney Emmett H. Wilson appeared in behalf of the City Clerk, and A. R. Holston and Clarence Meilly represented Wheeler and the Socialist party.

The attorney in behalf of the city contended that under the present law no name other than that of the Mayor can be put on the ballot, except by petition; that no party as such can hold a convention and select nominees to go on the ballot, as there is not sufficient time from the filing of the recall petition for the holding of a primary election and the holding of a convention to nominate a candidate.

Attorneys for Wheeler claimed that the election could be invalidated if the clerk should fail to give their candidate a place on the ticket. They pointed out that under the State primary law no party could nominate by convention candidates for a special election of this kind. This was admitted by the other side, who argued that, in spite of that fact, the primary election law is applicable in this case, under the city's special charter.

The court spent some time securing the idea of the attorneys as to the operation of the primary election law, and showed an inclination to believe that any regular party should have an opportunity to nominate a candidate. The day was spent in the argument, with the interrogatories of the court, but the whole proceeding revolved around the proposition whether under the present charter and primary law it was possible to place the name of a candidate upon the ticket by other means than by petition.

At the afternoon session the point was raised by Wheeler's attorneys that the office of City Clerk is purely ministerial, and that the defendant had no right to raise any objections to the filing of the certificate setting forth Wheeler's nomination by the convention of the Socialist party at Union Labor Temple, February 23, inst. It was also argued that if the plaintiff was refused a place on the ticket the law would be unconstitutional in that it discriminated between parties.

BLAMES GOSSIPS.

ONE DIVORCE DENIED.

The troubles of a Pasadena family were aired before Judge Hutton yesterday. Mary L. Pierce had brought an action against Ruel E. Pierce, alleging extreme cruelty, while the latter interposed a counter petition, alleging infidelity on the part of his wife. The entire day was spent hearing the testimony, and at the conclusion the court refused either a decree.

In passing upon the case Judge Hutton referred to the indiscreet actions of the wife in allowing an old man more than 70 years of age to visit her, but the case of the plaintiff had not been made out. He said it seemed to be a case where neighbors and gossips had worked overtime and caused trouble.

Mary L. Teagardin was freed from George C. Teagardin by Judge James on the ground of desertion. The couple were married in September, 1906, and in the following April, it was testified, Teagardin had arranged to marry another woman. A big dinner had been planned to follow the ceremonies, and a photograph of the happy couple had been taken. The wife hearing of the contemplated marriage, hastened to the house and put a stop to the proceedings, and in a few weeks Teagardin disappeared and has not been seen since.

NEW TRIAL ORDERED.

PHYSICIAN WINS APPEAL.

Judge Wilbur yesterday acquitted Carl Schultze of the charge of practicing medicine without a license. The accused was arrested in November, 1907, and tried by a jury in the Police Court, found guilty and fined $100. An appeal was taken, the judgment of the lower court was reversed, and a new trial ordered.

Judge Wilbur decided that the defendant, under the facts as stated, was not guilty, and so held. The court continued: "As to whether a person holding himself out as a neuropathic physician especially skilled by reason of his training to treat disease, would be guilty of a violation of the act, I express no opinion, as the question is not involved in this case."

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

HER ALLOWANCE. Judge James has made an order that in the divorce action of Helen Tyler against Stephen A. Tyler, the defendant pay the plaintiff $50 a month for her support, $150 attorney fees, and $50 for costs.

WANT TO ADOPT THEM. Rufus and Alice Rawls have filed a petition for permission to adopt Ethel Smith, daughter of H. C. and Leurice Smith, with a change of name to Elizabeth Louise Rawls. Edward and Hattie S. Nold have petitioned for the adoption of Paul Smith, brother of the first-named child, with change of name to Paul Martin Nold.

NOT ALLOWED. Judge Hutton yesterday denied the request of William J. Danford, disbarred by reason of charges made by the Los Angeles Bar Association, to have the record in the case transcribed at public expense, in order that Danford might perfect his appeal to a higher court. The application of the defendant for the findings was also denied. The court stated there would be no objection to there being a copy of the record made at the expense of Danford, but the facts did not warrant it at the cost of the taxpayers.

REFEREES NAMED. Judge Bordwell has appointed W. G. Van Pelt, P. W. Crooke and J. B. Sextons new referees to fix the compensation to be paid parties for the opening of Budlong avenue, between Thirty-ninth street (formerly Forty-sixth street) and Thirty-ninth Place (formerly Forty-seventh street.) The style of the action now pending in court is the City of Los Angeles against Marcus Hirshfield, et al.

GARWOOD CASE. T. J. Garwood, jointly charged with Charles Gavin and James Pfeifer with robbing and shooting F. G. Johannsen December 23, last, was arraigned before Judge Wilbur, yesterday. The accused pleaded not guilty and the hearing was set for April 14.

ASKS DISSOLUTION. Nicholas Stambook has filed his petition in the Superior Court asking for a dissolution of his partnership with Fred W. Isch, and an accounting.

GRAND LARCENY. Judge Willis and a jury are hearing the case against William F. Thomas, charged with grand larceny. C. A. Hansen, who is charged with having uttered a fictitious check, will be arraigned this morning.

JAP LET GO. A. Kawfuka, charged by a fellow-countryman, S. Yoshii, with giving him a check for $136 on the First National Bank of Long Beach, was acquitted by Justice Stephens. The check was ante-dated, and was for a grocery bill.

ILLEGAL SHOOTING. Vernon Brown, a Redondo youth, was fined $25 by Justice Ling for shooting a duck out of season, and the fine was suspended.

LEGAL RECOMMENDATIONS. Nearly 40 lawyers, representing sections of the entire county, will meet Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in Department Five of the Superior Court for the purpose of discussing the recommendations of the committee investigating the rules of practice. A short call calendar will be recommended, allowing affidavits stating that a trial will take but a few hours, to place the case in court inside of thirty days. Change of law and motion day will also be considered and the short-term jury will be discussed. Other features of the recommendations of the investigating committee will be brought up and it is expected that the court will eventually make many changes along the new lines.

RENNIE DISCHARGED. W. E. Rennie, charged with embezzling $500 from Arthur Lacey, in the construction of a house, was discharged in Justice Pierce's court yesterday, on motion of the District Attorney. There was not sufficient evidence to convict.

AGAIN TODAY. The preliminary hearing of Fay Lowenstein, alias Fay Leitner, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, was continued by Judge Stephens until Wednesday, when it will be set down for hearing.

DEMURRER SUSTAINED. Judge Bordwell yesterday sustained the demurrer of Timothy Spellacy in the suit brought by C. S. Young, involving operations in oil, for which Spellacy had to account to Young. It had not been shown that any of Young's money had been used in the enterprise. Young sued Spellacy for $24,000. The contempt proceedings against Young will be heard by Judge Bordwell this morning. Young refused to answer certain questions put to him by the defendant's counsel in a deposition ordered by the court.

WERE ACQUITTED. Webb Hicks and his wife, Edith Hicks, charged with arson at Colegrove, were discharged by Justice Summerfield yesterday. The Hickses, with an infant child, had been in the County Jail for more than ten days. The scene of the fire was No. 422 Waring street, Colegrove, at the residence of Magdalena Montagno, where the Hicks family lived, on February 17.

INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were filed with the County Clerk yesterday by the Belasco-Blackwood Company, capital stock $50,000; Dr. Reed Cushion Shoe Company, capital stock $25,000; Railroad Employes Loan Company, capital stock $50,000.

CONDUCTOR'S WIDOW WINS.

A jury in the United States Circuit Court yesterday brought in a verdict for $10,000 for the plaintiff in the damage suit of Mrs. F. C. Phillips against the Santa Fé Railway Company. The plaintiff sued to recover $50,000 for the death of her husband, a conductor on the railroad. The engine blew up on the line between this city and San Diego, August 6, 1907, killing several persons, including the conductor.

OWL CARRIERS AWING.

Five extra carriers were put to work last night, delivering mail to the hotels and boarding-houses in the downtown district.

WE ANNEX SHORB.

Most Gigantic Shoe Stock

Ever Sacrificed in Los Angeles

A. J. Hamilton & Sons Purchase the Great Stock of the Cummings Shoe Company and Inaugurate Two

Stupendous Sales of Fine Shoes

One of the very largest as well as one of the very best shoe stocks in Los Angeles has passed into our hands. We secured the Cummings shoe stock at practically our own price. The lessee demands the earliest possible surrender of the store. As we are already overcrowded at our regular store, 311 South Broadway, with the new spring goods, we are forced to inaugurate two big sales at once. We will clear out the Cummings stock as far as possible in the limited time allowed and at the same time make room for the remainder at our regular store by conducting a great special make-room sale at 311 South Broadway. Everybody knows that these two stocks are without an equal in Los Angeles for quality, style and general excellence.

ANGELINA'S AFFINITY

By Laura Jean Sloppy

IN TWO CHAPTERS.

CHAPTER I.

Angelina, with throbbing temples and a beating heart, stood in wordless expectation. She was trembling like some beautiful flower, bruised and trampled underfoot in the violence of her pure emotions.

"Tell me," she cried in a voice shaken with tremulous excitement, "I pray you, tell me who is yon handsome stranger?"

* *

But dear reader, we are about two laps ahead of our romance.

Fairest maiden in all California was beautiful Angelina, queen of the South.

Her swan-like neck supported a queenly head surmounted with tresses the hue of midnight. Some of the tresses belonged to her and some were borrowed from an amiable lady friend. Her large and beautiful eyes shone with starry effulgence and rosy lips seemed to breath balm while she spoke. Most of the time her lovely face and bosom were suffused by a deep blush.

Angie was the modest kid, all right. The fires of love had never touched that pure heart although her suitors had been as legion.

But one day came a handsome and stately gentleman, his fair head crowned by a toupee. He was known only by the strange and romantic title, "Arthur, the Mayor." Angelina was agitated by a strange attraction.

That same day her father called her gently to one side and said to her:

"Angelina, image of thy sainted mother, far be it from me to hurry you to your heart's decision—but I can't have these fellows sticking around here forever. They are smoking up all my cigars and trampling up the vegetable gardens with their serenades."

Like a dutiful daughter, Angelina then chose one to be the object of her pure young affections. She became the betrothed of the fair young Arthur.

* *

On the day upon which our story opens, the betrothed lovers were walking together in chaste companionship.

It was spring time. The nightingales were singing around the moving vans.

It was Angelina's favorite season. She found its softness infuse the tenderest thoughts into her soul.

But, ah me, ah me, what a tricky old sneak is fate!

While the lovers thus walked in sweet confidence, came a tragic event. In an instant, the thoughts of that pure heart were tossed as a ship in a tempest.

Far away upon the horizon there appeared the handsome figure of a stranger. He was tall and fair and handsome. A magnificent Billy-goat beard dangled from his chin and waved and swayed with majestic dignity, the toy and plaything of every caressing breezelet.

They noticed that, as he walked, he tried first one side of the street; then invariably retraced his footsteps and trod the other side. But in the end, he always traced a wobbling and uncertain gait down the middle of the road.

A deep blush suffused the face and neck of Angelina as she gazed upon the stranger. Almost swooning with emotion, she cried faintly to her affianced lover:

"Oh, Arthur—if without immodesty I may call you such—Oh, Arthur, who is yon handsome stranger? Was there ever such grace as in that fascinating wobble? The light that gleams from those twin stars, his eyes, shows that he never done no harm. He never stayed on one side long enough."

Hearing these words a deadly premonition clutched at the heart of the faithful lover. Casting himself gracefully upon one knee before her, he cried out in passionate accents of love: "Angelina, my star-eyed goddess, my beloved angel of light, are you going to recall me this way?" With that he tenderly kissed the hem of her garment.

A troubled look came into the two beautiful liquid orbs of Angelina—that is to say, one troubled look in each eye.

"Arthur," she cried, "Orthur—if I may call thee such—Arthur, why don't you do something noble like him?"

Arthur gave the cruel coquette one look of piteous reproach and his aching heart loosed its pent-up flood. He burst into a torrent of tempestuous tears. "How kin I?" he cried. "The newspapers wouldn't publish it if I did."

Angelina swooned and a deep blush suffused her neck and bosom.

"Why don't you ever make any grand-stand speeches about the Demon Rum?"

Arthur only replied with a dry sob.

"Why don't you rig up a man of straw and then hammer the wadding out of him and let all the people holler," continued Angelina with dissatisfaction.

Arthur was dumfounded and could not reply—but the wells of his grief still bubbled.

"The man I love," continued Angelina, almost swooning as she looked again at the handsome stranger, "the man I love must be versatile. He must be able to be on both sides of every question—"

She broke off with another look at the fascinating stranger. "Ah," she whispered passionately, "see that fascinating wobble. Observe that entrancing dodging!"

As the stranger drew nearer, they saw that he was clothed in bewildering garments. One of his trouser legs was a blue copper-riveted overall—the other an elegant golf suit. His waistcoat was a leather apron, but his coat was a Tuxedo. One of his socks was pink silk. The other foot was sockless."

Suddenly Arthur drew himself to his full height and stood in manly pride before the lady. "Madam," he said, adjusting his toupee, "madam, you have been talking with designing enemies. They have poisoned your mind against me."

A deep blush suffused the whole anatomy of Angelina as she swooned.

"Confess it," said Arthur sternly.

"Well," faltered the proud Angelina, "there was only Mr. Churl—"

"Ah, ha," cried Arthur in triumph.

"He was like a father to me," protested Angelina. "He told me to be innocent and good; then explained to me where all the lovely tough dives are located and how much it costs to go in and how to give the high sign to the dive doorkeepres."

"You talked to others?" said Arthur sternly.

"Editor Gammon," whispered Angelina.

"What did he say?"

"He said you were not a proper person for me to associate with."

"Why?" demanded Arthur.

"Who else of my false friends have you met?" hissed Arthur.

"Billboard."

"What didst he say?"

"He said that he eventually means to teach me to live according to the Des Moines idea—but that he feared the recall is as bughouse as public sentiment will stand for at present."

"And they told you about Aleck, the handsome stranger?" cried Arthur.

"Yes—they are going to give a party to introduce us—"

Arthur groaned.

"I hope you will be present—I wish to be under your escort," said Angelina tenderly.

"I cannot go—I haven't any invitation."

"Not an invitation," said Angelina, swooning to show her surprise.

"This is to be a public reception."

"Alas," quoth Arthur in a voice fraught with the ultimate. "Alas, the public is no longer admitted to public meetings, only prominent citizens."

Angelina swooned.

LOCAL INTERESTS MAY STEP IN.

MERCHANTS' AND MANUFACTURERS' BODY CAN INTERVENE.

Notice from Interstate Commerce Commission That the Los Angeles Organization Will Be Permitted to Join in the Case of Shippers Against Wells Fargo.

Secretary Zeehandelaar of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association received notice yesterday from the Interstate Commerce Commission that the association will be permitted to intervene in the case of the California shippers against Wells Fargo & Co. The attorney for the organization will file briefs setting forth the status of the case in Los Angeles. The only other city concerned in the advance of transcotinental express rates is San Francisco. The hearing will be in Washington, the date to be fixed later. The commissioners ordered the express company to file a financial statement showing how its business is conducted. It is alleged that the company has discriminated against Los Angeles and San Francisco merchants by making a new tariff schedule, which is now in force.

MONEY GONE.

TO DEALS WITH ONE LAY RUIN.

BUSINESS FAILURE CREDITED TO AN ATTORNEY.

Filing of Bankruptcy Petition by Hardware Man Is Alleged to Be Result of Financial Association With Lawyer Who Is Facing Charges in the Superior Court.

As the alleged result of business dealings with Attorney Elmer Rowell, now facing criminal charges in the Superior Court, J. M. Poundstone, a hardware dealer at No. 4406 Central avenue, is financially ruined. He and his son, Ralph W. Poundstone, filed a bankruptcy petition in the United States District Court yesterday, with stated liabilities of nearly $90,000. The assets approximate about $20,000.

According to Attorney S. P. Mulford of counsel for certain petitioning creditors, Poundstone has always been successful in business and amassed a considerable fortune. He states that the reputation of the bankrupt is excellent, and that it was through dealings with Rowell that he became involved so deeply.

An agreement was reached by various interests yesterday whereby F. C. Delano was accepted as receiver for the firm of J. M. Poundstone & Co.

The secured creditors are Peter Hospers, $19,530; Frank B. Gray of Peabody, Kan., $2000, and Southside Bank, $1311. The unsecured creditors are mostly note holders. Some of the notes were joint obligations with Elmer Rowell, the money being put into various mining deals engineered by the attorney. The list of merchandise creditors is comparatively small, indicating that the failure was not due to lax business methods.

CREDITORS AFTER TAILOR.

Three creditors of Gus S. Berry, a tailor, at No. 215 West Fourth street, filed a petition in the Federal Court yesterday asking that he be adjudicated a bankrupt. The claims represented are, Alexander Brick, $576.84; L. Simonson, $332.67; Morris Bretstein, $196.65. The total liabilities will approximate $6000 it is said. The assets consist of a small stock of goods and bills receivable, amounting to $2000.

SAVES CITRUS SOURNESS.

Vinegar Is to Be Produced from Cull Oranges by a Local Concern.

Seedling oranges, such as have been destroyed year after year, will be used in the manufacture of a California vinegar, according to the statements of officers of the Los Angeles Fruit Product Company. The company took out incorporation papers yesterday, with John Bodger, J. C. and Walter Bodger, E. E. Norton and J. B. Dodson as the chief stockholders.

The process, which has been in the course of experiment for the past few years, is said to have been perfected. The vinegar is made from cull oranges. Seedlings have been considered worthless and allowed to rot on the ground. It was because of this enormous waste that the experiments were made.

The new vinegar has been tested and is reported as forty-eight grain, said to be a high grade.

Four troops of the Thirteenth Cavalry, which has been stationed at Fort Sheridan, left Chicago yesterday for San Francisco, on their way to the Philippines.

We note that Mr. Thompson-Seton wants the government to set aside a range in Alaska for the woolly yak. Has Alaska become so crowded that a range has to be set aside for the yak, or even the yawp, for that matter?

THE HOUSE DIVIDED.

The people of the Great Southwest are disappointed that the Statehood enabling acts for Arizona and New Mexico did not go through. We would have been very happy to welcome the sun-tanned twins into the Union.

The case of New Mexico is one of suicide, from all appearances. The people there are divided. The faction not in the saddle objects with much emphasis to the one in the saddle. Grave present offenses and dangers in the future are laid up to the account of the men in power. No wonder the Senate held up a bill to admit a State reported by the people thereof to be in the hands of highwaymen.

And no doubt this reported condition in New Mexico was used to some extent as an excuse for not taking action at this time in reference to the other twin. Yet there is not much family likeness between the two Territories.

But New Mexico will not get Statehood until her people cease to bear evil witness against their neighbors. The outside world will not go to much pains to find out the facts when the shouters of any community represent their fellow-citizens to be steeped in vice.

The old proverb about the bird and its nest is full of wisdom. No man is excusable who bears false witness against his neighbor. A mere scandal must be very grave before it should be cast to the winds of the daily press to be carried all over the world. The worst citizen in a community is the one who bears false witness against it.

SMASHER MEETS HER MATCH.

Carrie Nation has ceased to be a subject of real interest in this country, but across the Atlantic she is sufficiently novel to attract attention—and rotten eggs. In a London music hall she recently talked to the accompaniment of more or less badly aimed but unpleasantly smelling missiles, and the manager had to cancel her engagement because the authorities said they feared, and wished to prevent, a breach of the peace. Carrie was disgusted; not with the hoodlums but with the manager. "I'm not a bit afraid of the wicked miserable cowards," she said, referring to the gallery "gods," "and they're only wicked, miserable cowards, because they are slaves to the publican, and I mean to release them."

But how to get an audience was the thing that bothered Carrie when the music halls were denied her. What she considered to be a happy thought came to her—she went to the famous Rev. R. J. Campbell and said: "Lend me the City Temple." In the popular preacher Carrie met more than her match. Mrs. Nation interviewed him in his vestry and hurled a few of her most popular texts at him.

"Do you think drink is responsible for poverty?" Mr. Campbell asked. "I think that it is poverty and wretched surroundings that drive men to drink."

This view did violence to Carrie's pet theories. "Drink is responsible," she said, pointing a black cotton-gloved finger at the clergyman. "God said—"

Then Mr. Campbell told her he couldn't lend her the City Temple. She shook her head reproachfully and said, "And I thought you were so fearless."

Her sarcasm fell off the clergyman like water on a well-oiled street. "It isn't a question of fearlessness," he answered; "I'm not the landlord." A little fact like that, so simply stated, disgusted Carrie with the preacher, so she sought the restaurants in Fenchurch street and Mincing Lane, where the produce brokers lunch off chops and steaks and beer and indulge in the vicious game of dominoes. The brokers hoisted her on a high stool beside the lunch counter, let her talk to them, cheered her gleefully—and went on drinking beer. Then she went home, to find among her letters one from a cigarette firm asking her to allow them to name a new brand of cigarettes, "The Carry A. Nation." Thus London managed to make merry at the expense of the smasher, smashing at so much per smash.

EASY WAY TO DO IT.

The State of Wisconsin, where the people would have to wear tags to distinguish a Republican from a Democrat, him from a Populist, and that one from a Socialist, is wrestling with the question how to prevent political candidates from spending too much money to bring success at the polls. Practically everything is on a "non-partisan" basis in the Badger State, and well may be, for outside of a few Republicans of the Randall or Carpenter type in the past, of the Spooner type of today (and these are out of politics,) all parties are filled with La Folletteism.

This is the condition which makes the spending of money necessary. Principles are all put out of the question, and personal qualities are all that's left on which to appeal to the public. Radicalism is rampant and the man who proposed to make water run up hill would get more votes than Franklin or Henry Clay. What is a voter to do? All parties are mad to cinch corporations, yes; all proclaim themselves as the only saviors of the poor man, si; all cry that the rich are "undesirables," oui. So each fellow goes forth on his voice or purse and makes all voters know where he in his own person stands. No man's voice will reach to the ends of the woods in Wisconsin, and printer's ink or eloquent spellbinders means money. Easily a candidate may spend $100,000 in a Senatorial campaign and not buy a vote. The spellbinders, editors and job printers get the money for "service rendered," if not for "value received."

As to the argument that no man should spend $100,000 for an office which pays $7500 a year for four years, there is no force in that. No Senator seeks the office for the salary. He has a higher or a lower motive than that.

If Wisconsin limits the amount that may be spent in a Statewide canvass under the conditions prevailing in the State, there is no telling what may be the result. The semi-socialist statesmen of that commonwealth would look upon $5000 as a high sum. But it would scarcely finance a campaign in one county when personal considerations are all the basis on which to ask for votes.

There is only one easy way to limit the spending of money and give the poor candidate a chance against the rich one. That is go back to the old way of party conventions, party designations on the ticket. Gov. Hughes beat all the machines in this way twice in New York with its immense population. Under the Wisconsin law he could not carry Nevada against a man who had the "goods in his jeans."

THE COSMOPOLITAN CITY.

A week ago Sunday this journal laid before 400,000 persons the story of the natives of sunny Italy in their new homes here by the western wave. That was a chapter of achievement of which the Latin race may well feel proud.

Last Sunday it was German day. The Teuton colony in Los Angeles is large, and has been for half a century. Germans have been prominent in the affairs of the city, in financial circles, in educational efforts, in religious work at all times. Their story was a long one and every bit of it full of interest.

Next Sunday another race will tell its story of achievement and good citizenship. The French people are most fecund in new ideas. They have set the pace for the world of thought for hundreds of years. They are industrious, frugal, always getting ahead tomorrow of where they are today. You will see that they give an excellent account of themselves, in business, in art, and in social life.

So these chapters may easily go on step by step, until all races and nearly all nationalities shall appear. The completed story will show Los Angeles to be a most cosmopolitan city, and that all races and nationalities make great progress here, each adding its due quota to the general effort to make this a great city in all ways, as beautiful as great, and as good as beautiful.

So cosmopolitan a city cannot be a narrow city. This must be a city of composite type. It would not be a good place for Cotton Mather to preach his gloomy and narrow conception of the gospel. It is a city where the "Know-Nothing" or A. P. A. candidate does not run well for office. But while these good citizens of foreign birth or descent would make this a broad city, with cosmopolitan ideals to guide it, they would make it a city of clean homes, of high educational opportunities, of abundant church influences, where vice would be kept in the background, and where all rational efforts would be made to rescue the erring.

A pretty good sort of a city, where all elements are mixed and kneaded into a homogeneous mass, all leavened with the yeast of American principles—and none of these more vital or precious than personal liberty under broad, just laws.

DON'T TAKE POISON.

"No one who wishes to do anything and bring about real reforms should allow himself to read from day to day editorials and other printed articles the tone of which is pessimistic and hypocritical, for nothing will take out of him the enthusiasm necessary to successful efforts as the reading of such matter."

That is the way that W. H. Taft, who at noon day after tomorrow will be President of the United States, puts the matter. They are the words one might expect from the lips of a man so well poised, so judicial of mind, so even of temper, so just of spirit as this man who is to perform the duties of Chief Executive of this great nation for the next four years. The utterance of this wise sentiment augurs unspeakable good for the nation. The people are sick and tired of the muck-rakers, the lurid liars, the wretched self-seeking hypocrites who would "make gain of godliness," and care only for the gain. They would follow the devil with alacrity if only they were permitted to "carry the bag."

President Taft, when in office, will show that he has truest Christian spirit if he will keep a good lash of well-twisted cord near at hand and chase the hypocritical preachers of ill will, the humbug reformers one and all from the doors of the "Executive Mansion."

Let all good men lay to heart these wise words, turn a deaf ear to the slanderer, the hypocritical Jeremiah, with his eyes turned to the skies like a pair of peeled onions while he wails "Woe! Woe! The world is wicked and I am the only one left to set it right." His hypocrisy is poison and turns the milk of human kindness to vinegar.

FOR MODERN METHODS.

It is worth while to keep one's eyes on the Imperial country and all the stretch on both sides of the Colorado River from the confluence of the Gila into Old Mexico.

At El Centro the authorities have just bought twelve lots as a site for the new grammar school. The price was $400 a lot. In Los Angeles nearly sixty years ago when the city wished to put up schools, one lot north of the Plaza was bought and two on the corner of Spring and Second streets. These probably cost less for each lot than those at El Centro. If twelve lots had been bought in Los Angeles when it was an embryo city, at this time they would nearly support the public school system. In the meantime the children down in the Imperial Valley will have room to breathe freely and to knock a baseball without driving it into the street or through a school window.

And there will be cities, and good-sized ones at that, in the "sinks" of the Colorado in less time than it took for Los Angeles to grow. The settlers at El Centro are taking up experiments in cotton growing which if rightly conducted will succeed. That region on both sides of the Colorado will prove good cotton land. And that is only one crop. Farmers down in this new country have hundreds of hogs on their ranches. This will be a great live-stock country, dairying section, and poultry producer.

The twelve school lots which cost $4800 are likely in a few years to be worth ten times as much. Population and wealth will grow there at an amazing rate unless the wisdom of all the most experienced persons who have seen the country is foolishness.

A negro who was born and reared in Holland has arrived in Oklahoma unable to speak any language except Dutch. The case is interesting from the fact that the Oklahoma Constitution, by a strange oversight, failed to provide for an emergency of that character.

GETTING READY.

HOROSCOPE.

Tuesday, March 2, 1909.

BY COZETTE.

Let cheer control thy soul. Things that perplex

The moon, nine days old, occupies the sign Leo on this sixty-first day. Uranus is in opposition.

This month Jupiter should benefit the August-born.

In the horoscope of the Czar, Saturn transits the moon this month, a most malignant sign.

An exceedingly propitious sign is set over household affairs this day. Bake, preserve, cook geese, ducks, turkeys or fish. Hire maids.

The astrological influence of Uranus affects evilly persons of moody temperaments. All who are inclined to despondency should determine this day to maintain cheerfulness and to dismiss anxiety and especially to avoid borrowing trouble.

The sign of the moon favors sanguine and courageous actions, whether in business or personal affairs.

Unusual work or attempts at new things of any kind should be approached with care and discretion, but the sign is good for them.

The time is evil for designs based on devious purposes or for schemes that cannot bear the fullest exposure.

Business and social jealousy will bear ill fruit this day.

Too much indulgence in social pleasures is inadvisable for women with this birthdate. There is a sign of travel.

Men with this birthdate must avoid speculation zealously. The indications are for promotion for those in employment.

Children born today are under signs promising intense loyalty. Girls may be more uncertain in determination than boys. Boys should prove exact and careful.

The Capital Question.

The 4th of March draws near once more;
Again from sea to sea
We hear the question o'er and o'er,
"What will the climate be?"

No more we list with eager ears
When statesmen disagree;
One phrase reflects all hopes and fears;
"What will the climate be?"

The tariff experts vainly plan
For trade well taxed or free;
We merely ask the weather man:
"What will the climate be?"
—[Washington Star.

The Way of Authors.

James Whitcomb Riley is evidently no believer in the greatness or enduring quality of modern literature. Some time ago a friend was talking to him about the good times that novelists of today have, compared with those of the past.

"You modern writers don't work so hard," he said, "and you are paid twenty times as much as you ought to be."

Mr. Riley gently shook his head. "You labor under a misapprehension, my boy," he replied. "The chief difference between the old authors and those of today is simply this: They died, and their works live; our works die, and we live—as best we can."—[Judge.

The Art of Seeing.

In his Royal Institution lecture Sir Hubert von Herkomer incidentally touched on the point that no two people seem to see alike, as illustrated by the familiar experience that twenty eye-witnesses of a street accident will give twenty widely varying accounts of its details. We had an instance of this recently in the case of the Tottenham outrage, and few failed to observe the extraordinary fact that, when the Druce coffin was opened, two reporters made hopelessly divergent statements as to the beard—the very thing that was most interesting.—[Pall Mall Gazette.

England's Women Voters.

A return of the number of women voters in England and Wales who are qualified to vote for County Councils and for Councilors in municipal boroughs issued today shows that the women's franchise for County Councils extends to 563,961 for England and 41,945 for Wales, making a total of 605,906. For County Borough Councils in England and Wales the number is 265,862, and for non-county Borough Councils there are 131,421 voters for England, 5903 for Wales, making a total of 137,324.—[Westminster Gazette.

The Old Settler Remarks:

"Have you heard uv the new version, boys? Some fellers wuz givin' it to me today. 'Blessed are the muckrakers.' They tell me thet's the real beatertude. I've always read it wrong. The peacemaker isn't in it nowadays, accordin' to the revised version, they tell me. How about it, boys? They say peace ain't good for a town. What d'ye think?"

Knicker: Did Jones lose control of his auto?
Bocker: Entirely; his chauffeur won't let him use it at all.—[New York Sun.

MEN AND THINGS OVER THE SEA.

Where The English Marry.

The annual report of the Registrar General of births, deaths and marriages in England and Wales discloses the fact that the people are not marrying at so young an age as formerly. In 1898 the average age of all husbands on marriage was 28.3, and of all wives 26.1. In 1907 the average age of the husbands had risen to 28.66 and of the wives to 26.49. The growth in divorce during recent years has been accompanied by a striking increase in the proportion of divorced people who remarry. In the period from 1871 to 1875 the average number of persons divorced each year was 356.8, and the average number of persons who remarried was 61.4. In 1907 1288 persons were divorced, and 638 of them remarried again.

British Military Ardor.

Several novel methods are being taken in England to encourage enlistments in the army. A special military play is being produced by a theatrical company touring the country, and the cinematograph has been called to aid the work of recruiting. Enthusiasm is being stirred up by parades and the pleading of the newspapers. Such strenuous endeavors are being made at just the present time that there would seem to be a fear in governmental circles of an invasion from some source.

Another Martyr to Science.

Harry W. Cox of London, one of the leading manufacturers of X-ray and high frequency coils and apparatus, has recently suffered the loss by amputation of three fingers of his right hand because of their being affected by the dreaded X-ray dermatitis. He had previously lost one of the fingers of his left hand, and as he has contracted the same disease in his chin another operation is probable. Like Dr. Hall-Edwards, Mr. Cox has suffered from the early ignorance respecting the dangerous character of the X-rays.

Birthrate of France.

For the first time for a number of years an increase is reported in the birthrate of France, during the later half of the past year the number of births exceeding the deaths by 14,000. This favorable change is claimed by the newspapers of France to be due to hygienic reforms that have been instituted, and a lessening of the ravages of consumption.

German Finances.

The national debt of Germany is continually increasing, additional bond issues having been annually issued, and one for the coming year will soon be calling for takers. The Chancellor of the Exchequer is finding it exceedingly difficult to devise ways and means, everything now being taxed until it is even proposed to institute a government tax on artificial light and its appliances. This unsettled financial condition of the government is having its effect upon the industrial interests of the country.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

The awful thing to a girl about flirting is when there's nobody to do it with.

A Popular Dye.

A small boy was one day sent for a pennyworth of indigo dye. He stopped to play marbles on the way, and quite forget what he was sent for. But he was determined to get it, he went into the chemist's shop and said to the assistant:

"What have people been dyeing with lately, please?"

"Influenza." was the answer.

"Ah! that must be it," said the boy. "Please give me a penn'orth!"—[Illustrated Bits.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

The seventh week of the Auditorium's spectacular fantasies opened last night with "Babes in the Wood." In many ways it is one of the most delightful of the pantomimes which have so far been given. Scenically it is rich and beautiful, the costuming is especially colorful and artistic, there are pretty dances and tuneful ditties for the principals as well as for the choruses, and some of the humor—though of a decided British brand—tends toward genuine merriment. Above all, the spectacle is clean and wholesome as well as entertaining, calculated to give equal pleasure to the tot of 5 and the man of 50.

Olga Stech and Olive Dumond are the "babes"—and attractive babes they are, too, Miss Stech being Claudio, a boy clad in a Buster Brown habit and a saucy smile. Miss Stech, indeed, radiates cheer at every turn; she is as merry as a cricket, chirps with the sweet abandon of one, and dances with its irresponsible lightness of limb.

The part of Robin Hood falls to Maud Beatty. A "kind outlaw" she assuredly makes him, and a handsome one (albeit somewhat feminine of port and demeanor,) and one who can sing as well as be kind.

The two "bad, bold bandits" are played by Billy Onslow and Walter Reed; they add much to the gayety of the spectacle, being indeed its chief fun-makers. Roscoe Arbuckle, as Baron Rowland Brown, the weak-kneed uncle of the babes, sings much better than he acts.

A pretty feature of the pantomime are the fairies who flit through the woods on invisible wires, sailing through space with an airy grace that leaves the spectator quite breathless. These woods are the haunts of Robin Hood and his merry men, and their rich autumnal browns make a charming setting for the natty coats and tights of the singing band of highwaymen.

The ballets that revolve round the "Babes in the Wood" are graceful and pretty, "Summer and Winter" and "Ballet of Flowers" being quite unusual in their richness of effect.

"The Three of Us," Rachel Crothers's play, which was seen again at the Belasco Theater last night, combines strength and sweetness. Its scenes hold a great deal of tenderness, and it is near enough and timely enough to appear to us of California an actual transcript from life.

The play takes its name from a gold mine. The chief character is Rhy McChesney, a young woman of energy and intelligence, who is the belle of the small Nevada camp in which the story of the play is located. She has the task of bringing up her two younger brothers on the income derived from a $4000 inheritance. The elder brother overhears a young mining man confess to Rhy of his finding a rich vein of ore. The youth, in his eagerness to escape from sister-rule and his desire to strike out in the world for himself, sells this information to a somewhat unscrupulous mining man. Then follows a series of complications that threaten for awhile to wreck the happiness of all concerned, and especially of Rhy, but there is the inevitable happy ending, of course—this instance is a natural and logical termination.

From an artistic standpoint the finest figure in the play is Charles Ruggles, as Clem. Mr. Ruggles gives the same conception and execution of the character which won for him so much praise when the play was produced here before.

Mr. Stone is forceful and believeable as Stephen Townley, and DeWitt Jennings does a most complete bit of acting in Beresford's—the unscrupulous mining man—lines and situations.

A number of smaller parts are taken creditably, especially that of the dense Irish house servant of Ida Lewis.

Frank Byron and Louise Langdon are the hit of the week's Orpheum bill. They have been here before, but Byron has given some remodelling to his "O Scissors, let's cut up!" species of sketch, and at any rate, such lady-like comedy cannot fail to be effective. In depicting the plight of a sissy who, while playing amateur detective, finds himself in the room of an actress, Byron is hilariously funny. The skit reaches its climax where this person, harassed by the imaginary woes of the soubrette and impending catastrophe of his own, simpers in a sweet voice of agitated anguish, "Oh, for a strong cup of tea!"

The "Royal" Italian Quartette—strange, isn't it, how all species of Italian music-makers cling pathetically to that regal word?—scored strongly yesterday afternoon. The tenor is Guido Cecotti, whom Lombardi left here at the time of his visit two seasons ago, and who has since been singing up and down the Coast in various undertakings. There are two ladies who sing inconspicuously, and a large, awkward young baritone with a loose, velvet voice of much sonority. They opened with the unkillable "Rigoletto" quartette, proceeded to a duet from "La Forza del Destino," and concluded with the Neapolitan "O Sole Mio" and "Funiculi, Funicula."

Seldom's Venus, a group of statue poses, in marble-shade, comes nearer to nature than anything yet offered in that line here, and the poses are splendidly executed.

Johnny MacVeigh and four girls have an indifferent but lively specialty, supposedly performed in a college dormitory.

The four strollers, Messrs. Arthur G. Steele, Ray Carpenter, William G. Wells and George F. Eewing, of this city, offer an act of quartette music much better than the customary hackneyed performance of that sort.

The Harveys remain for another week with their fine wire-walking feats, as does Paul LaCroix, in his difficult and humorous hat juggling.

Leander de Cordova is still splitting the air with his maniacally executed "Wireless" skit. Cordova's idea is good, but his rendition is the height of screaming melodrama.

"El Capitan" was presented at the Grand Operahouse last night, Ferris Hartman thus inaugurating his Monday night premieres, which he will continue, as he believes better results are to be gained thereby.

The sturdy little pianist, Josepf Lhevinne, is due to return from the Grand Cañon early this morning—if indeed he did not return in the night. He will play at Simpson Auditorium this evening.

Lhevinne is a rugged, virile man-type of artist, loving outdoor life and an abundance of healthy exercise. He played in Redlands on Friday night, and left for the Grand Cañon immediately thereafter. If he followed his intentions he has been tramping and roughing it ever since. A country where it is possible to be outdoors, he says, is paradise after the confinement of a rigorous eastern winter. He avers that he dreads steam heat more than cold, and it seems to deaden all his sensibilities and kill his inspiration.

His programme tonight will include: Chaconne (Bach-Busoni;) Sonate, F minor (Scarlatti-Tausig;) Pastorale varie (Mozart;) Momento Capriccios (Weber;) Carneval (Schumann;) Nocturne, C major; Mazurka, Op. 56 No. 1; Study, B minor Op. 25 (Chopin;) Scherzo (d'Albert;) "Blue Danbe" (Schulz-Evler.)

The Victor company has shown discriminative judgment in securing a group of records by the great Mattia Battistini, who, according to these captured singing moments, is the premier baritone that his Italian compatriots herald him.

Battistini, say the Italian followers of opera, is the first artist of his voice alive. By these records a very great are is proven, if indeed the voice itself is well matured. Matured is perhaps the best word, for the voice is not marred by age—merely robbed of the first bloom of youth.

There is no baritone now heard by American audiences who can approach the superb interpretation and consummate phrasing given by Battistini to "O Lisbona," an excerpt from Donizetti's almost forgotten "Don Sebastian." Battistini is one of the few surviving children of the genuine bel canto school, and it is well that his perfectly used voice shall live after him.

Slumberland

SLUMBERLAND is another name that we want you to become familiar with. We have attached that name to a mattress that is made right here in Los Angeles exclusively for us.

To advertise and guarantee a mattress, we must be absolutely sure of what goes into it, the materials used and the workmanship.

The quality of a mattress, or in fact any upholstered work, depends entirely upon the Honor of the man who makes it. You cannot see the inside, faulty stitching does not show up at once—poor ticking often looks well at first.

We know we have in SLUMBERLAND a mattress that is right. We are so positive about this that we have left no loophole in our guarantee to the customer. You will find our guarantee on the label attached to every mattress.

Only the best, long, white, staple felted cotton is used in our SLUMBERLAND mattress, first quality ticking, imperial edge double row of stitching on the box—holds its shape. Sold in all sizes, three weights—36 pounds, 40 pounds and 45 pounds. We prepay delivery charges to any point on the Pacific Coast.

We also have a Brass Bed, with smooth, continuous posts, "made in Los Angeles" especially for us, by patterns furnished by our own designers. A Bed that will be widely copied as soon as its merits are known. At the present time, you will not find anything like this Bed elsewhere.

These Brass Beds, equipped with one of our SLUMBERLAND mattresses and RIP VAN WINKLE springs (also sold exclusively by us), make a Bed that is altogether satisfactory and very pleasing in appearance.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

AN ENGAGEMENT far too good to keep and one, the announcement of which will enliven the dull days of sack cloth and ashes, is that of Miss R. Florence Bland, daughter of Mrs. Flora Goodall Bland of Pasadena, to Lieutenant-Commander Thomas Dryton Parker, executive and navigating officer of the U.S.S. Buffalo. Miss Bland has been visiting for the past six months in Honolulu, and will visit with relatives and friends in San Francisco before returning to her home, when formal announcement will be made of the betrothal. The wedding will be solemnized in the fall.

Wedding Announcement.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Austermell of No. 4163 Halidale avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Bessie Louise, to J. Arthur Kelly, which was solemnized in Berkeley February 22. The wedding was to have taken place last July, but was postponed on account of the serious illness of Mr. Kelly. The young people were students together at the University of California, where they first met. They will receive their friends at No. 1640 Walnut street, Berkeley.

—o—

Box Party.

Mrs. N. Williamson entertained with a box party Saturday evening at the Auditorium. Her guests were Capt. and Mrs. Harmon Ryus, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Murphy and Thomas Murphy.

To Entertain.

Members of the Alpha Chi Omega Sorority will entertain this afternoon with a reception at the Woman's Clubhouse, on South Figueroa street, in honor of Mrs. Edward Loud and Miss Mabel Siller. The function was to have taken place at No. 1701 West Adams street, but was changed on account of illness.

—o—

Guest at Hershey Arms.

Miss Florence Miriam Johnson was the guest of Mme. Genevra Johnstone-Bishop last week at the Hershey Arms.

—o—

Informal Dinner.

Delightfully informal was the dinner party given Sunday by Mrs. Charles Wellington Rand at "Whitehall," her beautiful home on Wilshire boulevard, in compliment to thirteen friends from her old home in Burlington, Iowa. Covers were laid for eighteen and the table was enlivened with a large centerpiece of American Beauties arranged in a cut-glass bowl. Over the cloth sprays of maiden-hair ferns were gracefully scattered and at each place red-shaded candelabra completed the pretty scheme. Cards adorned with roses marked places for Mrs. D. W. Peasley, Miss Laura Peasley, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Hayes, Vincent Hayes, Dana Hayes, Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Barhydt, Senator and Mrs. William Wallace Dodge, Wallace Dodge, Louis Dodge, Miss Lillian Rand, Elbridge Dexter Rand, Charles Wellington Rand and the hostess.

At Home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wallace have moved into their new home at the corner of Heliotrope Drive and Melrose avenue.

—o—

For Bride-to-Be.

Miss Tod Kwis, whose engagement to Irving Vann Pearne has been announced, was the complimented guest yesterday at a 1 o'clock luncheon given by Mrs. Wagoner and Mrs. Neal Markle at their home on Florence avenue, Venice. Miss Kwis will leave Wednesday for the East, where she will spend two months.

—o—

Card Party.

Mrs. Earl R. Odell of No. 1630 Gramercy Place charmingly entertained with an informal card party recently. Handsome prizes were won by Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. A. H. Hutton. Among the guests were Mrs. Finley, Mrs. A. W. Hutton, Mrs. W. A. Ryon, Mrs. E. T. Sherer, Mrs. Swain, Mrs. McKain, Mrs. J. B. Knox, Mrs. Woods, Mrs. Tintor, Mrs. Tridley, Miss Kemper, Miss Hutton and Miss Knox.

A "Free Harbor."

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] A great deal is said and written about making San Pedro a free harbor, but this cannot be accomplished if the selfish interests of the railroads and harbor pilots and others are to levy all sorts of tonnage taxes on vessels are to prevail.

If San Pedro can be made a truly free harbor it will mean more for the future commercial greatness of Los Angeles than all other causes combined. The example of Antwerp, which has been one of the most prosperous cities of Europe, should convince us that a free harbor can influence maritime commerce to an extent little dreamed of by the average citizen.

Antwerp was fast becoming a ruined port on account of railroads making terminals at other ports, and the want of facilities, such as wharfage and the high charges for pilotage, supplies, etc. The authorities resolved on a new departure. Immense sums were spent for magnificent docks, all harbor charges were abolished and notices sent to all the ports of the world that Antwerp was a free port. Railroads connecting with all the continental system quickly connected with this free harbor, and vessels crowded to the wharves to avoid the high charges elsewhere, and Antwerp once more became a great maritime city. How long do you suppose it would take to attract an immense commerce to San Pedro if all harbor charges were abolished? San Francisco harbor charges have been allowed to accumulate until they amount to from $3 to $5 per ton, all of which is a tax upon commerce, to be paid by vessel owners on cargoes which in turn is levied upon consumers. Now, San Francisco cannot lower or abolish its high harbor charges, which were established during the early golden days, because labor and water-front influences would prevent any such action. Hence here is our opportunity to build up a great free port at San Pedro. It is a well-known fact that vessels can afford to go many hundreds of miles out of their way to reach a harbor where even a half a dollar per ton can be saved in harbor charges.

Let Los Angeles rise to the occasion and resolve on a truly free harbor, and the effect on its commerce will be the wonder of the Pacific Coast.

Free dockage, free water and free pilotage will tell the story. Tax the people to build docks, pipe the Owens River water to the harbor, abolish the hold-up of pilotage, hire pilots at a salary and the thing is done which will assure the future greatness of San Pedro and Los Angeles.

Most Everybody Likes Beans

Snider Pork & Beans

don't cause trouble because the gas has been taken out by the exclusive Snider Process of cooking—the result of study and a long series of scientific experiments.

While all the beans in a can are kept firm and whole and present an appetizing appearance when served, they are mealy and porous, and readily absorb the digestive juices of the stomach, so essential to good digestion.

Snider Pork and Beans are put up plain, or with a generous supply of Tomato Sauce (prepared from the famous Snider's Tomato Catsup) in each can, and you have a delicious dish for any meal—different and better than any other Pork and beans you've ever tasted—so daintily seasoned that they whet the appetite, and set the palate teasing for more—

"It's the Process"

Buy some from any grocer—then if you don't find them all right you can tell the grocer and get your money back—but, our word for it, you'll more likely order more.

START WORK ON PARKER CUT-OFF.

Santa Fe Will Take Shipments to Desert Town—Los Angeles-Pacific Rushing Tunnel Work—Problem Facing Constructors of Ely-Goldfield Line Is Easily Solved.

Grading outfits are assembling at Bengal and Parker, and the California and Arizona Railroad will complete the Parker cut-off, construction of which was suspended recently. The bridge across the Colorado River at Parker is completed and train service started to the California side. Yards for construction purposes are laid out at this end of the bridge and the Santa Fé published a notice that freight shipments will be received to this point. The grade has been completed from Parker into the desert for a mile or more and the laying of steel is to follow.

This will be good news to the mining districts along the Colorado, which at present have little outlet for ores. It will also mean the opening of a large area to farming. The rumor is again revived that the Santa Fé will build from Parker to Blythe in the heart of the recently opened Blythe estate. This has been repeatedly denied and as often dug up.

Cleaning Up.

The Los Angeles-Pacific has completed the tunnel between Sunset boulevard and Temple street, which is to be used by the Hollywood line. The rails have been placed in position on the approaches at either end and force is at work removing temporary track and cleaning up generally. The retaining wall on the second tunnel is finished and within a few days the other tunnel will be started.

The Tonopah papers are devoting considerable space to the Ely-Goldfield Railroad, and in a recent issue of the Bonanza it was stated that the route to be followed will be through the Clifford or Warm Springs Pass, which is said to be the only feasible one. The route is favorable with one exception, the outlet across the Eagan range at Ely presenting the most difficult problem, and this can be easily overcome.

At the north end of the Kawich Mountains the railroad will tap the rich mining camps of Golden Arrow, Silver Bow, Bellehelen, Clifford and Eden, all with large shipping ore developed. A shorter line to Ely would open up many properties near that camp. Many of these have produced heavily in the past and will furnish large shipments as soon as a railroad is built.

TUESDAY NIGHT CLASS.

This evening in the physical department library of the Young Men's Christian Association a new Bible class will be organized to meet regularly Tuesday evenings at 7:30 o'clock. Prof. Robert Renison will have charge of the class, taking as the subject of the lectures and quiz hour, "The Bible; What It Is and Why I Believe It." He will deal with the recent archeological discoveries bearing upon the scriptures, and will also discuss the fulfilled prophecies of the Bible. Prof. Renison is rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church and has taught large classes in several of the California Young Women's Christian Associations. He is a graduate of Trinity College of Dublin, Ireland. All men, whether or not members of the association, will be cordially welcomed to the class.

POSTMASTER OBJECTS.

Senator Flint Writes to the Treasury Department Conveying Criticism on Federal Building.

Senator Flint yesterday wrote to Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Beekman Winthrop regarding changes wanted by Postmaster Flint in the Los Angeles Federal building, says a Washington dispatch received by The Times last night. The postmaster has offered the criticism that, as arranged in the plans the second floor of the building will be cut up with tile partitions to such an extent that the wings will be comparatively useless for postoffice purposes.

It is desired to have the carriers, mailing and city divisions all on one floor, but the plans are arranged in such a way that the second-floor space in the wings is declared to be absolutely useless. Other changes recommended in the building were agreed to and Senator Flint asks that this suggestion be brought to the attention of the supervising architect at once, and that he be notified that the contractors are being held back in their work by the failure of the firm having the placing of the heating plant to begin work on that.

It is suggested by Senator Flint that these matters are urgent and demand immediate attention.

DIES IN EAST.

Word was received in this city yesterday announcing the death in Little Rock, Ark., of Mrs. Louisa M. Oliver at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John McClure, Jr., on February 11. Mrs. Oliver was formerly of Los Angeles and was the widow of Col. William S. Oliver, also formerly of this city, who was in command of a regiment under Grant in the Vicksburg campaign. Mrs. Oliver leaves four sisters and two brothers, one of whom is Mrs. William Downie of Los Angeles.

FACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN

BY MISS SYDNEY FORD.

Funny how the automobile craze gets hold of a man. After the motor fever is fairly inoculated through his system he wants a new machine oftener than the average woman asks for a hat.

The other day I went for a spin in what I thought a most luxurious car. As I sank back among the cushions and we rolled noiselessly along with that inspiring sensation of flying over the earth without visible wings, I observed to our host: "What an elegant auto."

"I've got to have a new one," he replied, apologetically. "This is an old model—I've had it since last December, you know."

"Really? Why, what is the matter with it?"

"Don't go fast enough," he complained as we shot past a Southern Pacific express train under full speed, swept up a steep grade at a sixty-mile rate and coasted down the other side.

"No, it's too old-fashioned," he continued. "The body design is out of date, the running gear is too heavy, and it has only a three-speed transmission.

"You see," he continued with as much animation as the woman describing her new Easter bonnet, "what I want is one of these 1910 machines with a double ignition system, clincher tires, spit-fire spark plugs, an ever-ready 100-mill speedometer, a Shaler vulcanizer, with glass front, square tail lamp, chime whistle Gabriel horn, a Presto tank with Stromberg carburetor, shock absorber four-cylinder sixty-horse-power machine that will get over the ground—a regular time-eater."

And yet the men laugh at what they call the complicated fashions of our frocks and wonder why we want a new hat every spring, when we know to a positive certainty that they make themselves a Christmas present of an automobile each December, and frequently celebrate the Fourth of July with another. It's clearly a case of the girl who was perfectly satisfied with her new gown before the party, but discovered the morning after that it was all wrong. "Human nature do so prevail."

Cretonnes and Curtains.

Have you seen the new cretonnes? They are so lovely that you will be seized with a desire to reupholster the furniture and hang the walls of your own snug boudoir anew. Such exquisite colors and combinations. You can almost hear the bees buzzing as they sip the honey from the petals of the flowers over which butterflies hover and humming-birds flutter. Rose vines wander over a soft, dainty background of color, the thorny stems and leaves and blossoms so realistic that you can almost catch the perfume. Other designs are larger and show big birds of Paradise with their gorgeous plumage. Then there are the dainty, blurred Dresden effects and the rich, dark oriental designs.

These cretonnes are inexpensive and may be used in dozens of ways to make a room charming. If you happen to have a nice-sized mirror whose frame is a little tarnished, just take out the glass and cover the frame with cretonne. Stretch it smoothly over the sides, miter the ends and insure a neat fit, and fasten the goods firmly with upholstery tacks.

I saw yesterday some lovely bordered batistes which were offered at only a dime a yard. I noticed one piece in particular that would make such pretty curtains. It was a plain white center with a border on either side of roses running riot. For daughter's room with its pink and white setting, this batiste would make charming curtains—and so inexpensive. Another piece had the double border of lavender wistaria.

Small Space for Shakespeare.

If you live in apartments which, like the Harlem flats, require everything, even to the milk, in a condensed form, then I have found you a set of Shakespeare that will exactly fill the bill. This complete set of the Bard of Avon, including the book rack which holds them, will occupy a space exactly seven by five inches on your study table—this is the outside measurement. I saw them yesterday and really as a sample of multum in parvo they certainly cap the climax. There are thirty-six volumes, each containing upward of 400 pages of the finest and sheerest and thinnest India paper. The books are beautifully bound in red morocco, and measure exactly two and one-eighth by one and three-eighths inches. The price of this elegant little set of Shakespeare is but $18.

A Suction Sweeper.

I told you a while ago about the new electric sweepers and the objection was raised by some of my correspondents that these could only be used in homes where electricity had been introduced and were therefore not available in every house. Very well, I have discovered another kind of dust defender which can be utilized without the aid of electricity. It is called the suction sweeper and I saw it demonstrated yesterday. It will not take the place of your ordinary carpet sweeper in the picking up of shreds, straws and threads, but it will suck the dust out of your rugs and carpets to perfection. It is a French invention, but the patent has been secured for the United States and it is just now being introduced here. It is in itself a little vacuum plant and operates on the suction principle. It is as easy to run as the ordinary carpet sweeper and one excellent feature is that every particle of the dust is absorbed into the metal dust chamber of the apparatus so that none is left floating in the room to settle on furniture and hangings, or to choke up your lungs as you sweep.

The Harmless Hatpin?

And now something is going to happen to the hatpin, observes an exchange. Just for fear that its increased length may become a menace to the life, ears and eyes of pedestrians and strap-hangers, the legislators, encouraged by the action of the Oregon lawmakers, are getting out their petitions to limit the hatpin length from nine to fourteen inches.

However, what is taken off one end of this millinery guard seems to be added to the other, judging from the length of the heads of the amber and jet hatpins now displayed. I saw yesterday, however, some entirely new conceits in the way of gold ball heads with tassels depending which were displayed in a jeweler's window. Gun metal hatpins I notice seem to be coming into favor, especially to wear with a taupe-colored hat or suit.

• •

A Rose Ball.

An unusual and decidedly pretty social affair was recently given in New York by one of the leading society women. It was a rose ball and the gowns were representative of rose colors. The dancers wore roses and the ballroom was resplendent in rose decorations. Nor did the color scheme end there, for ices were served in the form of pale pink roses, the tables were decorated with the same shade of real flowers, and the lights peeped forth from silk rose shades. One could give a violet ball this spring, or select any favorite flower and carry out the flower color scheme. One of the Washington fads just now, since the appearance of Miss Ethel Roosevelt in the social world, is to carry rose or flower balls. These are balls of flowers suspended with long ribbons from the arm.

Prize Collar Exhibited.

I noticed yesterday in one of the shop windows a marvelously beautiful piece of Irish lace in the shape of a collar—and it is the particular piece that won the prize at the exposition in Ireland. It is exhibited here as a model of the exquisite beauty of this hand-wrought lace and is valued at $50.

Send Her a Sewing Table.

If one is in doubt about a bridal gift, it would not be out of place to send a sewing table, provided the bride-to-be is deft with her needle. Heretofore, no one has tried to make this very useful article of furniture attractive, but now the designers have sent out a mahogany sewing table that is of the best polish and is beautifully carved.

For the Girl Graduate.

A book plate is a charming gift for a graduation present. It may have the initials or name of the owner—either that is desired—and a small picture that in some way is characteristic of the individual. The plate may be made to order and be inexpensive or otherwise, according to the amount of work in the design.

• •

Watches and Fobs.

The most diminutive timepiece on the market is the watch mounted on a finger ring. One almost needs opera glasses to tell the time of day.

The ribbon fob is coming in again, too, and is worn with the smartest afternoon frocks and reception gowns. It may be made with the owner's monogram and a single pendant gem—or it may be laden with jewels and gold lattice work.

• •

Fashionable Fads.

Most of the embroidery seen now in the shops is machine made. Color embroidery on white, black, cream and ecru will be much used.

Filet net stockings in lisle and in silk are the rage of the moment. Flesh-colored merino hose may add warmth worn beneath the open-work black lace stockings.

Heads are no longer crinkled and ratted past all semblance of humanity. The simpler the better, say the knowing ones. If your "style" permits a demure wave flowing away from a classic center part, so much the luckier for you.

A new French veil combines coarse Russian net and soft chiffon by putting the two together and binding the edges with a satin border. Sometimes the net is one color and the chiffon another, or both alike. If worn with either one next the face the effect is both smart and flattering to the complexion.

The new traveling clocks are in every sense what their name implies. Instead of the square ones that took up several inches of valuable space in the traveling bag, these new ones are a thin model watch, incased in leather about four inches broad and long. They are made to fold flat, just as the leather picture frames do, and can be tucked in the pocket of one's bag without encroaching on space.

RETURNS OPEN VERDICT.

Jury Unable to Place Any Blame for Beckman Family Horror at Bakersfield.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BAKERSFIELD, March 1.—The inquest over the remains of the five members of the Beckman family was concluded at 1 o'clock today and an open verdict was returned, the jury being unable to place any blame for the terrible tragedy. However, the nine men who composed the body are not satisfied to allow the matter to rest where it is and while no recommendations were made to that effect, they have requested Dist.-Atty. Laird to make further investigation.

Mr. Laird still holds to the murder theory and takes issue with the autopsy surgeons that the five could have been overcome by the poisonous smoke as they slept. He will conduct his investigations still farther, although he is still as much mystified as at the beginning, and fails to see wherein testimony at the inquest has weakened his theory of foul play.

Sheriff Kelly, however, has swerved from the theory of murder, which he originally held, and now admits that from all appearances the tragedy was purely accidental. He has no new evidence.

The funeral of the victims was held today. Thirty of the friends acted as pallbearers and the children of three district schools were among those in attendance.

CORCORAN.

CORCORAN, Feb. 27.—Work was begun today in the beet fields here, the contract for thinning having been let by the Pacific Sugar Corporation to T. Tanachi, a Japanese contractor. By an agreement reached with the Mexican contractor, as many Mexicans as Japanese will be employed in the beet fields this season. About 100 men are at work now and the number will be increased as fast as others can be procured.

The school entertainment given Friday evening for the purpose of raising funds to improve the school grounds was the largest attended affair ever held in this town.

F. G. Cross of San Francisco has purchased the business of the Corcoran Lumber Company, and the lumber business of A. J. Bayse, and will consolidate the two yards. The demand for building material is so great at present that Mr. Cross has ordered ten carloads of lumber and two carloads of fence posts, which are now on the way here.

R. D. Hunter has just received a shipment of five carloads of Jersey cows from Southern California for his dairy ranch, and expects another shipment next week.

The Orange County Nursery Company, which recently established a branch here, is rushed with business and has fifteen men employed filling orders, setting grapevines, fruit trees, etc.

SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY.

MENNONITES ARE EN ROUTE.

WILL SETTLE ON LAND BOUGHT FROM MILLER SYNDICATE.

Eastern Real Estate Man Secures Eight Sections at Shafter, Fifteen Miles North of Bakersfield, on Which the Foreigners Will Make Their Homes.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 27.—Sections 11, 13, 17, 21, 23, 27, 33 in 28-24 and Section 1 in 29-24 were transferred yesterday from the Miller Syndicate to Henry J. Martens, an eastern real estate man, for the purpose of colonization. The eight sections lie along the Santa Fé tracks near Shafter, about fifteen miles north of this city. Mennonites from Kansas, Iowa and other Central States have agreed to settle the land and they will be brought to their new homes in excursions, the first of which is to be run early in March, arriving here about the 11th. The people are substantial. They will move their farm stock and private possessions. Many of them have fine financial backing. They will spend the summer in erecting homes and preparing their individual allotments, which will be from seventy-five to 10 acres, for the fall planting. They will grow alfalfa and fruit. Other excursions will be run in April and May.

ARTICLES FILED.

The articles of incorporation for the Edison Land and Water Company, composed of members of the A. N. Towne Company, which controls a large acreage in this county, were filed yesterday. The company is incorporated for $25,000. Its purpose is to open up several sections east of town, near Edison, supplying facilities for pump irrigation. The property under control, which was deeded by the Towne Company, is described thus: Sections 31 and 33, 29-29, Sections 3, 5 and 9, and the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter of Section 4, all in 30-29.

James Wilkinson, a farmer 74 years old, died yesterday at the County Hospital from pneumonia. He was unmarried. He was one of the heirs to a large estate in Massachusetts, which at present is in litigation.

The Tejon Parlor of the Native Daughters of the Golden West will give a masque ball the night of March 17.

The contract for erecting the new home for the Children's Shelter has been awarded to E Bemis for $5725. W. J. Doherty has been appointed superintendent of construction.

W. Marsh, a young man employed in the truck gang at the Southern Pacific shops in Kern, lost his eye yesterday by being struck by a chisel, which bounded off the iron piece on which he was working.

WANT TO SAVE TREES.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

TULARE, Feb. 27.—A magnificent grove of native oak trees stands between this city and Visalia that some of the enterprising people of this section have long coveted for a park to be owned by the county. This grove can be purchased at a low price for this purpose, the present owners being desirous of preserving the trees from the ax of the woodman. The amendment to the statute defining the rights of Boards of Supervisors, which will permit these boards to purchase and maintain property for park purposes, has been signed by the Governor. In all probability this beautiful piece of woodland now known as "the Mooney grove," will become the property of the county.

There is trouble on the Tule. J. R. Blankenship and his two sons are the defendants, and G. B. Blankenship the plaintiff, in a suit brought to secure an injunction restraining the defendants from filling up a ditch by which the plaintiff irrigates his land from the Tule River. A bond of $300 on the temporary injunction has been filed, with H. M. Shreve and L. E. Schoenemann of this city as sureties.

The Tule River Riparianists' Association has filed articles of incorporation with the County Clerk. The object of the organization is to keep the channel of Tule River clear and to look out for the interests of the members in the matter of controlling and distributing the water among the stockholders. Tulare is the principal place of business and these directors have been chosen: L. N. Glover, Paul Blankenship, S. B. Anderson, and J. H. Scott of Tulare, and W. M. Young of Porterville. The company is capitalized at $5988, consisting of 5988 shares at $1 each.

J. M. Kidd of Pittsburgh, Pa., recently purchased a forty-acre ranch near this city and yesterday his family arrived with a carload of farming implements and stock.

H. E. Patterson, who has been the efficient manager of the Pacific Telephone Company, which recently sold its business here to the Tulare Home Telephone Company, has been transferred to Point Richmond, where he will have charge of both Point Richmond and Richmond telephone stations.

INDIAN FIGHTING.

According to the pioneers, the Mormons were in the habit of setting the Indians upon the Gentile travelers, sharing the profits of the raids without the dangers. The party succeeded in driving the Indians off, killing several of them and themselves losing only a few horses. In 1898, Baldwin had H. H. Cross paint a huge picture of this skirmish, from data which the narrator furnished the artist.

The picture is now well known in California. It represents the four wagons being attacked by the redskins, who are concealed behind boulders in a rocky, verdureless pass at the bank of the Humboldt River. One big Indian is dragging a woman out of the rear of the wagon. Baldwin himself is said to have shot a chief of the Indians during this encounter. The Indians became frightened at the sturdy resistance made by the whites and by their overtaking an ox team and reinforcements quite unexpectedly.

The pioneers proceeded straight through to San Francisco. Here Baldwin began life in the new land in the hotel business, becoming proprietor of the Hotel American. In the parlors of this hotel, Maj. Shaw was married to a young lady whom he met on the journey.

Later Baldwin invested in a livery stable, and after a few years he sold out and went to Japan. He returned with a company of Japanese performers, and toured the country with them. At Boston he abandoned this venture, and the Japanese went on to Europe, while "Lucky" returned to California.

GETTING RICH.

Baldwin could not be called a wealthy man until 1872, when he invested $6400 in Consolidated Virginia mining stock, at from $2 to $3 a share. Just before this venture he visited Nevada, and found that this mine was fabulously rich. Later he closed out his holdings when the stock was selling at from $500 to $600 a share, clearing $5,000,000.

Just after this venture, President Ralston, head of a San Francisco bank that had failed, committed suicide, and Baldwin invested $2,000,000 in the bank to put it on its feet again, thus getting control of all of Ralston's holdings.

Ever after this the horseman was known as "Lucky" Baldwin, and truly he had the Midas touch for many years, making over $6,000,000 in stocks and another time through becoming mixed up in a financial contest with Mackay and Flood, who practically ruled the stock market, but "Lucky" bested them. He went into all sorts of deals, and everything turned out right until in 1890 his fortune was estimated at $15,000,000.

Baldwin declared he was worth $20,000,000 ten years ago, and he may have been, for he owned the elegant hotel at Lake Tahoe, the magnificent Santa Anita ranch of 56,000 acres in the San Gabriel Valley, Los Angeles county; considerable mining property in California and Nevada, the Baldwin Hotel and other Market-street (San Francisco) property, which alone was worth over $3,000,000, the elegant California-street residence, while his thoroughbred horses could not have been worth less than $500,000. His property has since increased to an estimated value of $30,000,000, with an incumbrance of perhaps $2,000,000.

FAMOUS RACE HORSES.

It was after he had gotten well on his feet that he engaged actively in raising fast horses. His stallion, Emperor of Norfolk, was perhaps his most famous equine property. This horse won the American Derby in 1886. It was of the famous Grinstead stock, a strain which the turfman showed great confidence in. In one year Norfolk won $40,000 in purses. Volante, Sister Mary, Lady Diamond, Verano, Rey El Santa Anita, Americus and Los Angeles were other famous racers of Baldwin's. Rey El Santa Anita won the American Derby in 1895. Americus was sold to Richard Croker and has recently won big money in England.

Baldwin's property holdings in California are very large today. Along in the seventies he leased the property in San Francisco upon which the Baldwin Hotel was built. It was several years after he built the hotel that he bought the land. The Baldwin was the finest hotel in San Francisco, and the favorite. It was the mecca of business, professional men and politicians. Up to the time of its destruction by fire it paid handsomely. Some time ago the hotel land was sold for nearly $1,500,000. With this money Baldwin removed most of the mortgages on his property.

In the later '70s Baldwin acquired by purchase and foreclosure of mortgages his Santa Anita ranch, situated about six miles east of Pasadena, intending to make it headquarters for his stable of race horses.

At this time Temple and Workman, owners of the Temple block, wanted $250,000 for use in some venture, and Baldwin let them have it at 18 per cent. interest, taking as security 40,000 acres of land lying around the original Santa Anita ranch of 13,000 acres. Temple and Workman failed, and after the interest had accumulated until the amount due Baldwin was $400,000 he foreclosed.

Then he turned his eye toward the Santa Anita ranch, held by Heilman. He succeeded in buying it for $175,000, making a total of 53,000 acres. He built Hotel Oakwood which has become a retreat for tourists, and he erected also a little ranch cottage, commodious barns and planted orchards. Later he made the place his home and took active charge of its management.

HIS WONDERFUL RANCH.

The home place comprises 8000 acres and includes 1000 acres of orange orchard, some of the best orange trees in this section being upon it. Half a million dollars has been spent by Baldwin in putting in a complete water system. The little towns of El Monte and Puente were built on the Santa Anita ranch. Some El Monte farmers pay the owner $30 an acre yearly rental. There are also paying oil wells near Puente, belonging to the estate. With these various sources of income from Santa Anita, it is almost impossible to estimate its value—the value of over 50,000 acres of land in the richest portion of the fertile San Gabriel Valley, which is making rapid strides in improvements and general prosperity.

Other possessions are the Clenega rancho, comprising 5000 acres near Agricultural Park, on the southwestern outskirts of Los Angeles, much of it being improved and on an electric road, the Gold Mountain gold and silver mine, near San Bernardino, and about 6000 acres of timber land in that vicinity. There is also city property in San Francisco and on North Spring street in Los Angeles. One of the best paying investments is the Tallac Hotel at Lake Tahoe and 6500 acres of land surrounding the hostelry. The Tallac is one of California's leading summer resorts, accommodating 250 guests.

The Hotel Oakwood, on the Santa Anita ranch, catches the winter tourists. In the spring the Oakwood closes, and the same manager opens the Tallac. On the Santa Anita ranch are 700 head of race horses, and upon different ranges are many head of cattle and some 30,000 sheep. So the turfman is a millionaire several times over.

Baldwin's marital relations were varied. He, as a rule, married four times. His first and third wives died. He was divorced from the second wife, and she was allowed $3,000,000 by the courts. She has since died. His present wife, formerly Miss Bennet, to whom he was married in Sacramento a few years ago, is a young woman under 30, who has lived for the past eighteen years at his San Francisco home, Nob Hill, California street. Two daughters were born to Baldwin—Clara, by his first wife, and Anita by a second wife.

The first child was married four times, first to a man named McMathews; then she became Mrs. Snyder. In her third venture she married Bud Doble, the famous driver who drove Nancy Hanks when that horse broke the trotting record. Doble and his wife were divorced and Mrs. Doble is now married to S. A. Stocker of San Francisco, a noted baritone singer, whose stage name is Stewart Harold. Mr. and Mrs. Doble had one child, now married to W. S. Mullender of San Francisco. Baldwin's second daughter, by his second wife, was Miss Anita Baldwin, named for the Santa Anita ranch, and she is now the wife of a San Francisco lawyer, F. S. McClaughry, of the firm of Fisk and McClaughry.

There are several unsavory stories connected with Baldwin's career. He was sued in a San Francisco court by Miss Lilian Ashley of New York, who claimed a large sum of money for the support of their child. The trial went against the wronged woman, Baldwin's defense showing that she had not been at the time of her intimacy with him all that she represented herself to be. Miss Ashley then took a shot at Baldwin with a revolver as he sat in the courtroom. Her shot went wild, and before she could fire another shot the gun was taken away from her.

With all "Lucky's" faults, he had many personal friends who loved and admired him. He took care of many near and distant relatives and was liked by his thousands of employés.

Baldwin and Party of Relatives and Friends, from a picture taken about six years ago. The young lady leaning on Baldwin's knee is Mrs. Agnes West, wife of one of Baldwin's horse trainers, who has driven his team in the chariot race at the Pasadena Tournament of Roses for several years. She was not Mrs. West then. Clara Stocker, Baldwin's eldest daughter, is standing directly behind him, while Mrs. Kattie Earl, a widow, is standing behind Mrs. West. The other woman is Mrs. Rush, Baldwin's only niece.

As owner of the Santa Anita ranch he was best known in Southern California. The ranch has been for many years a popular drive for tourists. Employing as it did a great many men, among them some Mexicans, it had also a reputation a few years ago for lively fights, cutting scrapes, and even murders. The Mexicans on the ranch were fit the habit of enjoying themselves with "dago red," and almost monthly there was "something doing" at the ranch for the constables to look after. But Baldwin himself put a stop to this, coming from San Francisco after his return from the Alaskan mining country, to take active management of the ranch. He ruled the bad men with a rod of iron. Once two drunken fellows mixed up with an ax and a gun, and Baldwin coolly got the drop on them and ordered them to throw down their weapons, which they did. A book could be written upon the old pioneer's personal encounters of this variety.

THEY'RE OFF!

FAMOUS RACERS "LUCKY" OWNED.

VICTORIES OF RED AND BLACK MALTESE CROSS.

How Noted Turfman Made California Renowned for Its Fast Horses and Some of Prize Winners of His Santa Anita Stable—Baldwin's Story of Remarkable Struggle.

E. J. Baldwin was one of the most famous characters of the American turf, and has been in the limelight as an owner of great race horses from the time he had his first string until he built the track at Arcadia, on a part of his Santa Anita ranch.

Baldwin's advent into the racing game came about through the marriage of his eldest daughter, Clara, to the famous reinsman, Budd Doble, in the '70s. In 1875 "Lucky" Baldwin purchased Rutherford and Grinstead, which had been racers of considerable note in the East, and in this section, too, and placed them in the stud at his Santa Anita ranch. The first-named, among others, sired Lucky B., a horse that won the Louisville Cup in three successive years, and was just beaten by Montana Regent at the fourth essay. Grinstead's fame as a sire was so great in after years that the eyes of horse lovers all over the world turned to California, and the "land of gold" also become known, through the success of Grinstead, as "horse paradise."

Grinstead, long since gathered to his fathers, was by Gilroy (son of Lexington,) out of Sister to Ruric, by Imp. Sovereign. He sired Silver Chord and Volante, winners of the American Derby; Aloha (dam of the American Derby winner, Rey El Santa Anita;) Santiago, which won the Sheridan Stakes and ran second in the American Derby; Gano, Sinaloa III., Grismer, Verano, Santa Ana, Geraldine—in fact, the Grinsteads did more to establish the fact that California has no superior as a breeding ground than any other one thing that we can call to mind.

After the purchase of Grinstead and Rutherford, Mr. Baldwin, through the advice of the late Lewis R. Martin (who for years managed Santa Anita,) secured a number of Gleneig fillies, among them being Clara D., Sister Anne, Jennie B. and Jennie D., and a few mares by Virgil and Monarchist.

It was as the owner of Mollie McCarthy, however, that Mr. Baldwin first became known from ocean to ocean as a turfman of nerve and liberality, for so "sweet" was the California multimillionaire on the bay mare that had won all her races with such consummate ease in this part of the world that he matched the peerless Mollie against Frank Harper's Tom Broeck for $20,000 to run a race of four miles over the Louisville track.

The race was run on July 4, 1878, and the largest crowd ever gathered on Churchill Downs saw the California mare lead by a small margin for two miles and three-quarters, then almost stop, Jockey George Howson dismounting to save her from falling from sheer exhaustion, a victim of the intense heat prevailing at that time. The great mare was beaten, and many thousands of California dollars went into Kentucky coffers, besides the glory of victory.

Afterward the gallant mare won the Garden City Cup at Chicago and other good races, and clearly proved her claim to the title, Queen of the American Turf. The late A. Maillard of Marin county, Cal., bred Mollie McCarthy, but she was purchased by Theodore Winters, and raced in his colors in most of the contests in which she was a participant.

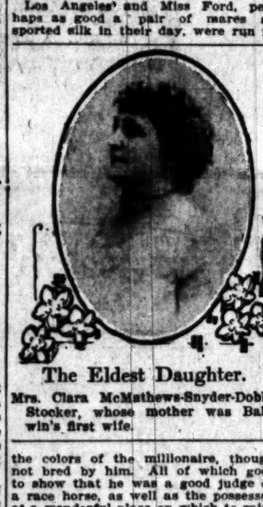
The defeat of Mollie McCarthy by Ten Broeck only served to make the lucky pioneer resolve to breed a champion race horse, and it can, with all truth, be said that no man ever lived and raced such a number of champion racers as did the old owner of Santa Anita.

BLACK AND RED VICTORIOUS.

After Clara D., Jennie B., Jennie D., Experiment, Maggie Emerson and others purchased by Mr. Martin for Millionaire Baldwin had carried the black and red Maltese cross to victory in many notable contests, they were sent to the stud, and from the moment that the first Baldwin string of 3-year-olds was sent out to do battle on the eastern side of the Rockies, in 1882, California became famous as the birthplace of great race horses.

After Gano, Sunday Grismer, Verano and Lucky B. had shown their quality, there came Rapido, Mission Belle, Bolante, Silver Cloud, Bonita, Santa Ana, Santiago, Emperor of Norfolk (purchased for $2500 of Theodore Winters,) Marie Stuart, Fallen Leaf, Goliath, Mollie McCarthy's Last, Cleopatra, Sinaloa III, Geraldine (owned by Porter Ashe,) Aloha, Atlantico II (dam of Crusados and Americano,) Rey el Santa Anita, Rey del Careres, Lady Diamond, Wheel of Fortune, Piscador, Galindo, Ramiro, Formero, Magdalenas, Escalante, and now the phenomenal Crusados and his brother, Americano, for which $20,000 and $12,000, respectively, was refused.

Los Angeles' and Miss Ford, perhaps as good a pair of mares as sported silk in their day, were run in the colors of the millionaire, though not bred by him. All of which goes to show that he was a good judge of a race horse, as well as the possessor of a wonderful place on which to raise young racers.



The Eldest Daughter.

Mrs. Clara McMathews-Snyder-Doble-Stocker, whose mother was Baldwin's first wife.

HIS FOUR DERBIES.

After the death of Grinstead the fame of Santa Anita, though the Emperor many more than ordinary performers in Rey del Careres (Americus in England,) Lady Diamond, Escalante and Cruzados. No other man has ever had the honor of winning four American Derbies (this he did with Volante, Silver Cloud, Emperor of Norfolk and Rey el Santa Anita,) and besides, his horses ran second on two occasions.

Fallen Leaf, by Ginstead—Mollie McCarthy, defeated Buchanan and Audrain, the former winner of the Kentucky Derby, and, therefore, she can be accounted a turf queen. Sinaloa III ran a mile and a quarter in 2:04¼, and was one of the best performers in America. Geraldine won upward of sixty races, and was a record-breaker. Crusados ran seven furlongs in 1:26, carrying 121 pounds, and Mr. Baldwin looked upon him as the fastest horse that ever carried his colors on a race course. For Formero W. S. Sink, Jr., refused $12,000, and this colt was sold at auction for less than $400. And, by the way, Mr. Baldwin sold off his yearlings for three seasons, but discontinued these sales, and raced on a large scale from that time forth.

During the years the Baldwin colors were sported on the various tracks of this country many famous conditioners of race horses trained Santa Anita flyers, among the number Albert Cooper, Bob Thomas, John McClelland, "Bill" Brien, Dow Williams and W. J. Spiers. A good story is told of the first named, who was a colored man, but a high-paiced trainer. Albert had been drawing money as he needed it for several seasons, but one day, when he asked his employer for $50, the millionaire pulled out a memorandum book and said, after going over a column of figures: "All right, Albert, but you are now owing me about $200." The darky looked immensely troubled, and, scratching his woolly pate, remarked: "Aught for aught, figger for figger, all foh de white man an' nuffin' foh de niggah."

HE EDUCATED 'EM.

Baldwin was always willing to talk about his horses. He said one day that when he first began to enter horses, no one knew anything about or had any confidence in animals bred in the West.

"It was not long, however, before the California-bred horse began to make friends in the East," said Baldwin at that time.

"The Emperor of Norfolk educated them in 1888, and Rey el Santa Anita put on the finishing touches in 1894. I bought the Emperor from Winters in Sacramento when he was just coming two years old. There never was a better bred horse, and he confirmed my opinion by winning two derbies in one year. At Chicago he was a 1-to-10-shot and won galloping; at Brooklyn he was left at the post and breezed home ten lengths ahead of the second horse. The Emperor never cared anything about distance; all races were alike to him, and the longer they made them the further off he would win. He was in a class by himself.

"Probably the greatest race of all was the World's Fair Derby, which Rey el Santa Anita won in 1894. He opened up at 100 to 1, but was backed down to 50. With Domino and Senator Grady in the race they did not give Santa Anita a look in, but the westerners remembered the Emperor and played the California colt.

"I was so sure of winning that race that I put a stable boy up—Gene Van Buren. I don't think he ever won a race before that one, and perhaps he never won one afterward. All a boy had to do was to stay on Santa Anita—he would look after all the other details himself.

"Snapper Garrison had the mount on Senator Grady, while Fred Taral was up on Domino. Domino was the hope of the East that day, for he was their idol and all their money went in on him.

"When the word was given, Domino was off in front, his mouth open and Taral sawing at his head. Rey el Santa Anita was knocked to his knees in the first ten yards and dropped back into last position.

"For the first mile Santa Anita hung in next to last position, just galloping. Domino was sizzling along out in front and every one thought the race was over. At the end of that first mile Van Buren took the colt out into the middle of the track and turned him loose. Talk about a finish! I wish you could have seen the way that grand bay fellow went to the front! They say that Rey el Santa Anita was the first horse to crack Domino's skull and he certainly ran the eyeballs out of the eastern favorite that day.

"Taral told me about it afterward. 'I was pounding along in front with Domino,' said he, 'and all at once I heard a horse coming to me on the outside. I knew it wasn't Grady but before I could turn my head to see, he was by me like a flash and there was that red maltese cross staring me in the face! Why sir,' said Taral, 'Rey el Santa Anita went by us as if we were tied to the rail! I never saw a horse run such a last quarter in my life!'

"Taral had Domino under wraps until he heard my horse coming and then such a cutting and a slashing you never saw in your life! But there wasn't a chance—Rey el Santa Anita simply galloped to the wire and Van Buren was pulling him up at the finish.

"The hardest race I ever won? The Latonia Derby, won by my mare Los Angeles. She was the best mare that ever carried the red and black and there have been many good ones. That Latonia race was run deep in the mud and she ran a dead heat with White. They wired me at Kansas City:

"'Dead heat. What do you want to do? Split the purse?'

"I wired back, 'No. Run it off.' You see, I knew that mare. They ran it off and Los Angeles won by a city block. That race killed White for he never was fit to run afterward.

WORKED FOR SUCCESS.

"Why do they call me 'Lucky' Baldwin? That's a hard one. Lots of people never gave me credit for being anything else but a lucky man, but I have worked hard for every bit of success which has come my way.

"It was my 'luck' which broke up cup racing the year Lucky B was at his best. Lucky B was a great two-year-old and he won all the two-year-old cups. Why, after I beat Governor Bowle's best two-year-old, he protested and insisted that a veterinary examine my colt! He thought I was racing a 3-year-old against him!

"It was so easy for me to win races at one time that I used to play with them. I got a funny notion once in Washington that I would like to see my horses finish one, two, three. So I put three of them in a stake race and then ran one, two, three, just as I thought they would. Ed Corrigan came over to me after that race and though he was laughing at the time there was an undercurrent in his tone which made it plain to me that the Master of Hawthorne was not exactly pleased.

"'See here Baldwin,' said he, 'Don't you think that running 'em one, two, three, is kind of acting the hog? Don't try to win EVERYTHING, you know! Leave something for the rest of us!'"

AMERICAN MONEY WORKING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

MESSINA, March 1.—The work of construction of wooden houses with material sent out from the United States or purchased with American money to shelter the earthquake survivors is progressing favorably under the direction of Lieutenant-Commander Reginald Pierre Belknap, the American naval attaché at Berlin and Rome. The lack of carts and horses has made the transportation of lumber from the dock to the point of erection both slow and expensive. It costs $4000 to deliver enough lumber to build 500 houses. It has been decided to build 1000 houses at Messina, 1000 at Reggio and 100 at the settlement called Regina Elena, the village three miles from here being constructed under the personal direction of Queen Helena.

Mrs. Anita Baldwin-McClaughry,

ROMANCE.

HIS GIRL WIFE HAD PATIENCE.

DEVOTION OF LITTLE WOMAN NEVER LESSENED.

Through the Years of Over Two Decades Mrs. Baldwin Stuck by Husband in Spite of "Affinities," Ready Always to Welcome Him to Her San Francisco Home.

Old-timers living in the vicinity of Baldwin's Santa Anita ranch, who have watched the romance of the last twenty-five years of his life, sympathize greatly with his widow, Mrs. Baldwin, nee Bennett, and they are loud in their appreciation of her loyalty to him, in the face of many trying incidents.

Mrs. Baldwin was only 15 years old at the time of her marriage with "Lucky," twenty-three years ago. She was just an unsophisticated little school girl, and made friends with all the other girls in the neighborhood. This was about the time the town of Monrovia was laid out, the land on which it stands having been sold by a syndicate, and every afternoon the bride would ride over to visit the girls living there. On these trips she nearly always wore a white dress and a pink sunbonnet.

For a year after she married Baldwin, this little girl was queen of the ranch. Baldwin fitted up the mansion in which he lived to the end as a clubhouse, and furnished it magnificently for the benefit of his little bride. Then came a change; the ever-fickle "Lucky" found a new "affinity."

Mrs. Baldwin's mother had always been with her at the ranch, and when the latter, who was more wise in the ways of the world, saw how things were going, she took her daughter and went to San Francisco.

With the aid of her mother, Mrs. Baldwin made Baldwin "come to time," and he established her in a magnificent home in San Francisco, and issued orders to the management of his then famous Baldwin Hotel, to look after her every need. When she gave a party the best caterers of that establishment were in attendance, and she lived royally.

Mrs. Baldwin has occupied this San Francisco home for the past twenty years, and in all that time she never made reference to the actions of her husband, who stayed at the ranch most of the time, surounded by "affinities."

When Baldwin chose to visit his San Francisco home he found Mrs. Baldwin always ready to welcome him. She never mentioned his long absences, but treated him as though he had left only the day before, although once he was away from her nearly four years.

During all this time Mrs. Baldwin has had her mother with her and she never gave Baldwin the slightest grounds for a suit for divorce, although it is generally known that he had her watched by private detectives for months at a time.

When Mrs. Baldwin visited the ranch, which was at long intervals, she absolutely ignored everybody that bore any semblance to an "affinity," and did her visiting with Mrs. Anita McClaughry, Baldwin's daughter by his third wife, and her husband.

The way in which Mrs. Baldwin bore up under the strain has been the wonder of all who know her. But those who have become more closely acquainted have noted the undercurrent of sorrow in her life. To a few she has confessed how hard the struggle has been, but she gives most of the credit to her mother, Mrs. Bennett, who, she says, has been both mother and father to her, since the death of Mr. Bennett nearly twenty years ago.

What is said to be the first cargo of oats to arrive at any port in the United States from abroad, is carried on the steamship St. Quentin, which arrived in Boston from Buenos Ayres Sunday. There are 200,000 bushels of the oats, which will be delivered this week in New York. Neither the consignee nor the consignor was known here as the grain was shipped "to order."

FESTIVE.

IS READY FOR SKYROCKETS.

Yuma Is Going to Celebrate Opening of Dam.

Mr. Taft Is Asked to Be Present at Fete.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

YUMA (Ariz.) Feb. 27.—Yuma is going to celebrate the completion of the Laguna dam March 30, and there seems little doubt that the dam will be ready for the ceremony by that date. The crest wall of the dam is finished. The lower wall is to be done within ten days.

Nearly all the rock filling between the walls hase been put in place, as well as a large area of the cement paving which covers the rock filling and connects the concrete walls. About half the rock that is to be dumped in for the apron of the dam is already quarried and the quarries will close in a few days.

The work now being done is finishing the dam in the stretch through which the river formerly flowed, a distance of about 700 feet. The dam is low down in the river bed, broad and flat, designed for the passage over its crest of the greatest flood, backing up the water and diverting it into the canals on either side without any design toward storage.

Something of a lake will be formed, however, and the Yuma Commercial Club has appointed a committee to secure a location of a game preserve. If permission can be secured and the Laguna lake can be preserved to the sportsman, wild rice and asparagus will be sown to attract the water fowl and a clubhouse will be built.

PRESIDENT INVITED.

About $2000 is to be expended in celebrating the completion of the dam. Special rates are to be given from all points in Arizona and from Los Angeles. At noon of March 31 there will be a barbecue at the dam, followed by addresses and singing, with fireworks in the evening at Yuma. Special invitations have been extended to President Roosevelt, President-elect Taft, Secretary Garfield, Gov. Kibbey and other notables.

It is a matter of pride that although the work was started much later than the Roosevelt dam, it will be finished nearly a year in advance of the completion of that structure. The dam has been finished, however, in advance of the canal system. The canals on the reservation, on the California side, are about half done, about twenty-five miles of construction of Indian ditches yet remaining. It is expected that work on the great siphons under the Colorado below the Yuma railroad bridge will be begun as soon as the summer floods are over.

The business men of Yuma approve the memorial introduced by Speaker Webb in the Territorial Legislature, looking toward the dredging of the lower Colorado for navigation between this point and the gulf, and the Commercial Club, by resolution, has thanked Mr. Webb and Councilman Hampton for their services in securing the passage of the deep water memorial to Congress.

WANT COLORADO BRIDGED.

The Supervisors of Imperial county, California, last week journeyed to Yuma to confer with the Supervisors of this county over the question of securing a bridge across the Colorado, to be built by Congress. As a result of the conference, requests have been made by the two boards asking that $200,000 be appropriated for a free wagon bridge across the Colorado at Yuma. The Colorado is spanned by three railroad bridges, but the only other way to cross, is by means of ferries at Yuma, Ehrenburg, Parker and Needles. While here, the Californians were entertained by a banquet at the Southern Pacific Hotel, attended by about sixty townspeople besides the visitors. The party already had been shown the Laguna dam and been driven through the agricultural section around Yuma.

Though Congress has authorized a bond issue of $50,000 for the building of a Courthouse for Yuma county, the amount is considered too small for the erection of a proper building and there is no likelihood of an election on the proposed bond issue for some time to come, if at all.

Mayberry & Parker of Los Angeles have drawn plans for a three-story fireproof building for the local lodge of Elks. The structure, which is to cost $32,000, will contain a theater with seating capacity of 1000.

A tragic coincidence happened yesterday at the Hotel Gandolfo, when two messages were brought to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Holbrook. One message told of the death of Mr. Holbrook's father and the other of the death of the father of Mrs. Holbrook. Both cases were unexpected.

DEATH ENDS DISPUTE.

At Laguna Dam a few days ago Domingo Quiros was killed by Victor Rios at the close of a dispute over a horse race. Rios then emptied his revolver at the two sons of Quiros, but missed them both. Rios fled, but was soon run down by a posse of citizens and sent to Yuma for safe keeping. He has been turned over to the Imperial county authorities for examination.

F. T. Robertson, former District Attorney, and C. A. Seay, late city editor of the Yuma Sun, have purchased the Yuma Enterprise and will conduct it as an independent paper.

Alfalfa cutting was begun several weeks ago in the Yuma Valley and the first crop is reported to be very satisfactory. Samples of barley from the Yuma Valley already show a height of five feet, and strawberries are ripe.

Mrs. A. L. Roberts of Los Angeles was a late arrival in Yuma and will take up her residence on a homestead location near this city.

MOST ORIGINAL SHOW.

Salt Lake Minstrels, at Mason Opera-house, Give Laughable and Novel Entertainment.

The most original of the recent minstrel shows was the affair given by the office force of the Salt Lake Railway at the Mason Operahouse last night.

According to the first plans, the opening set was to be a railway station and a passing train, with trunks thrown therefrom. But the artist did not deliver the scenery, hence people and "props" had to make up for its absence—which they did very well.

From a variety of trunks, thrown heterogeneously upon the stage, the whole minstrel band popped forth. The end men were in the complete costume of dining-car chefs, while the minstrel body proper were in dining-car waiter uniforms. Interlocutor Ralph Wray was in a regulation conductor's uniform.

Several sudden cases of illness depleted, but did not mar the show. Interlocutor "Dug" White has been ill for several days, and was able to appear neither at San Bernardino or here. Miss Edna Mason, who was a stellar feature in Charley Pike's act, was taken ill with a cold yesterday and, accordingly, the city passenger agent acted not at all, much to the disappointment of a large majority of the house.

However, the show proceeded with alacrity, and many of the features were very novel, notably the "Los Angeles Limited, on Time," in which Conductor Wray conducted a train of trunks, with a variety of enlivening specialties, in the aisle between.

Principals of the first part were J. G. Graves, T. G. Roberts, George C. Terry, H. C. Thomas, L. A. Reynolds, W. B. Day and H. C. Cronkhite.

The second part opened with an amusing skit, "The Sporting Editor," played by E. J. Booth, Jr.; Miss Agnes Brown, Emmet Eby and Cary J. Wilson.

This was followed by the "Dogtown Quintette," composed of Messrs. Terry, Platt, Reynolds, Huesman and Zantow. After this, Bart and Sheridan Wheeler gave a fine exhibition of different styles of dancing.

L. A. Reynolds's "Salome" stunt, in which, under the name of "La Enchilada," and equipped with junk varying from damaged bridal veils to kitchen utensils, he did the Gertrude Hoffman act in more than Hoffman intensity, was one of the large laugh-producers of the evening.

The concluding number was "The Big Swamp Bogie Man," a musical skit by Roy D. Smith, Miss Bertha Tappe and the entire company.

E. C. Kammermeyer led the enlarged orchestra.

A large and enthusiastic audience of friends and sympathizers greeted the energetic amateurs.

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Ebell and Science.

Members of Ebell Club and their guests were entertained with a very interesting lecture yesterday afternoon by Dr. Theodore Comstock, the noted scientist.

"The signs of the times," the speaker said, "unmistakably point toward the conclusion that the world everywhere is being leavened with the idea of universal brotherhood. The tendency is plainly to better, brighter, loftier and worthier standards."

Dr. Comstock is plainly an optimist. He said that the world really contains but two types of people, optimists and pessimists. The latter walk with downcast eyes, contemplating the woes of the past, unable to enjoy the beauties within the immediate horizon. They flounder and stick in the mud, until some optimist looms up and digs them out. The optimist moves cheerily on. He sees and hears and tastes and smells and thrills. Of course he stumbles sometimes, and often stubs his toe, but he doesn't spend much time whining over it.

Mrs. Taft was cited as an example of the influence of hopeful faith. Dr. Comstock met her while she was in attendance at a young ladies' school in Cincinnati, of which he was one of the instructors. "She was possessed of a charm of manner and a gentle courtesy, which combined to make a strong character, and she taught unconsciously a lesson of value in my life," said he. Much of Mr. Taft's great accomplishment, the speaker said, has been due to his wife's quiet strength of character.

The "Signs of the Times" Dr. Comstock sums up in this wise: "First, there is a spirit of unrest in all classes, a feeling of dissatisfaction with existing adjustments. Second, there is quickening of the public pulse and a tendency to higher standards of business mortality. Third, the nations are struggling as hard to preserve peace as formerly they strove in war. Fourth, transportation and telegraphic communication have shortened distance and brought the nations of the world in close touch. Fifth, hackneyed creeds and narrow bigotry are gradually giving away to broader and loftier conceptions of truth. Sixth, education is becoming more free and higher in its aims and results. Seventh, the minerals, gases and their ilk are yielding material for every need of man."

Next Monday Frank G. Tyrrell will fill the programme at the Ebell with a lecture. His subject will be "The Romance of the Desert."

Mrs. Merrill Moore Gregg will give a reading of Browning's "Saul" Monday, the 15th inst.; to this there will be a musical setting, arranged and played by Miss Fannie Dillon.

Two delightful plays will be the entertainment for Monday, the 22d. These will be given by Hobart Bosworth and his pupils. "Primley's Select Party," written by Walter H. Nichols, and "Roland, or His Oliver," are the plays selected. The last is from the pen of Thera Smith.

The 29th inst. Mrs. A. Blandini will tell the fascinating story of the old pueblo days of California. Gen. Johnstone Jones is also on this Monday programme and his subject will be "Old California."

Wednesday Morning.

The March calendar for the Wednesday Morning Club is a business meeting at 2 o'clock tomorrow, after which there will be a programme of music and an address by Mrs. Rose Burcham, whose subject will be "Women in Business."

Next Monday at 10 a.m. the Shakespeare section will meet. "Julius Caesar" will be the subject of the morning's lesson, with Mrs. H. E. Brett as leader. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon a lecture will be delivered by Mrs. Helen Elliott Bandini, the subject of which is to be "San Gabriel Mission and Pueblo of Los Angeles."

The Shakespeare section will meet on the 17th inst. Comparison of the orations of Brutus and Antony will occupy the members, which will be lead by Mrs. H. E. Brett. In the afternoon "Cherry Blossom Day" will be celebrated under the direction of Mrs. A. Glasgow.

Acts IV and V of "Julius Caesar" will be the study of the Shakespeare section the morning of the 24th inst., and in the afternoon there will be a lecture by Mrs. Helen Elliot Blandini, entitled "The Footsteps of the Stranger."

The Shakespeare section will review and discuss the play of "Julius Caesar" on the 31st. In the afternoon "Reciprocity Day" at Alhambra will be observed.

Parent-Teacher Association.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Twenty-fourth-street school will meet this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the schoolhouse. Mrs. Willoughby Rodman will address the members on "Playgrounds."

KEEP NEWS FROM HUSBAND.

Martin Nelson, who was run down and severely injured by a Covina car of the Pacific Electric line at the San Bernardino road crossing Sunday, was reported to be resting easily at the Pacific Hospital yesterday.

He sustained a fracture of both legs and probably received internal injuries. He has not been told that his wife, who was with him, was killed, and the physicians are waiting until he becomes stronger before breaking the sad news.

An inquest over the body of Mrs. Nelson will probably be held this morning by Coroner Hartwell.

ARBOR DAY.

A meeting of the Arbor Day Committee will be held this morning at 11 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce to complete the programme for the Arbor Day celebration, which will be held Saturday in honor of Luther Burbank, that date being his birthday. The celebration will be in Sunset Park. This being a new park, and no trees or shrubbery have yet been planted there, which is the main reason for going there. Exercises will be held Friday afternoon at Echo Park playground, in which all of the children of the grammar schools in the northwestern part of the city will take part.

MIX FOR LAME BACK

To one-half pint good whiskey, add one ounce syrup sarsaparilla and one ounce Toris compound, which can be procured from any druggist. Take in teaspoonsful doses before each meal and before retiring. This recipe is never-failing. Leading specialists prescribe it.

Not only will this formula promptly relieve the muscular pains but it also makes one of the most effective system builders known to the profession It will increase the appetite and if use is continued will restore full physical vigor to all persons of failing strength, especially the decline caused by age.

It is surely worth trying by anyone who may be afflicted.

PASADENA.

RISE IN RANKS ALONG BANKS.

FIFTEEN THOUSAND TREES ARE PLANTED BY RANGERS.

Reforesting of Arroyo Seco Well Started—Miss Una Stokes, Accused of Forgery, Held for Trial on Thousand Dollars Bail—Many Guests at Tower-Warren Wedding.

Office of The Times, No. 24 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, March 2.—Fifteen thousand trees, mostly small pines of the Jefferies and Colter varieties, have been set out by Ranger Stanchfield and his men along the banks of the Arroyo Seco during the winter. Next winter as many more will be started. Arrangements have already been made, also, for placing thousands of trees along the cañon year after next, so that within a few years pine trees will be spread along it for miles "in every place that a pine tree can grow," as the ranger said.

The reforestration of the Arroyo Seco has been advocated ever since Pasadena was started, and now that the work is being done it is a source of considerable pride for those who have the interest of Pasadena's water supply at heart.

Fire breaks are being constructed along the ranges flanking the arroyo in order to protect the new trees from fire, and it will be the endeavor of the authorities to restrict campers in this section sufficiently to avoid fire by accident. New trails which were built last season from Mount Lowe down to the head of the Arroyo will go far toward protecting the district.

GIRL HELD FOR TRIAL.

Miss Una Stokes was held on $1000 bail for trial in the higher court on a charge of forgery, following her preliminary hearing in Justice Klamroth's court yesterday morning. Thomas Thornton of Los Angeles represented the defendant, and Asst. Dist.-Atty. Keyes appeared for the prosecution. Three witnesses, Miss Harriett Ivens of Riverside, whose account the defendant is alleged to have tampered with, J. H. Booge, teller, and A. E. Edwards, cashier of the First National Bank, were called.

Miss Ives and Miss Stokes roomed in the same house on North Fair Oaks avenue for a time in the latter part of 1908, and during this period Miss Stokes is alleged to have cashed checks amounting to $190 on which the name of the prosecuting witness was forged.

AGAINST STREET OPENING.

Residents of East Pasadena will be represented by a committee from the East Side Improvement Association in a protest against the opening of Walnut street, between Lake and Meredith avenue, when the question comes up before the City Council at its regular meeting this morning. The question of opening the street was put to a vote last night, and out of nearly 200 persons present it is asserted 99 per cent. were against the proposed improvement. A. W. Hookaway, L. S. Slosson, C. C. Long and George A. Bodem were appointed as a committee to go before the Council.

It is also announced that at the next meeting of the association the question of a new fire engine will be discussed. There is considerable complaint among the residents at the lack of fire protection in that quarter of the city, a chemical engine being the only equipment.

Miss Kathryn Warner will return next Sunday to her former position as first soprano in All Saints' Episcopal Church. She will be welcomed back after a rest of nearly six months, and will be heard in the music arranged for during the Lenten season, as well as at Easter time.

Miss Warner is a graduate of Pasadena High School and is at present studying under William Shakespeare of London, Eng., who is in Los Angeles for a short stay.

TOWER-WARREN.

The marriage of Miss Grace Hortense Tower and John Trenholm Warren of Honolulu was solemnized yesterday evening at the First Baptist Church by Rev. Robert J. Burdette, assisted by Rev. Albert Hatcher Smith, in the presence of several hundred invited guests.

Cathedral candles illuminated the church with soft radiance, and the heavy fragrance of dozens of annunciation lilies mingled with the delicate odor of sweet peas. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out with sweet peas, and quantities of ferns and other greenery were used in decorating the church. Bay trees lined the aisle down which the bridal party passed, and from pew to pew arches were raised of asparagus plumosus, from which were suspended white wedding bells.

Miss Alice Coleman furnished organ music for one-half hour before the ceremony, which was performed at 8:30 o'clock. The bridal party entered to the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin," the ushers leading. These were Messrs. Huntington and Parish Barker of Pasadena, Tom Ridgway of Los Angeles, Weston Clarke of Hollywood, Lewis Freeman, Dr. J. H. McKellar, Herbert Brown of Pasadena, and Dr. Herbert L. True of Los Angeles.

Following them came the first bridesmaid, Miss Elizabeth McMechen, cousin of the bride, who walked alone, then Misses Jessie Earley and Helen Weingarth. The maids' gowns were white chiffon cloth over white satin embroidered with sprays of thistle in silver, and each wore a silver thistle ornament in her hair. The bridesmaids' bouquets were pink sweet peas and ferns, arranged fin a shower. Miss Ellen Lowry, the maid of honor, followed, and wore an exquisite gown of pink messaline, trimmed with silver lace. She also carried a shower of sweet peas.

The bride was immediately preceded by little Winifred Warren, who acted as flower girl, gowned in white and carried a basket of Cecile Bruner roses. The bride wore a handsome princess gown of white ivory satin, with rose point yoke and garniture of seed pearls. Her tulle veil was edged with Honiton lace, and fastened with orange flowers. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley, and an ivory-bound prayerbook, from which the service was read.

At the altar the bride was met by the groom, who was attended by his brother, Thomas Warren, who acted as best man. After the ceremony an informal reception was held for the bridal party alone; at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Pinney of South Euclid avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren left last evening for a brief wedding journey, and will return to Pasadena for several days before sailing for Honolulu, where they will be at home to their friends after April 15.

who is to return as soprano soloist to All Saints' Episcopal Church, Pasadena.

where she has made an enviable reputation in the newspaper world, having been associated for several years with the Pasadena News. She has also achieved a reputation as a magazine writer, and her work is well known in eastern and western periodicals. Mr. Warren is the son of Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Warren of Berkeley, who were present at the wedding, and is engaged in business in Honolulu, where he is building a handsome home for his bride.

ELABORATE DINNER.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Curtin of Colorado Springs, who arrived at Hotel Green yesterday, gave an elaborately-appointed dinner in the colonial dining-room of the hotel last evening, where covers were laid for twelve. A table bore, on a large Cluny lace centerpiece, a number of freesias and pink gillyflowers, combined with maidenhair ferns. Pink-shaded candles in crystal candlesticks completed the pretty effect. Mrs. Curtin is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Adelbert Fenyes of this city, and she and her husband are prominent in social circles here and in Colorado Springs. Their guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Harrison I. Drummond, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Spaulding, the latter formerly Miss Elsa Behr; Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Groenendyke, Mrs. John W. Hugus, Miss Echo Allen, and Messrs. B. C. Allen and C. M. MacNeill of Colorado Springs.

Miss Wade, who is a guest at the Green, entertained yesterday afternoon with a charming sweet-pea luncheon in the Dutch room. The shades were drawn and the room lighted by rose-shaded waxen tapers, which rose from a mound of pink sweet peas and ferns in the center of the table. Other candles were used about the room. The guests were: Miss Conrey, Miss F. Wade, Miss Bennsing, Mrs. Barham, Miss Law, Miss Mellers and Mrs. Hodgeman.

Monday is receiving day for the ladies of the Green, and yesterday a large number called. Tea was served in the Moorish parlors, where the tea table was charming with a basket of pink sweet peas on the Cluny lace cloth and pink-shaded tapers in crystal candlesticks. Mrs. W. L. Parrotte and Mrs. Theodore Shaw of Chicago presided over the tea cups.

CANVASS ELECTION RETURNS.

Assistant City Attorney Henberger left last night for Sacramento with the returns from the recent bond election. He will look after the resolutions bringing the amendments to the charter, voted at the recent election, before the Legislature.

It was found when the votes were canvassed by the Council yesterday that all but three of the twenty-two amendments carried. No. 21, providing for the election of Councilman by wards; No. 17, providing for raising the Mayor's salary, and No. 12, changing the means of collecting taxes, were defeated. The doubtful amendments passed were Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 18, the first two providing for the removal of restrictions as to the Council enforcing the State law in certain civic matters, No. 3 providing for the planting and maintaining of grass plots by the city when petitioned for by a majority of the frontage on the street, and No. 18 allowing the Councilmen an increase of salary from $3 to $5 a meeting.

NERVY BURGLAR REAPPEARS.

Another daylight burglary was reported to the police yesterday. On Sunday morning, while the family were at church, a man entered the home of Dr. G. C. Sharpe at No. 148 West California street, gaining entrance by using the latch key, which Mrs. Sharpe hid just as she was leaving for church. As in the case of the robbery on Oakland avenue two weeks ago Sunday, the man went through the bureau drawers. He secured $6 in money, belonging to Miss Hartman, a teacher, who resides at the house, but overlooked her watch. He took timepieces belonging to Mrs. Sharpe and her mother-in-law.

The man was seen by a neighbor, and is said to have been well dressed. He rode a wheel.

WEEK OF SPORTS.

Although plans have not been completed for the week of sports being arranged by a number of prominent men, it is almost certain that the Chicago White Sox will appear in a baseball game here, probably with the Los Angeles team. It is also understood that another attempt to go across the continent by means of the Ferris balloons in United States and America, will be started from Tournament Park and that Roy Knabenshue will give demonstrations with his airship at the park. The full programme is to be announced this week and provision is being made for an exhibition by the Out West Club.

GAINS MUCH IN PASADENA.

Pasadena has not only contributed about $2500 in money, but two of the brightest boys in the city, to the Mission to Fishermen. George Baer, son of President Baer of Occidental College, and Thaddeous Jones of Pasadena High School, will accompany Wilfred Grenfell, the noted missionary, on his summer cruise to Labrador, and help him in his work there. They will go to Boston early in the summer, where they will join a party of five others and sail by special launch to Labrador. They will return to Pasadena in time for school in the fall.

At the meeting in the Presbyterian Church, Sunday night, $1000 was pledged to the work of Dr. Grenfell and this makes practically $5000 which has been contributed during the past week in Southern California.

Notice was yesterday served on residents to the effect that hereafter all garbage will be collected free of charge. This is one of the first steps toward carting the stuff to the sewer farm, where it will be fed to the hogs owned by the city.

PASADENA NEWS NOTES.

There will be a band concert in Central Park at 2:30 o'clock p.m.

The qualifying rounds for the Eaton cup tournament will be played today on Annandale Golf Club course. The best sixteen scores will bring the owners match play.

A horse, bearing the marks of a hard fall and scramble through brush, rushed out of the Arroyo late Sunday, but the owner has not been found. As the saddle was covered with dry mud, it gave rise to the theory that perhaps an accident had befallen the rider in the mountains. The Humane Society is investigating.

RICH LINING TO HIS VEST.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

MONROVIA, March 1.—A supposed pauper dying worth $300,000 and with thousands of dollars in his pocket, was Daniel Sheridan, a coal miner, whose end came at Danville, Ill., a few days ago, according to a dispatch from that place. A nurse at St. Elizabeth's Hospital there felt something like a paper in the lining of a shabby coat which Sheridan had worn. Investigation resulted in the discovery of more than $20,000 in bills in the coat and vest lining, and deeds to an 800-acre farm near Cisana Park, Ill. Two hundred acres near Worthington, Ind., belong to his estate, which is valued at $300,000.

Robert Lynch, a cousin, who went from Monrovia, to attend the supposed pauper's funeral, says Sheridan left home twenty years ago because of an unhappy love affair, and kept his whereabouts secret. Sheridan was buried in an $1800 casket. His brother, Robert, died a few years ago in Central Illinois, leaving $2,200,000.

BAPTISTS ACCEPT SITE.

Members of Pomona Church Agree on Location and Price for Ground for New Building.

POMONA, March 1.—At yesterday's meeting of the First Baptist Church the members voted to consummate the purchase of the property at the corner of Holt and Garey avenues as a location for their new house of worship for a consideration of $21,500. This property consists of 200 feet on Holt avenue and 155 feet on Garey avenue, the corner belonging to Mrs. Cyrus Burdick, who will receive $12,500 and the lot adjoining on the north belonging to F. E. Graham who will receive $5000. J. W. Bowyer and T. B. Stone, committee on church building funds, reported that they had received subscriptions from eleven members amounting to $27,650 and expect to secure $20,000 or $25,000 more. The lots will be bought at once and plans for the edifice will be taken up later.

ENDEAVOR INSTITUTE.

The Christian Endeavor Institute opened at the Congregational Church this afternoon with a good attendance. The sessions will continue through three days.

Miss Nellie Shuck, daughter of Rev. D. D. Shuck of East San Bernardino avenue, was wedded to W. I. Johns yesterday afternoon at the home of her father. Mr. and Mrs. Johns, after a short wedding trip, will reside on West Fifth avenue here.

Ever been to Arrowhead Hot Springs, San Bernardino? Plan to spend a few days there.

OCEAN PARK.

OCEAN PARK, March 1.—James F. Tenney died this morning at his home on Altair avenue, in the canal section of Venice. Deceased, who was 69 years of age, was a thirty-second degree Mason. He leaves a widow. He made his home at the beach for four years. The funeral service will be held at the residence Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lyman of Hastings, Neb., are visiting their daughter, Mrs. J. J. Judson, of Grand avenue.

O. L. Cox of Salt Lake City is spending a brief vacation at the seaside.

George Austin and Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Holbrook of Salt Lake City are spending a few days here.

Cribb & List of Los Angeles, owners of ocean front property near Pier avenue, will this week begin the erection of a single-story brick business house. The structure will have a frontage of forty feet, and will cost $3000.

MUNICIPAL ECONOMY.

SALARIES CUT IS GIVEN IMPETUS.

PROJECT TO REDUCE TAXES IN LONG BEACH.

Ordinances Introduced in City Council Will, According to One Member, Save for the Taxpayers About Twelve Thousand Dollars Per Year in Wages Alone—Petty Thefts.

LONG BEACH, March 1.—The project of reductions in salaries of municipal offices gained a good deal of impetus at the City Council meeting this morning. Ordinances having that in view were introduced by Councilman Harriman.

In presenting the measures Harriman pointed out that the city charter does not provide for assistants, save in certain instances. He quoted from the State law that where salaries of any municipality are fixed they shall not be raised during the existing incumbency, and quoted court decisions which held, in effect, that the appointing of an assistant in any office was, in effect, raising the salary of that office in violation of the law, and the City Auditor was liable on his bond for every warrant paid out in excess of the specified salary of any office, or payment might be enjoined by any taxpayer. Another act, however, gave the Council the right to appoint such extra help as might be needed in any office from time to time.

The ordinances introduced reduce the salaries of the members of the Board of Public Works from $1200 to $1000 per annum, and place that body in charge of inspection of electric lighting and wiring, plumbing and building, abolishing those offices. They also abolish all assistant officers in every department, providing that all clerks, deputies and inspectors shall be appointed as needed by the Council. Another ordinance also abolishes the office of Mayor's clerk. An ordinance doing away with the salary of the chief engineer of the fire department by making the office honorary was rejected on its first reading, and the ordinances abolishing the office of captain of police was held up, because Councilman Baldwin said it savored of politics, because the first man on the list of eligibles is a brother of the chief, and he desired to investigate the matter.

There were several tilts between Harriman, Stearns and Mayor Windham, in which Harriman was accused of doing politics, to which he retorted that he was able to prove every assertion he made. The ordinances introduced will come up next Monday for final action, and if adopted will save the city, says Harriman, about $12,000 a year in salaries alone.

GIRLS' LOCKER BROKEN.

Some time yesterday the girls' locker at the High School was broken open and a dozen padlocks and a bunch of duplicate keys were stolen. Pure meanness is the only reason assigned for the act, which is believed to be in revenge for the taking of steps to stop a series of petty thefts extending over several months.

The City Council this morning adopted a resolution, which will be sent to Assemblyman Berndollar and Senators Savage and Thompson, asking them to oppose the Assembly bills, which place the matter of annexation of county territory by cities entirely in the hands of County Supervisors, who, if after a negative decision, are still importuned to allow the annexation, may then submit the question to a vote of the entire county at the next general election.

The bath-house company has tendered the local Elks the use of their bowling alleys for a tourney tomorrow night, the proceeds of which go to the Elks' fund for the Grand Lodge entertainment. Thirty-eight teams have been entered.

The overturning of an oil lamp caused a blaze in the home of George Mills last night at Fourteenth and Elm streets, which destroyed one room and caused a damage of $250. Neighbors helped remove the furniture, and the fire department confined the fire to one room.

Assistant City Attorney High went before the Supervisors this morning and secured the transfer to the city from the county coffers of $1239.50 road tax paid by the residents of Carroll Park, which was annexed to the city last October.

Co. H, Seventh Regiment, received orders today to prepare for annual inspection on Monday, March 8, by Col. Thomas Wilhelm, U.S.A.

NEW LINE NEARLY READY.

Glendale Branch of the Los Angeles Railway Will Be Finished in a Week.

GLENDALE, March 1.—It is expected that the new railway will be finished in one week. The poles are all placed, ties and rails laid and wires will soon be strung. The rains greatly interfered with the work, some of the grading had to be done all over and ties were uncovered.

The fare at present will be 25 cents for the round trip, which will include transfers in Los Angeles to cars of the Los Angeles Railway system. Passengers will transfer at Eagle Rock only.

Free delivery service improves daily. Mail boxes are being placed on the most frequented corners and there are two deliveries daily in the business district.

The annual meeting of the W.C.T.U. will be held on the 5th inst. at the home of Mrs. Gaylord, First street, and will be an all-day affair. On the 7th inst. a grand union temperance meeting will be held at the Methodist Church, presided over by the pastors.

SANTA MONICA.

SANTA MONICA, March 1.—Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Hicks of Minneapolis are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Clark of Arizona avenue.

Mrs. E. S. McKeighan and Miss Mamie Eversole of Fairbanks, Alaska, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Byrkett of Eighth street.

The revival services, which were held at the Santa Monica Catholic Church last week, were closed with a sermon Sunday night. The meetings were in charge of Redemptorist Fathers from Missouri.

At the Baptist Church a Baraca Bible class was organized by Rev. S. M. White yesterday.

VENICE.

VENICE, March 1.—A committee from the Chamber of Commerce will go to the Machado schoolhouse Thursday evening to confer with the residents relative to the proposal to form a Union High School district. The matter of endeavoring to secure the establishment of a polytechnic school here will be pushed. A committee composed of Messrs. Hanna, Stanwood and Kinney was named by the Chamber of Commerce to have charge of all details preliminary to the formation of the projected district.

The Venice crew of the United States Life Saving Corps will give a ball at the dancing pavilion on the pier Saturday evening.

COUGHING BURST BLOOD VESSEL

Says Danger Avoided and Cures Coughs in Five Hours

A writer for the medical press states that coughing is responsible for the bursting of blood vessels quite frequently. A cough or cold means inflammation (fever) and congestion, and these in turn indicate that the body is full of poisons and waste matter. Simple relief, as found in patent cough medicines, and whisky, often result in more harm than good; as they cause more congestion. A tonic-laxative cough syrup will work marvels and here follows a prescription which is becoming famous for its prompt relief and thorough cures. It rids the system of the cause, except it be consumption. Don't wait for consumption to grasp its victim, but begin this treatment which cures some in five hours. Mix in a bottle, one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times a day. Give children less according to age.

JUMPS AT LAST MOMENT.

Watts Man Narrowly Escapes Death When Engine Hits His Team and Demolishes Wagon.

WATTS, March 1.—T. Heinauer, who lives a mile north of here, narrowly escaped being killed by an engine on the Southern Pacific Railroad this morning at the Nadeau-street crossing, near Florence.

Mr. Heinauer was hauling gravel from the riverbed, and the foot of one of his horses caught between the tracks. The engine was rapidly approaching, and, seeing that he could not extricate the animal, Mr. Heinauer jumped at the last moment. One horse was fatally injured and had to be shot. The wagon was also demolished.

AZUSA.

AZUSA, March 1.—Among the Los Angeles people who have visited Azusa during the past few days are Henry Klein, one of the stockholders of the Azusa Mercantile Company; Henry Streshley, of the Los Angeles postoffice, who, with his wife, spent Sunday with his father, O. Streshley; B. C. Robertson and R. A. Bunch, who called to renew acquaintance with L. B. Shook of the Azusa Pomotropic; E. T. Chase, general agent of the Occidental Life Insurance Company, a brother of Miss Chase of the city schools; Mr. and Mrs. Nordlinger and son, Mr. and Mrs. Klein and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Norton, who were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. A. Katz at luncheon.

B. P. Hoar, secretary of the Vegetable Union of Southern California, and Mrs. Hoar were guests yesterday of the family of Postmaster Houldin.

H. E. Bonner reports the sale of lots 4 and 10, block 11, for G. W. Jones of Pasadena to T. M. Gillenwaters; consideration $800.

Mrs. Ellen Pollard has sold to C. D. Potter lots 6 and 7, block 36; consideration $2500.

AVALON.

AVALON, March 1.—A new wireless outfit placed on the steamer Cabrillo has proven itself to be one of the best steamship equipments on the Pacific Coast. It has been installed by the United Wireless Telegraph Company, and it is believed the operator can, under favorable conditions, hold communication with the Hawaiian Islands.

A record trip was made by the steamer today in crossing the channel, the time being 5h. 58m.

Announcement was made today that 98 per cent. of the property owners have signed the petition recently put into circulation requesting the Supervisors to abandon the avenues and streets and declare them private ways, accessible to the property owners, their guests and patrons only. The petition is drawn out to a great length and states specifically what will be required of the Freeholders' Improvement Association and the Banning Company in the event that it is passed upon favorably by the board.

"Aims Strictly Moral," Say Financiers Seeking Control of Vast Mexican Pulque Trade.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CITY OF MEXICO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gov. Landa Escandoi of the Federal District Pablo Macedo, who promoted the financing of the National railways of Mexico and other large Maguey planters of Mexico, have applied to the Federal government for a concession to give them control of the pulque trade of this city.

Pulque is the national drink of Mexico and is made from the sap or liquid of the maguey plant. The annual sale of pulque in this city alone aggregates in value more than $10,000,000. The daily consumption of the beverage here is about 2500 barrels.

Mr. Macedo denies that his intentions are to form a trust, but says that the purpose of the combine of the pulque growers is strictly moral, and money matters do not enter in the consideration.

The purpose of the combine, he says, is to enforce the sale of pure pulque and to prevent the adulteration with injurious matters. He admits that some of the rules and regulations have been formed, and will be submitted to the Federal district authorities, which, if adopted, will mean that a great many of the smaller pulque shops will be forced out of business.

It is understood that while, for the present, Macedo and others are striving to control the pulque business in the Federal district, their ultimate aim is to control the business of the entire central part of Mexico.

Old Man!

Get Some Life Into You

Don't imagine you are a dead one just because your hair is getting gray. You can be as young as any of them if you'll get some new energy into your tired body.

There's no rational excuse for you grunting and complaining about pains in your back, stiffness in your shoulders and legs, that "tired feeling," weak back, nervousness, indigestion and constipation. It should not be. Nature started you with a constitution that ought to have held you good until you were eighty, and you ought to feel like a boy now. But you have overdone some things and wasted your energy. You still have the constitution, but lack the force. That's electricity, and Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt will restore it.

H. N. Gould, Orange, Cal., says: "I was 58 years old when I began the use of Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt, but now I am 58 years young."

W. G. Beers, Long Beach, Cal., says: "I do not know how I could have lived if I had not received relief from the rheumatism I suffered. I am 70 years of age, and Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt has made me feel as young as I did at 50."

No matter where you live, I can give you the name of some one near you who has been cured by Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt.

Pick out the men who have used Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt and you will see a man of force, men of power and confidence, men who respect themselves and are respected and admired by their fellow-men.

Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt is the electrical invigorating device for infusing electricity into the body. It renews the energy and activity of every weak organ. No chronic disease or weakness can exist where there is plenty of electricity.

Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt does not shock or blister. It generates a steady, unbroken current of electricity. From the first moment the glowing electric stream courses through the nerves and veins, carrying new life and force to every weakened part.

The man does not live who can not be made a better man by the application of Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt. Those who have used it say that it is the grandest remedy of the age.

IMPERIAL COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ACTS.

Gives Notice to Prospective and Actual Visitors to the Valley That Unoccupied Government Land Now Open for Entry Which Is in Probable Line of Irrigation Is Scarce.

EL CENTRO, March 1.—Attempts of Los Angeles speculators to induce people to make entries on lands in Imperial Valley which are considered of doubtful value here and for which they may not obtain water for irrigation for years, if ever, have caused the Imperial County Chamber of Commerce to take action toward protecting and warning such prospective entrymen against "wildcat" schemes. At the last meeting of this body the following was adopted:

"Resolved, that the press of Imperial Valley and the Los Angeles office of the chamber be requested to inform the prospective and actual visitors to the valley that unoccupied government land now open for entry, which is in the probable line of present or future irrigation and subject to filing, is very scarce, and advise interested parties to seek advice from the officers of the Imperial County Chamber of Commerce or from the local chambers of commerce before attempting government filings."

CARNEGIE IS "RAISED."

The Board of Trustees of El Centro has formally accepted the offer of Andrew Carnegie to donate $10,000 for the building of a free public library, and proposes that it will raise $15,000 per year for maintenance if Carnegie will raise his donation to $15,000. W. F. Holt and W. T. Bill have donated to the city four lots on the south side of Olive street, between Fifth and Sixth streets, as a site for the new library. It is hoped that negotiations will progress with such rapidity that the building may be in readiness for use early in the fall.

MAY BUILD CLUBHOUSE.

The women's section of the El Centro Ten Thousand Club has ambitious plans for the building of a clubhouse. It is proposed to erect a one-story California style building, with assembly-room and kitchen, and to fit it up for the club sessions and the use of other societies. The section is also considering the project of becoming sponsor for the aviary which is proposed by Father H. Eummelen for the purpose of propagating the best varieties of singing birds to be turned loose in Imperial Valley.

QUARANTINE RAISED.

State Veterinarian Keane has raised the quarantine against cattle of Imperial county, and they may now be shipped at any season of the year, provided they are certified as free from contagious and infectious diseases by the State Veterinarian or his deputies. The quarantine was imposed several months ago because of the alleged presence of cattle ticks.

IMPERIAL VALLEY BOOKLET.

The Sunset Magazine Homeseekers' Bureau has just issued a new edition of the Imperial Valley Booklet, giving a comprehensive account of this valley and its resources. The booklet is profusely illustrated and contains valuable matter well condensed. It is written by Otis B. Tout, editor of the Calexico Chronicle. An edition of 20,000 will be circulated among prospective homeseekers in this valley.

SCHOOL BONDS SELL.

County Treasurer Paul Boman has sold two sets of school bonds during the past week, for which there were five bidders. The issue of $5000, made by the Heber school district, was sold to Mary E. D. Smith of Opolis, Kan., at a premium of $100.50, and the issue of $6000 by the Calexico school district was taken by the William R. Staats Company of Los Angeles, at a premium of $237.50. An issue of $40,000 by the Imperial Valley High School Union district will be offered immediately.

COUNTY BUSINESS SHOWS GROWTH.

TWENTY PER CENT. ADVANCE SCORE FOR RIVERSIDE.

Recorder's Office Traffic for February One-Fifth Ahead of That for Corresponding Month of Last Year. Number of Mortgage Releases Exceeds Number of New Mortgages.

RIVERSIDE, March 1.—An indication of satisfactory business conditions prevailing in Riverside county is seen in the business of County Recorder Logan's office for the month just closed. The work of the office, as shown by the fees received, was approximately 20 per cent. heavier than for the corresponding month last year.

Never in the history of the county has the recording of deeds formed so large a proportion of the work of the office as at present. In the past month 601 deeds were recorded, or an average of over eighteen a day for every business day of the month. Another significant feature shown by the records is that, in spite of the real estate activity, the number of releases of mortgages exceeded the new mortgages placed. Within the month, 110 mortgages and 118 releases were filed.

Building permits issued in the month of February amounted to $68,455, making a total of $163,747 for the first two months of the year. Construction work on nine new homes began in February. All of the local contractors are figuring on new work, and the prospects are for an unusually busy spring in the building line.

WEST NEWPORT.

WEST NEWPORT, March 1.—The piles and lumber saved from the demolished wharf at Thirty-sixth street have been hauled to the lagoon, where they will be used in the erection of a large bath-house. Other material has already been shipped in and work will immediately be begun.

TEN BAD CHECKS LEFT IN STRING.

WARRANT OUT FOR RANCHMAN OF TUSTIN.

Worthless Paper Amounts to Close to a Thousand Dollars—Meat Market Man, Grocerymen and Other Tradesmen Among His Creditors. Citrus Fruit Growers Fear Scale.

SANTA ANA, March 1.—Frank M. Howard, who owns a five-acre ranch at Tustin, has disappeared, and behind him is a string of ten worthless checks, many unpaid bills and a farm that is mortgaged to the limit or beyond it. A warrant is out for his arrest on a complaint sworn to by W. T. Carter, charging that Howard gave him a check for $25 on the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank of Santa Ana, where he had no funds. Nearly $1000 in bad checks was accepted from Howard by Los Angeles race-track men, and they have been returned to Los Angeles by the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank of this place. Howard owes the Tustin meat market $130, and several groceries and other business houses have him as a creditor. About two weeks ago Howard was arrested, charged with passing a fictitious check at San Pedro, but was not held, the matter being settled.

FEAR SCALE FROM CULLS.

A number of orange and lemon growers along the Santiago Creek have petitioned the Board of Supervisors to put a stop to the practice of some of the packing-houses of dumping cull oranges and lemons in the creek bed. The orchardists say that scale bugs go from the culls to their orchards, which they endeavor to keep clean of fruit pests. The petition will be taken up by the Supervisors within a day or two.

HOODOO HORSE.

'Ewing Bros.' dairy has a hoodoo horse. Some weeks ago the animal ran away, and was much cut up, and the milk wagon was smashed. Saturday evening the team of which the horse was one again ran away, and bottles were demolished. Last night a trace dropped, and the milk team took to flight. At the corner of First and Broadway the wagon went over, and was wrecked. Milk flowed into the gutters.

Sheriff Lacy today sold to G. H. Cheever about fifty-eight acres of river bottom land west of this city, for $3500. The sale was made under execution from Los Angeles county in the case of G. H. Cheever against Elijah Griffith and Stanley J. Castleman, the judgment being for $6966.

A few days spent at Arrowhead Hot Springs will put you in perfect physical shape.

LETS DOWN A BAR.

Palo Verde Mutual Water Company Makes Slight Concession to the Settlers—Valley Notes.

COLORADO CITY, March 1.—The Palo Verde Mutual Water Company has made a small concession to the settlers on government land, outside the Blythe ranch, in the sale of water stock. It will extend the time of payment from three years to five. It is not expected that even this letting down of the bars will insure many sales of water stock at $12 an acre, as the land-owners are required to purchase for all their holdings at once. There are none who can afford it, with so little prospect of railroad transportation for the next few years. There are about 20,000 acres crying for water, with perhaps 1000 in cultivation.

EXCITED OVER ORE.

The Riverside Copper Company officers, operating a mine in the McCoy Mountains, are excited over discoveries of rich gold-bearing ores in some of the deep drifts. They have begun shipping ore to Parker, fifty miles east. J. M. Henderson and C. H. Baldwin of Los Angeles are the managers.

P. H. Bodkin, editor of the Palo Verde Valley News, and pastor of the Methodist Church at Colorado City, is visiting in Los Angeles for a couple of weeks.

People around Rannells are excited over the fact that a party of surveyors has broken the brush for a long distance in that vicinity. Some think the Southern Pacific sent the party.

SETTLERS CROWD IN.

Settlers have been crowding into the valley recently in large number and have homestended about all the available mesa land in township 6, 22. They have the utmost faith in finding water, both for domestic and irrigating purposes.

A. C. Sanderson of Whittier and his son have visited the valley and become financially interested. They bought on the Blythe ranch. Mr. Sanderson is father of Miss Sanderson, who teaches the school at Neighbors.

Homeseekers are crowding to the Blythe ranch. About 12,000 acres have been sold to actual settlers.

The Colorado City Mercantile Company is building a new kind of store here. It is a reinforced adobe veneer. The dried mud bricks are laid up against a wooden frame and nailed into position, after being set in mortar. This insures a cool house and one that will stand up to all sorts of weather.

BRINGS HEIR WITH HER.

Mrs. J. J. Bodkin, wife of the new postmaster at Neighbors, returned to the valley from Los Angeles last week. She brought with her the new heir to her husband's broad acres, Master John Cramer Bodkin, aged one month.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Neighbours returned to the valley last week after an absence of two months spent in Los Angeles.

Notwithstanding all the rains that have visited Southern California this winter our valley has been almost slighted. Two showers are all it has had to its credit so far. The winter weather has been ideal.

G. B. Copelin, Edward and Thomas Kaufmann, all of Los Angeles, are expected in the valley this week to settle in the west side near the Mesa.

LAGUNA.

LAGUNA, March 1.—The "Blackbird," a launch owned by Reuben Shafer of Newport, lies a wreck upon the rocks at this point. Of the property, valued at about $2000, several pieces of barracuda net, which lay on the deck of the launch, were saved.

CORONA, March 1.—The First Baptist Church dedicated its large addition yesterday with special services. The Sunday-school and B.Y.P.U. also held sessions in keeping with the other meetings.

The out-of-town speakers were D. P. Ward of Pasadena, State Sunday-school Missionary; Rev. W. H. Randall of Riverside, a former pastor; Rev. George F. Holt, D.D., of Riverside; Rev. A. L. Wadsworth of Pasadena, and Rev. H. Russell Greaves, D. D., of Los Angeles, corresponding secretary and general missionary of the Southern California Baptist Convention. Special music was in charge of Mrs. Juliet Powell Rice. Misses Marian Jacques and Mabel McVicar were the soloists.

The addition which, with the site, cost $5200, contains auditorium, seventeen classrooms and basement for social purposes. The seating capacity of the church has been doubled to 650. Yesterday morning the debt incurred by the addition was wiped out by donations amounting to $2245. Rev. B. B. Jacques is pastor of the church.

Children Become Man and Wife by Benefit of Clergy, the Girl's Mother Having Withdrawn Charge of Abduction—Rich Eccentric Deliberately Starves Himself to Death.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Robert Merritt Sidley, aged 18 years, of Los Angeles, and Helen Frances Richardson, aged 16, of this city, who eloped nearly two weeks ago and walked all the way to Los Angeles, where they were arrested on charges preferred here, were married by Rev. William Cross Merrill of the Congregational Church, tonight.

Young Sidley and his partner in elopement managed to win over the girl's mother and she consented to the wedding. The mother withdrew her charge of abduction and Sidley was released. In company with Mrs. Richardson he went to the County Clerk's office and secured a license. The couple will stay here a few days and probably will live in Los Angeles, where Sidley's parents reside.

KILLS MOUNTAIN LION.

A large mountain lion, weighing 118 pounds and over seven and one-half feet from tip to tip, was shot and killed in the foothills back of Serena this afternoon by Benjamin C. Barry of Montecito. Mr. Barry and his young wife, on horseback, followed a pack of eight splendid Walker hounds over rough mountain paths for three hours. The dogs finally treed the beast and Barry shot it.

This is the third big mountain lion Mr. and Mrs. Barry have killed within three months.

Deliberately starving himself in the midst of his riches, the Rev. H. Vernon Rice, an eccentric former preacher, 70 years old, died in the County Hospital last Friday night so quietly that little notice was paid to it at the time. The details concerning the death came to light tonight.

Rice came here from Tacoma, Wash., five years ago. He had some money with which he purchased a plot of ground at the corner of Montecito and Bath streets and built four small houses. He lived in a shack in the rear.

Neighbors had not seen him for five days and made an investigation, finding him in a dying condition and black from coal oil soot from a stove. He was sent to the hospital, where he confessed to Superintendent Hicks that he had deliberately starved himself for nine days. He ate ravenously at the hospital, but could not survive the shock.

His daughter, Mrs. A. F. Plant, will arrive from Tacoma tomorrow and take charge of the funeral.

ONTARIO.

ONTARIO, March 1.—Jacob Jesson, who has held the agency for the Sunset Telephone Company since its entrance into this city, has resigned. In view of the increased volume of business in the past year the company has decided to have a manager at this point. It will move its central office to larger quarters in the new Caldwell block. M. Squires of Los Angeles will be manager.

The postoffice department carriers are hampered in the collection of outgoing mail. Drop letter boxes, which were to be installed with the free delivery, have not yet arrived, although the system has been in effect for over a month. The boxes were shipped from Topeka, Kan., some time ago.

A third carrier was scheduled to begin work today to cover the south side district, but it seems that many of the property owners have not provided numbers for their houses and until this is done there will be no delivery in that part of town.

W. H. Lindley is erecting a small brick structure on the corner of Transit street and Euclid avenue which will be occupied by Wells, Fargo & Co.

ELSINORE.

ELSINORE, March 1.—John A. Hardy of Cleveland, O., who occupied a cottage on Sumner avenue, died yesterday morning, aged 42 years. He was born in Manchester, Eng. He leaves a widow and two children. Mr. Hardy was in business for three years in Los Angeles.

Mrs. M. A. Orme and son, Alfred, and sister, Miss L. Jefferies, of Los Angeles, who spent a month in Elsinore, occupying the Amsbury cottage on Riley street, returned home day before yesterday.

Anthony Keith has returned from Long Beach, accompanied by Clarence Rand.

Mrs. M. A. Hood returned yesterday from Los Angeles, where she visited her son, John A. Hood, for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Traphagen returned yesterday from Pomona.

COLTON.

COLTON, March 1.—C. J. Klinker has sold to Arthur M. Pierce a seven-acre orange grove on the corner of Rancho avenue and Olive street for a consideration of $7000, the sale being made through Garrett & Lister.

H. A. Ellenstein of San Francisco is a Colton visitor today.

H. Coolman, section foreman for the Southern Pacific, was in this city yesterday.

Ira B. Caster has returned from Salt Lake City.

Miss Nellie Archibald of Claremont is the guest for a few days of her father, T. M. Archibald, of the Terrace.

B. A. Teats of Dalas, Or., was a guest at the Anderson yesterday.

D. Vanderpool and A. Chaney of Los Angeles spent yesterday in this city.

HEAVY BARGAINING.

PENDING IS BIG LUMBER DEAL.

NORTHERN MILLIONAIRE SAYS SO IN SAN DIEGO VISIT.

Three Million Dollars Is the Consideration Involved in the Negotiations for the Sale of Benson Lumber Company's Holdings in Oregon. Does Not Affect San Diego Plant.

SAN DIEGO, March 1.—Samuel Benson, millionaire president of the Benson Lumber Company of Portland, Or., San Diego and other Coast points, is a patient at the Paradise Valley Sanatorium, southwest of this city, where he will remain several weeks. Since arriving there Mr. Benson has authorized confirmation of the report that a deal is on for the sale of the company's timber holdings in Oregon to the Crossett Lumber Company for a consideration of $3,000,000.

The Benson Logging and Lumber Company, of which Mr. Benson is the principal stockholder, controls 45,000 acres of pine forests and fir timber land within easy access of the Columbia River. The Crossett Lumber Company, composed of millionaire lumbermen of the Northwest, has taken an option on these holdings, which consist of nothing more than the timber lands.

"The option has nothing whatever to do with the San Diego plant," said O. J. Evenson, local representative of Mr. Benson, today. "If the Crossett people make good on their options and buy the lands we will continue to operate the San Diego plant and will also continue to use the cradles on the Columbia River which are for constructing the log rafts, and logs will be floated down the coast in the same manner that has heretofore prevailed."

SEATTLE MEN ARRIVE.

Seventy-five members of the Seattle party of expositione nthusiasts arrived in San Diego this morning and are being entertained by the Chamber of Commerce. The party is headed by Mayor Miller, Director-General Nadeau of the Alaska-Yukon Exposition, C. B. Yandell, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; E. E. Ellis, passenger agent for the Southern Pacific at Seattle, and John T. Campion, a business man. At a meeting of the directors of the San Diego chamber this morning it was decided to call a public meeting of the business men for the purpose of hearing spokesmen of the Seattle party regarding the importance of the forthcoming exposition to the Pacific Coast. An excursion to near-by resorts is planned for tomorrow and the meeting will probably be tomorrow night.

POLO PLAYERS.

The celebrated English polo team known as the Ranelaghs, arrived from Riverside this morning to prepare for the forthcoming tournament at Coronado. The party includes Frank J. Mackey, A. Maj. Rotherham, F. A. Gill and Col. B. Ross. These players have been practicing at Riverside for several weeks. The Bryn Mawr team of Philadelphia is now on the way, having sent a dispatch saying that the members will reach Coronado next Wednesday. The Coronado tournament will begin March 20.

Younger Carlson Wins Suit at San Bernardino—Long Beach Man Tells Curious Story.

SAN BERNARDINO, March 1.—W. H. Carlson, Jr., of Los Angeles today won an action brought against J. D. Gentry of this city for the recovery of an automobile, which he asserted was stolen from him last summer and sold to Gentry. The defense showed that the purchase by Gentry had been made in good faith, that the men from whom he bought the machine had for days driven it about Los Angeles, claiming openly to own it, and that reference was given to him by them, all of which satisfied him that the machine was their property.

John Hessler, or a man giving his name as such, of Long Beach applied to the County Recorder, County Clerk and Justice of the Peace C. L. Thomas for information concerning the marriage of his daughter, who, he declares, was given morphine by a married man, and with him came to San Bernardino, and they were married some time in November.

No record of the marriage appears. Hessler states that his daughter admitted to him that they were married under assumed names, but she refuses to tell where or by whom.

Musicians Stand Bare Headed Over Grave of Chopin on Composer's Birthday While Flakes Fall.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Devotion to the memory of Chopin, whose birthday anniversary occurred today, took hundreds of members of musical societies to the Cemetery of Pere Lachaise, where, in the midst of the heaviest snowfall Paris has had in years, the composer's disciples grouped around his modest tomb listened to eulogies from the best-known musicians.

Several Parisian society women, in the course of the day, visited three of the homes which Chopin had at various times occupied in this city and placed vases of flowers in his rooms, the present tenants having agreed to allow visits to be made by any member of the society of "Friends of Chopin" who desired.

PATRONIZE HOME MANUFACTURES

Rubber Goods Manufacturers

The Gotbed-Herron Co. is one of the younger manufacturing firms in Los Angeles and are the only mechanical rubber manufacturers on the Pacific Coast and the only firm of the kind in Southern California. The senior member of the firm is William Gotbed. He is an experienced rubber manufacturer, having been connected with the Morgan & Wright Rubber Company for years. The other members of the firm are Fred and Harry Herron, well-known business men, who appreciated the great possibilities of a business of this kind in this locality. Their judgment has not been misplaced if the rapid increase of their business is considered, as new orders and customers are the rule down at the factory, 409 East Seventh street. Here specialties of kinds of rubber goods are made to order from the raw material to the finished product. The firm also deals in plumbers' supplies and makes a specialty of mold work. Their motto, "If it's made of rubber we have it" is certainly well founded, and a visit to the factory will prove of interest to anyone.

THE MARKETS.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Florida products began to arrive on the local market yesterday—the first shipments of anything from that State received here this year. The consignment contained chiefly bell peppers, eggplant and chilis. The vegetables were grown at Hypoluxo and were shipped here via New Orleans. The peppers are selling at 10 cents a pound, while the eggplant is bringing from 30 to 40 cents a pound. Good Mexican tomatoes were held at 2.25 a crate yesterday. The trouble with the tomatoes, which have arrived up to the present time, is that they have been green stock as a rule. A car is expected today or tomorrow. There are 1200 crates in the car and the cost of bringing them here is 1.40 a crate. This cost is in for shipping and duty alone, and does not include the prices paid the grower. The Mexican government demands a duty of 12 per cent on all tomatoes shipped in the green state, which is a neat sum when figured for the entire season.

Some of the finest apples seen on the local market in weeks were taken out of storage here yesterday. They were all Yucaipa Valley stock, grown on 600 feet above sea level and have a beautiful color and excellent taste. It is rank right along with the Colorado apples. The varieties grown in the high valley of Riverside county are chiefly Roman Beauties, Winesaps, Arkansas Blacks and one or two others.

With receipts of eggs at 739 cases, the market on them declined to 22 cents on candled stock. On case-count, prices were down 1@2 cents for selling and from 1 to 2 cents lower on buying prices. Farmers are already preparing to hold a little more than usual, which may come from day to day and give them a 26-cent selling price. The markets at present are well stocked and there is no danger of another decided rise for the next month or two.

Butter and cheese were entirely unchanged. Arrivals of the former were 15,970 pounds. There were a few minor sales on the street, but the outlook for the week was good. Cheese sold well.

Eight cars of potatoes totaled the arrivals of that stock over Sunday. Prices did not advance, but the market was firm on them. There were good sales of Burbanks yesterday. The fact that Shima, the Jap who cornered the potato market in San Francisco, is here, has not in any way affected the present condition.

Onions were firm and several dealers are holding for a rise. Beans were the same in price. Sweets were not as firm as at the close of last week. There were sales of good stock, a trifle small, at 1.90 a sack. The local growers are shipping in quite a number.

Vegetables were exceedingly scarce. Cabbage was hard to obtain at any price, although the quotations prevailing were anywhere from 50 to 75 cents per sack. Asparagus was a trifle higher, selling anywhere from 20 to 25 cents a pound, both on northern and imperial stock. Growers have not been shipping heavily since with the dry weather they have preferred to bank the growing grass and give it a weighty sale. Lacaze lettuce and endive, both from San Francisco, were received yesterday morning. Both held at 40 cents a dozen heads.

Yesterday's Forecast and Report.

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, March 1.—[Reported by Jos. D. Fuller, Observer, temporarily in charge.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 30.08; at 5 p.m., 30.06. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 47 deg. and 60 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 100 per cent.; 5 p.m., 71 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., calm; 5 p.m., southwest, velocity 8 miles. Maximum temperature, 67 deg.; minimum, 45 deg. Rainfall for season, 16.59 inches; rainfall last season to date, 10.71 inches. Barometer reduced to sea level.

Weather Conditions.—An area of moderately high pressure overlies the entire Atlantic seaboard, and generally fair weather prevails over that section, with temperatures somewhat below the normal. A minor disturbance is reported this morning over Oklahoma and adjacent territory, and it is giving high winds and light precipitation in scattered localities. A storm of considerable energy is entering the Pacific Northwest, and rain in light amounts has fallen from the British line to Southern Oregon, with snow in Montana. Over one hundredths to one hundredths inches of rain has fallen at Tatoosh Island. Brisk to high winds are reported in the extreme Northwest. A moderate high-pressure area is overspreading the Southern Pacific Slope this morning, and under its influence fair weather is probable in Los Angeles and vicinity tonight and Tuesday, though there will probably be some cloudiness at intervals from a possible southward movement of the storm now in the Northwest.

Forecasts.—Local forecast for Los Angeles and vicinity: Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; westerly winds.

The highest temperature recorded last month, according to the meteorological summary issued by the Weather Bureau, was 72 deg. on the 28th; the lowest, 42 deg. on the 8th. The mean temperature for February for thirty-two years is 55.3 deg. The total precipitation last month was 5.30 inches. The average for thirty-two years is 3 inches.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1. — A northern storm has caused rain north of California, with high southerly winds. It appears to be moving eastward over Idaho, and will probably not influence the weather in California. The temperature continues nearly normal throughout the State, and there has been no change of consequence. Forecasts:

Sacramento Valley: Cloudy; light south winds.

Arizona: Fair Tuesday and Wednesday.

SPECULATORS FORESTALL RULING OF SUPREME COURT.

Tribunal Fails to Hand Down Expected Decision in Coal Roads Case and Buying Movement Stops—Copper Advances on London Buying. United States Steel Rises.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, March 1.—Extensive covering of short contracts was the accepted cause for much of the strength in the stock market today. This was the case in Reading, in which there has come to be a continued speculation based on assumptions of the forthcoming decision of the Supreme Court in the coal roads case. As Monday is decision day at that court, the bears bought heavily of Reading before the court convened, to reduce their very extensive short line in the stock. The result was a five-point rise, bringing the stock to within two points of the level from which last Tuesday's downward plunge was made.

The speculative covering of shorts in Reading ceased when the court convened, and it became known that no decision in the case would be handed down today. While the rise in Reading is constituted an important sympathetic influence, the firm tone was extended beyond the reaction in Reading.

Copper quotations at the Metal Exchange and in London were advanced. The effect was beneficial on all the metal stocks.

The rise in United States Steel was encouraged by the news from Washington that the Cabinet would take no action on the investigation of the merger of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company with the United States Steel corporation. The announcement that the advances in trans-continental freight rates, which went into effect on January 15, were to be rescinded in part, seemed to be viewed with contentment, although the prospect of these advances was a long factor in lifting prices of stocks. The Harriman Pacifics were stimulated by the belief that their January earnings would be reported tomorrow. Foreign influences were propitious to the market. The existing political outlook joining with the easing money markets to bring this about.

In the American money market, the call loans division was sensibly affected by last week's heavy cash withdrawals, by the monthly settlement requirements, and presumably by the subscriptions to the Argentine loan. The $9,720,000 allotment to the United States was offered and over-subscribed before noon. It is now apparent that the placing of this loan here has affected the large outgo of gold from New York to Buenos Ayres.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,814,000.

NATIONAL PUBLIC DEBT.

MONTHLY STATEMENT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business February 27, the debt less cash in the treasury amounted to $1,019,678,946, which is a decrease for the month of $5,381,712. The debt is recapitulated as follows: Interest-bearing debt, $913,317,400, debt on which interest ceased since maturity, $2,328,685; debt bearing no interest, $304,296,752. Total, $1,219,951,708.

This amount, however, does not include $1,949,543,980 in certificates and treasury notes outstanding, which are offset by an equal amount of cash in the treasury held for redemption.

The cash in the treasury is classified as follows: Gold reserve, $156,000,000; trust funds, $1,349,583,980; general funds, $177,536,429* in national bank deposits, $72,343,835; in the treasury, Philippines, $3,472,962. Total, $1,753,919,634, against which there are demand liabilities outstanding amounting to $1,461,855,212, which leaves a cash balance on hand of $291,263,812.

The total receipts for the month were $46,671,709, and the expenditures $43,719,246.

The receipts from customs for February, 1909, amounted to $25,672,650, an increase compared with February, 1908, of $3,000,000. From internal revenues, $17,261,645, a decrease of $1,226,000. From miscellaneous sources $3,695,652, a decrease of $2,415,000.

The expenditures show a decrease in the civil and miscellaneous item of more than $1,000,000, as compared with February, 1908. The war item also shows a slight decrease, and the navy a decrease of $1,554,000. Public works also show a decrease, and pensions $1,000. The expenditures were $3,500,000 less than for February, 1908. The total deficit for the eight months of the present fiscal year is $66,361,560.

CIRCULATION STATEMENT.

COMPTROLLER'S FIGURES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The monthly circulation statement issued by the Comptroller of the Currency shows that at the close of business, February 27, 1909, the amount of national bank notes outstanding was $678,255,000, a decrease for the year of $7,203,910, and an increase for the month of $1,612,500. The amount of circulation secured by United States bonds was $635,583,585, an increase for the year of $4,130,173, and an increase for the month of $1,270,248. The circulation secured by lawful money amounted to $42,666,715, a decrease for the year of $26,319,082, and a decrease for the month of $3,008,740. The amount of bonds on deposit to secure circulation was $640,789,140, and for public deposits $160,625,120.

New York Cotton Market.

[By Private Wire to E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, No. 111 West Third street.]

NEW YORK, March 1.—Cotton was dull today. Sales failed to show any rallies in Texas, and unofficial reports showed only a trace to less than one-tenth of an inch. While the situation regarding the winter rainfall in Texas is bullish, it appears to have been pretty well offset by bad trade accounts, particularly from the continent. Private advices today state that the latest account of the stock of cotton at Savannah shows it to have been 20,000 bales less than have been reported.

The Logan & Bryan cotton letter follows: "Cables from abroad were slightly better than was expected, and opening values influenced thereby, showed two to four points improvement. The continued absence of moisture in the Southwest, proved a source of alarm, as well as worry to those who are committed to the short side of the market, on which side there is altogether too much company at the moment, and too much of a tendency to magnify any bearish argument that may appear. Trade conditions in America have been the subject of bear argument for some days past and it is well to note that the United States mills of Fall River, which have just completed the first quarter of the year, show the largest dividends for a first quarter for fourteen years. If the mills could make money last year when cotton was $50 a bale and labor 15 per cent. higher than at the moment, there is no reason why the manufacturing of cotton should not be a profitable proposition. The cotton market, which is full of promise for the distant future, may remain sluggish for a week or more yet, although a recession of moment from present prices need be looked for."

The New York Commercial says: "Predictions of rain in Texas gave rise to hopes among bears that this week might witness a material decline in prices especially as trade, both foreign and domestic, continued unfavorable, and the spot markets, as a rule, were quiet, in view of the reported deficiency in precipitation in the Southwest, however, it is not considered probable that a rainstorm would lead to much decline in prices. Besides strong interests are friendly to the long side.

"The general situation shows no essential change. No sudden alterations are expected in the near future unless Texas gets a good soaking, and even that might not have the effect that most people anticipate.

"Long cotton is coming out in a small way," said one broker. "The ring will not take much selling at present without a good break." Southern selling caused a poor response to the cables. The statistics are bullish and with a lot in liquidation the market ought to do better."

Atwood, Violett & Co. say: "Our market seems disposed to assume a waiting attitude, with few inclined to enter into new commitments on either side until the situation presents a more definite outlook. At the moment the factor of most importance to the cotton world is the absence of rain in Texas."

Ettelson says: "We think that the good investment demand for new crop positions on any decline from this level, and therefore feel that an important change is not to be expected.

H. Hentz & Co. say: "With neither bull nor bear willing to assume the aggressive, we can hardly look for any decided tendency either way, until preparations for the new crop, acreage and the planting season enter into this situation as dominating factors."

New York Metal Market.

NEW YORK, March 1.—The London tin market was about 2s. 6d. higher today with spot quoted at £180 and futures, £131 10s. The local market was quiet, but a little higher in sympathy at 28.55@28.80. There was a very sharp advance in the London copper market, spot selling at £57 7s. 6d. and futures at £58, 5s. 6d. Locally the market was steady and somewhat reactionary as to prices with lake quoted at 13.75@14.00; electrolytic at 13.37½@13.62½, and casting at 12.25@12.50. The advance abroad was probably a factor beyond which it is reported that very large sales have been made recently for forward shipment and that heavy additional business is probable during the next few days. Lead was unchanged at £12 11s. 3d. in London. The local market was dull and unchanged at 3.95@3.97½. Spelter was unsettled in both markets also, closing at £23 17s. 6d. in London and at 4.70@4.75 locally. Iron was a little firmer at 47s 7½d in Cleveland warrants at London. The local market was nominally unchanged.

California Dried Fruit.

NEW YORK, March 1.—The market for evaporated apples is quiet, prices being practically nominal in the absence of business. Prunes are quoted at 5 1-4@9 1-4; choice, 7 1-4@7 3-4; prime, 6 3-4@7; extra fancy and common to fair, 5@6. Local supplies of old crop are cleaning up and the tone of the market is steadier. New crop California fruit ranging up to 40/50s is quoted at 3 3-4@7½ and Oregon ranging from 9 3-4@10¼ and fancy 10¼@13. Peaches firmer on the coast, especially on higher grades. Locally choice are quoted at 6@6½; extra choice, 6¼@7½; and fancy at 7¼@8½; at 49½; choice to fancy unpeeled, 4 3-4@6 1-4; peeled, 8 3-4@12½ and London lazys, 1.25@1.50.

London Wool Market.

LONDON, March 1.—The listing of wool for the second series of sales, which closed today, the following amounts: Australian colonies, 92,113 bales; Queensland, 23,381; Victoria, 34,238; South Australia, 21,438; West Australia, 123,916; Cape of Good Hope and Natal, 67,487; total, 422,241. Of the above arrivals, 197,100 bales of Australasian and 59,000 Cape of Good Hope and Natal were forwarded direct to spinners, leaving available for the sales (including 3000 held over from the first series,) 194,741.

New York Money Market.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Money on call easy, 2@2½ per cent.; ruling rate, 2; closing bid, 2¼; offered at 2½ per cent. Time loans easier, 60 days, 2¼@2½; 90 days, 2¼@3 per cent.; and 6 months, 2 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 3½@4 per cent. Sterling exchange, strong, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.85 2-5@4.85½ for 60-day bills, and at 4.87 11-15 for demand; commercial bills, 4.83½@4.83¾. Bar silver, 50½; Mexican dollars, 39½. Government bonds, steady; railroad bonds, irregular.

New York Coffee Market.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Coffee futures closed steady net, unchanged to 10 points lower. Sales were reported of 25,500 bags, including March at 6.95@7.06; May at 6.80; July, 6.45; September, 6.00@6.05, and October and December, 5.80. Spot firm, No. 7 Rio, 8½; No. 4, Santos, 9. Mild steady; cordova, 9¼@12.

Coffee Sales.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Wheat firm; no trading; cash, 1.87½@1.92½. Barley steady; May 1.39½ bid; 1.41 asked; December, 1.23. Chops 1.40@1.50. Corn firm; large yellow, 1.65@1.70. Afternoon session: Wheat firm; no trading. Barley steady; May, 1.40; December, 1.21 bid; 1.22½ asked.

New York General Markets.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Wheat spot irregular. May closed, 1.21 1-4; July closed, 1.12 7-8. Hops and wool and petroleum steady. Hides dull. Sugar, raw steady; fair refining, 3.23-4; centrifugal, 96 test, 3.73½; molasses sugar, 2.98½. Refined steady.

SAN FRANCISCO LIST.

EYES OUT FOR BIDS ON THE MINING MARKET.

Stocks Representing Properties of Merit Seem to Be Selling Low, But Whether There Be Sufficient Purchasing Power to Put Them Up Remains to Be Seen.

[Special Service to The Times by E. F. Taylor, 524 Citizens' National Bank Bldg.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Goldfield Consolidated and Florence each sold off 10 points in today's market, no one seeming able to explain what was the trouble with Florence. Daisy lost three points and Combination Fraction four points. In fact, nearly all the cheap Goldfield stocks were off from on to two points. There were no changes of consequence in the Tonopahs and absolutely no fluctuations in the Bullfrogs.

There is nothing in the situation today that calls for any improvement. The news is out on the Goldfield Consolidated dividend, and has had no effect on the price of the stock. It does look as if stocks, representing the properties of merit, were selling low, but whether there is sufficient buying power to put them up, remains to be seen.

Ophir and Mexican, among the Comstocks, were off, at the close, two to five points. The remainder of the Comstocks were barely steady.

Goldfield Consolidated lost 1-16 on the bid price in New York, while Florence gained a sixteenth. Fraction lost a point and Daisy two points. The remainder of the Nevadas closed about where they opened, on the New York curb. The following are the closing bid and asked prices with the sales on the formal call:

Boston Copper Market.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury building.]

BOSTON, March 1.—There was an old-time active and buoyant copper market today. Every one seemed anxious to buy, and the whole market went up very easily. Some of the lower-priced copper stocks were taken in hand and made new records. Ray was in demand and closed strong at the top. We believe this stock will go very much higher, as we consider it the best property in Arizona for the property. We also believe in Miami as being a property with great merits. There seems little doubt but that there has been some very large sales of copper metal within the last few days, and everything seems to point toward improvement in the price of the metal and in the value of copper securities. Following were closing quotations on the Boston Stock Exchange:

MINES AND MINING.

BIG SMELTER FOR NEEDLES.

Tecopa People Said to Have Bought Works.

Capacity Will Be Thousand Tons Daily.

Deal Declared to Be Great for the Southwest.

The Needles smelter is to change hands and its capacity is to be increased from 200 to 1000 tons daily, if a deal now pending is carried out.

It is asserted by some in close touch with the situation that a sale was actually consummated last week, and that the Tecopa Mining Company has taken the smelter and will immediately enlarge the plant and build a branch from the mines to the Tonopah and Tidewater Railway.

This is denied by stockholders residing in the city who, while admitting that the smelter is to be enlarged, disclaim any pending negotiations looking to a change in ownership. It is known positively, however, that such a deal is pending. Carroll Allen, an attorney of the firm of Lawler, Allen, Van Dyke & Jutten, has been handling one end of the negotiations. Mr. Allen left yesterday for San Francisco and at his office, while admitting that a deal involving a transfer of the smelter was on, the attorney seen would neither admit nor deny that it has been closed. He stated that Mr. Allen had handled the matter personally and would give no details.

Dr. L. D. Godshall, manager of the Needles company, was in the city all last week, returning to Needles Saturday. It is stated that he closed the transaction before leaving.

If the deal has been closed or is closed later, it will mean much for the territory around Needles. The Tecopa company will at once put 400 men at work, and will conduct operations on a large scale. It will mean the development of the Bouse country and all the region along the Colorado River tapped by the California and Arizona Railway, which is building from Parker to Bengal, and will have a marked effect on many of the California and Nevada mining camps.

The Times published a few days ago a report that the Tecopa management would build from the mine to its present mill and thence to the railroad. This, it is reported, is a part of the new plans to take over the Needles plant.

The Mining Congress.

Already the American Mining Congress is making preparations at its Denver headquarters for a big meeting next November at Goldfield. It is expected that the Committee on Mines and Mining of the United States Congress will send a majority of its members. The Forestry Bureau will also be represented and details of its policy discussed with reference to their effect upon mining interests.

There will be a final report by the committee that has been working for the past two years on the general revision of the Federal mining laws, the most important work yet undertaken by the congress. The presence of the members of the American Institute of Mining Engineers who will come down after their meeting at Seattle on a junketing tour of the mining regions, will add great interest to the occasion. It will be the first time in many years, if not the first time ever, that these two bodies have met and conferred.

A large delegation will go from Los Angeles to Goldfield, and more Californians will be there from San Francisco and the north. There is quite certain to be an attendance from this State exceeding that of any previous year.

A bill is pending in the Nevada Legislature to appropriate $5000 for a mineral exhibit at Goldfield. The city has already given $1500 for the entertainment of visitors and a fund will be raised amounting to probably $3000 or more. It is understood that the mining engineers will come in their own cars and make their headquarters in the city, but will sleep in the coaches, so that accommodations will not be necessary. The miners will find themselves right in the midst of the mines and mills full of interest to them, something that is seldom the case at their meetings, as these have usually been held at some city at quite a distance from the mines themselves.

Wonder and Wagner.

The Nevada Wonder at Wonder, Nev., will begin the erection of the first ten-unit of the new 100-stamp mill at the mines within a short time. This company is owned by the same interests that control the Tonopah Mining Company. One and a half millions of dollars is estimated to be blocked in the mine, which has been opened to the 600-foot level. The ore runs $30 to the ton. An enormous fissure vein carrying values up to $2400 has been developed. The contract for the mill has been let and it will be running within four months.

The copper district of Wagner, twenty-eight miles from Goldfield, is attracting attention and some promising properties have been opened, say mining engineers now in the city. Nine veins from thirty-five to over 400 feet have been opened, and the district should become a large producer.

The Wagner Copper Company, with three shafts, is down nearly 500 feet, and expects to cut the vein at the 650-foot level. One of the shafts is down over a hundred feet, the last twenty of which is in 4 per cent. copper. An eighty-five-foot shaft shows a copper ledge twenty-three feet wide of 4 per cent. copper and slight gold values.

The Azurite Company is down 300 feet. It cut a ledge of two feet of copper at the 150-foot level, averaging $59 in copper and gold. At 240 feet a three or four-foot vein of low grade was encountered, and another at 280 feet. It hopes to strike the main vein at 600 feet.

Amargosa Mine.

C. W. Hasson, general manager of the Amargosa mine, in San Bernardino county, is in the city on a business trip, and states that the recent strike of $500 to $5000 ore, mentioned some weeks ago in The Times is growing in value, and the streak widening. It has been continuous for thirty-five feet. The conditions in this strike are similar to those encountered once before in the mine's history, which finally led to the uncovering of a "pipe" that produced $200,000. This was in the early 60's, prior to the burning of the mill and murder of several miners by Indians. Mr. Hasson is arranging to work the property on a more extensive scale than in the past, and is opening a large tonnage of low grade. The ledge was lost at 40 feet, but found again 20 feet further in. The present five-stamp mill will be enlarged, and additional stamps will be in operation in three to four months.

Southern California's Lead.

Southern California is able to furnish all the lead needed by smelters in the Southwest when its resources are developed, in the opinion of Prof. G. E. Bailey, formerly with the State Mining Bureau, and a recognized authority on mining.

There is a great belt commencing at Tecopa and extending south to Ludlow, tributary to the Tonopah and Tidewater, Santa Fé and Salt Lake railroads. Riggs is the first station south of Tecopa. Four properties are working there. Frank Riggs has lived there fifteen years, and has been shipping ore worth on an average of $1000 to $2000 a ton, which for years he hauled to the Santa Fé, at Ludlow, by wagon. Besides, there is the Uncle Tom group, consisting of twenty claims, east of Riggs, and is another of the rich properties. There are the Harper, Stephenson, Wheeler and Cunningham holdings. The showing is ahead of Tecopa.

South of these are the Soda Lake Mountains and the Lavic Mountains. In the last a St. Louis company is working. All have fine showings.

Consolidated Dividend.

The Consolidated Mines Company of Goldfield held a directors' meeting at Washington, D. C., on the 25th ult., and declared a dividend of 20 cents a share, payable on April 30, as forecasted some time ago. Transfer books will close the 31st inst. The amount disbursed will be about $360,000, and the company will have left over $1,000,000 in cash and bullion.

Tonopah's Shipments.

The ore shipments from Tonopah during the third week of February, compiled by the Tonopah and Goldfield Railroad, were: Tonopah Mining Company, 3261 tons; Tonopah Belmont, 1022; Jim Butler, 317; West End, 164; MacNamara, 287; Midway, 36; Nevada Belleheien, 82; total, 5230 tons. From Goldfield, sixty-nine tons were shipped by the Anglo-California Bank.

Electric Power for Camps.

The Nevada-California Power Company will extend its lines at once from Goldfield to Manhattan and Round Mountain at a cost of $150,000. Service is to be furnished by May 15. It will mean a good deal for the mines, many of which are too deep to use gasoline conveniently, and steam is costly with wood at $8 a cord, and other fuel unobtainable.

Work Near Indio.

John S. Garrison, general manager of the Hexahechon Mining Company, operating near Indio, Cal., who is in the city, states that his company is putting on a force of men to block ore, and that work will soon start on a pipe line of five miles in length to bring water to the mill. Mr. Garrison leaves today for Ogden, Utah, on company business.

SPEAKS FOR HARBOR.

Points for Consolidation Scored by Capt. Fries Before Academy of Sciences.

Capt. A. A. Fries gave a straightforward talk on San Pedro harbor to several hundred members of the Southern California Academy of Sciences last night in Blanchard Hall. At the close of his remarks he was plied with numerous questions touching upon various phases of consolidation.

The audience was evidently in sympathy with the views of the speaker, for he was frequently applauded for his references to the necessity of consolidation and the future possibilities of Los Angeles as a seaport.

"I shall not abuse the other side when I refer to the need for consolidation," said Capt. Fries, "if indeed there really is any other side. I am confident that all the good arguments are in support of our view. San Pedro needs consolidation just as much as we need it. I notice that much has been made of the erroneous assertion that if we consolidate San Pedro would be called upon to pay a large share of the bonded indebtedness for improvements.

"San Pedro has an approximate assessed valuation of $7,000,000; that of Los Angeles is thirty-six times as large, roughly speaking. If we created a bonded indebtedness of about $6,000,000 for harbor improvements, San Pedro's and Wilmington's share combined would not be $200,000."

Capt. Fries said he failed to understand the unfriendly policy of Long Beach on the consolidation question. He showed how the development of the inner harbor made possible her own little harbor and increased property valuations.

The speaker explained the benefit that will accrue to all this section if consolidation becomes possible. He gave a glowing prophecy of what the future years will bring forth when Los Angeles ranks among the great commercial cities of the country and her manufactures are made to thrive through the cheap importation of raw products.

"San Pedro has all the requisites of a good harbor," continued the government engineer. "The breakwater affords safe anchorage for incoming vessels. From the outer harbor there is a wide channel leading to the inner harbor. There is plenty of quiet water for ships to dock and discharge their cargoes. There are of course harbors with greater water areas, but with the projected improvements San Pedro will rank high as a commercial seaport."

Capt. Fries spoke of the admirable location, 100 miles north of San Diego and about 500 miles distant from San Francisco. He stated that it will be a frequent port of call, after the Panama canal is completed.

A brief history of the government improvements was given including the construction of the breakwater, the deepening of the channel and dredging of the turning basin. After making all these improvements, he argued that the government was naturally interested in the future success of the harbor and proposed to protect it against possible hostile fleets by the erection of fortifications. The harbor defense would consist, he stated, of twelve-inch disappearing guns, big mortars and submarine mines and torpedoes.

DANGEROUS BUSINESS METHODS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

GUADALAJARA, March 1.—José Flores is in jail at La Barca, charged with wrecking a train. He has a plantation near Salamea, and, loading a car with oranges, demanded that the Mexican Central remove it. As this was not done, he set the switch so that the first oncoming train would run onto it, hoping the train crew would take his oranges. North-bound passenger train No. 6 ran into the car, wrecking the engine, baggage car and third-class coach and injuring several passengers. As a result Flores is a prisoner.

TRUNK'S PRESCRIPTION.

RHEUMATISM

Cannot possibly exist in any form if you will take Trunk's Prescription for Rheumatism and Gout and use the Adecta Liniment, and use them strictly according to the directions.

Inflammatory, Sciatic, Muscular, Lumbago, Gout or any other form of Rheumatism. It is positively absurd, ridiculous and preposterous—it is really a pity and a shame to talk about Rheumatism, must less to suffer with it, when you can get Trunk's Prescription for Rheumatism and Gout for Rheumatism and Gourt for $1.50.

This prescription does not ruin the Stomach and it does not depress the Heart. It does not contain any Salicylate of Soda, Salicylic Acid, Oil of Wintergreen, Opium, Morphine or Bromides in any form. It cannot harm you, but it will remove Rheumatism in any and all forms.

ECZEMA CURED IN SIMPLE WAY

When you have a scratch on your hand you wash it out and cleanse it and then the skin cures itself.

The best skin specialists today are agreed that the only way to cure the skin is through the skin. For statistics show that nearly all eczema sufferers are perfectly healthy in all other ways except as to their skin. And if the eczema patients were really suffering from an internal malady, the entire body and not only the skin would be diseased.

You can prove immediately the relief of a true skin cure by using oil of wintergreen as compounded in D. D. D. Prescription. This liquid kills the disease germs, while toning up the healthy part of the skin.

We have now handled this meritorious and thoroughly scientific remedy for so long and have seen its reliable results so many times that we freely express our confidence.

SONS AND DAUGHTERS HONOR ST. DAVID'S DAY.

Musical and Literary Feast Enjoyed by Several Hundred People at Gathering Last Evening—Address by Webster Davis a Feature. Credit for Bessemer Invention.

Splendid tributes were paid to the sturdy sons and fair daughters of Wales and their descendants at the celebration of St. David's day, held at Burbank Hall on South Main street last night under the auspices of the Welsh Presbyterian Church. Several hundred people enjoyed the feast of song and oratory.

Hon. Webster Davis, former Assistant Secretary of the Interior under President McKinley, was the chief orator and he received an ovation, both upon his introduction and at the close of his address.

Several incidents of the famous campaign made by the late Senator Hanna for election to the United States Senate were related by Mr. Davis to show that the Welshmen of Ohio were an important factor in that memorable political battle. It was Griffith, a Welshman, he said, who cast the deciding vote in that contest, for he was the last member won over, and Mr. Hanna was elected by a majority of one. Mr. Davis also referred to the patriotism and loyalty of the Welsh, who were, he said, conspicuous in the defense of their country during the Civil War.

Maj. E. B. Powell made an interesting address, in which he gave credit to two Welshmen as the real inventors of the Bessemer process of making steel.

Rev. J. C. Morgan was the chairman of the meeting, and, in addition to the addresses by E. Evans and others, there was a fine musical programme, in which the following persons participated: Prof. W. L. Jones, R. V. Ward, R. D. Evans of Pasadena, Miss Lettie Perry of Redlands, Miss Grace James of Glendale, and Miss Laura Richards, J. J. Lewis, Miss Ella Powell, Mrs. E. J. Davies and Messrs. Owens, Jones, Morris and Pritchard, constituting the Cambrian Quartette, all of Los Angeles.

Previous to the entertainment at Burbank Hall there was a dinner at the Rossiyn Hotel, at which covers were laid for more than a hundred. Rev. Lloyd Jenkins and others delivered brief addresses.

IS CHAMPION HAIR CUTTER.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, March 1.—For the third time John Zingali has won the prize as the champion barber of the Italian Master Barbers' Association. Displaying his art on four different subjects against ten other contestants, Zingali was pronounced the champion hair cutter amid the cheers of the assembled crowds.

The four heads were cut within an hour, each in different styles. The styles were as follows:
